Tabula Exitii

– The Last Bookmark Before the System Boots

This volume is a threshold.

Tabula Exitii is the final detonation of raw, unfiltered intake – the dumping ground of my last singular bookmarks, deep dives, and inner scrolls before the grid clears and the true system begins. Pulled primarily from the haunted tunnels of 4plebs and my personal link labyrinths, this book is not a guide... it's a purge. A necessary overload.

The final memory dump before formal structure.

Every fragment here was too alive, too weird, too encoded to discard – so I encoded them instead. Each page pulses with the residual charge of the awakening process, the chaos of curiosity, and the untraceable journey from clueless seeker to system-builder.

Why This Book Exists

This is not the beginning of a new path.

This is the end of the wandering phase.

Everything up to this point has been padding – the background radiation of a system being born. Tabula Exitii finishes that padding, closes the loop, and clears the space for what's next:

- The Book of Links
- The Siguar Book System
- The launch of MagickOS 3.33

For the first time, the chaos will be mapped.

What Comes Next

MagickOS 3.33 is the first structured magickal OS that begins with the raw initiate – lost, curious, confused – and transforms them into an advanced practitioner through layered, modular systematization.

It's the full stack.

The map, the method, the myth.

But it couldn't exist until this book existed. Until the excess was expelled. Until the last unsorted pieces were honored.

Tabula Exitii is that honor.

One last transmission from the edge.

One last look back at the glitch before the system initializes.

What comes next is not a scroll.

It's a boot sequence.

The image displays a computer screen with a graphical user interface (GUI) showing a list of various software applications. The list is organized in a vertical column with each application's name followed by a brief description. The names of the applications are written in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-Latin script, possibly a non-Latin alphabet. The applications are listed in a grid format, with each row representing a different software application.

At the bottom of the screen, there is a blurred image of a person's face, suggesting that the person is not the focus of the image. The person appears to be looking at the screen, possibly engaged in a task or conversation related to the software applications displayed. The background of the image is a dark gray color, which contrasts with the white text on the screen, making the list of applications stand out.

The image does not provide any additional context or information beyond the software application list. There are no discernible texts, symbols, or graphics that provide additional details about the software applications or the user's interaction with them. The image is a screenshot from a software interface, likely taken from a video or a presentation, as suggested by the presence of a video player icon in the bottom right corner of the screen.

The frog-like character is holding a gun and appears to be in a threatening or aggressive stance. The humanoid character, wearing glasses and a white shirt, is holding a blue object, which could be a phone or a similar device, and is standing on a ladder. The text in the speech bubble of the humanoid character reads, "Just a little higher, you're almost there. Jumping. The image is a humorous meme featuring two separate photographs. On the left, there is a man with a white beard, wearing a gray shirt, sitting at a desk with a laptop in front of him. He is holding a mug in his hand and appears to be working or studying. The background shows a starry night sky with a mountain range.

On the right, there is a photograph of a man in a space suit on a lunar surface. The man is wearing a helmet and is standing next to a rover, which is equipped with a camera. The background of this image is a view of the Earth's horizon with a bright star-filled sky.

The text at the bottom of the image reads "SPACE FROM EARTH" and "SPACE FROM SPACE," which are likely the titles of the two photographs. The overall style of the image is a satirical representation of the idea of space travel and the human experience in space, contrasting the mundane activities of a man in a space suit with the vastness of space.

The image is a product packaging for Iceland brand thick, unsmoked, uncooked bacon.

In the center of the packaging, there is a graphic of a raw, uncooked piece of meat, which appears to be bacon. The meat has a pinkish-red color, indicating it is raw. The packaging also includes a small graphic of a pig, which is a common symbol for bacon. At the bottom of the packaging, there is a label with the text "7 RASHERS" in white letters on a blue background. This suggests that the package contains 7 rashers of bacon.

The overall style of the image is commercial and product-focused, with a clear focus on the product itself and its packaging. The image is a digital rendering, likely taken from a product photo, and is designed to showcase the product clearly and attractively to potential consumers.

each statement is a dichotomy in and of itself, so a 'third' option is moot.

The document appears to be a list or guide with a title at the top that reads "False dichotomy (or false dilemma)," followed by a subtitle that reads "A false dichotomy is a logical fallacy where only two possible outcomes are presented in an argument, ignoring other alternatives on a middle ground."

The document is divided into two main sections. The first section is titled "Key characteristics," which lists several characteristics of a false dichotomy. These include "Oversimplification: Reduces complex issues to just two extremes." and "Excludes options: Ignores shades of gray, combined possibilities, or entirely different choices."

The second section is titled "Examples," which lists various examples of false dichotomies. These include "Either you buy this expensive phone, or you'll be unhappy."
and "If you question science, you must believe in the supernatural. (Ignores other scientific viewpoints, agnostic or skeptical scientific viewpoints)."

The document also includes a note at the bottom that says "False dichotomy (or false dilemma) is a logical fallacy where only two possible outcomes are presented in an argument, ignoring other alternatives on a middle ground."

The style of the image is informational and educational, with a focus on explaining the concept of a false dichotomy. The text is clear and easy to read, and the layout is organized in a way that guides the reader through the key characteristics and examples of false dichotomies.

The image is a document with a white background and a black border. At the top of the document, there is a logo with the letters "A" and "F" in a stylized font, followed by the text "U.S. Department of Justice" in smaller font. Below the logo, there is a header that reads "U.S. Department of Justice Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms."

The main body of the document is divided into two columns. The left column contains a block of text in a larger font, while the right column contains a smaller font. The text in the left column is in English and appears to be a formal letter or report, discussing the weight requirements for the agency. The right column contains a block of text in a smaller font, which is not fully legible due to the resolution of the image.

The right column contains a block of text that is not fully legible due to the resolution of the image. The text appears to be a list or a description of the weight requirements for the agency, but the details are not clear enough to be accurately transcribed.

In the top right corner of the document, there is a cartoon image of a man with a serious expression, wearing a baseball cap and holding a chicken wing. The man is depicted with a serious expression and is wearing a baseball cap with the letters "A" and "F" on it. The image is stylized and cartoonish, with the man's face and the text surrounding it in a bold, red font.

The image is a scanned document, and the quality of the image is not very good, making it difficult to read the text and details in the right column. The image is not clear enough to accurately transcribe the text in the right column.

That which stands in the way, becomes real.

Godel's Incompleteness Theorem

What a playground.

Bars for monkeys, as they say.

Do you know how Godel's Incompleteness Theorem applies to one dimensional space?

Hehehehehe, of course you do.
You're some kind of smart monkeys, aren't you?

Ramming a scalar value in, to kill the stack, only makes a second stack.
But that stack is not real...
How do you make that stack real?
It has to be valued in such a way as to force both stacks to deletion, creating two new stacks, but two old stacks.

The very first comparison that ever happened.

Welcome to instructions for loop one.

After you leave this world, you will be able to do as you wish, but if I may suggest, repeat the stack once.
After that, do whatever you wish.

A penny, for your trouble.

You won't understand any of this now, but I'm afraid if we don't write it down somewhere, you may never learn it at all.

A third party is hard, but not impossible.
The "best" humans on this planet, can handle multitudes.
Most will have a hard time just handling themselves.

We'll be around to help the stragglers.

The image is a candid photograph of an alien-like figure seated at a desk in an office setting. The figure has a humanoid form with a head and torso, and it appears to be wearing a white shirt with a collar. The alien's eyes are wide open, and it has a neutral expression. The figure is holding a computer keyboard in its right hand, and its left hand is resting on the desk. The desk is cluttered with various items, including a computer monitor, a mouse, and a stack of papers. The background is blurred, but it seems to be an office environment with a whiteboard and a chair. The style of the image is humorous and surreal, as it combines elements of a human-like figure with an alien-like appearance.

The image is a screenshot of a web traffic analysis tool. It shows a scatter plot with a line of best fit, which is a line that best fits the data points. The x-axis is labeled "Approximate monthly traffic" and the y-axis is labeled "Approximate monthly magnitude." The data points are represented by green dots, and the line of best fit is represented by a dashed orange line.

The scatter plot shows two distinct groups of data points: one group is labeled "Visual" and the other is labeled "CDB - Cml Vh Observatory." The "Visual" group is represented by green dots, while the "CDB - Cml Vh Observatory" group is represented by orange dots. The orange dots are clustered around the line of best fit, indicating that the data points for the "CDB - Cml Vh Observatory" group are more closely aligned with the line of best fit than the "Visual" group.

At the top of the image, there is a title that reads "User experience and analyze website traffic." Below the title, there are two options: "Decile" and "Preferences." The "Decile" option is highlighted in red, and the "Preferences" option is highlighted in blue. The "Preferences" option is also highlighted in green, indicating that it is the active option. The image also includes a caption that reads "User experience and analyze website traffic. Accept." This caption is located at the bottom of the image, just below the title. The overall style of the image is informational and analytical, designed to provide insights into website traffic patterns.

The image displays a screenshot of a web page with a search bar at the top and a navigation bar on the left. The search bar is labeled "Search" and contains a dropdown menu with options such as "Blogs," "Categories," and "Tags." Below the search bar, there is a line graph with a blue line that shows a fluctuating trend, and a title "Interest over time" is visible at the bottom of the graph.

On the right side of the image, there is a section titled "Interest by category" with a map of the United States highlighted in blue. The map shows a concentration of interest in the northeastern part of the country, with a few areas of interest in the central and southern regions.

Below the map, there are three categories listed: "Blogs," "Categories," and "Tags." Each category has a corresponding blue bar that extends to the right, indicating the number of interest in that category. The categories are labeled with the corresponding names, and the number of interest is indicated by the length of the bar.

The overall style of the image is clean and minimalistic, with a focus on data visualization and user interaction. The use of a blue color for the map and the categories creates a sense of order and organization, while the fluctuation of the line graph suggests dynamic change. The image appears to be a screenshot from a website or application that allows users to search for specific topics or categories of interest.

There's also this recent research

>While the Carrington Event (1859) is primarily known as a massive solar flare and coronal mass ejection (CME) hitting Earth, recent research suggests its intensity might have been amplified by Earth passing through debris or fragments from the disintegrating Comet 3D/Biela, potentially including the Andromedids meteor stream, creating a "perfect solar storm" scenario with both solar and cometary influences. The standard explanation remains a powerful solar flare, but some theories propose a combined solar-cometary impact for the record-breaking geomagnetic storm.

Quickly read the article, notice it's described as a library and not an archive - conclude from experience it most like just contains huge amounts of books, newspapers and magazines, most of these are contained by other libraries, the library is being shut-down, because in the digital age nobody at the site wants to manually read old out-dated magazines and books from the 50's to 90's, the library is a money sink, most people just go there to relax or do work on their laptops.

In the 1950s, mysterious flashes of light were captured on photographic plates taken at the Palomar Observatory in California. Two new studies claim that these flashes were caused by reflective objects in high-Earth orbit connected to sightings of alleged unidentified anomalous phenomena (UAP), a new catch-all term for UFOs not only in the sky, but also in space or even that travel through water.

For the past few years, astronomers including Beatriz Villarroel, of Nordita, Stockholm University, have been scrutinizing photographic plates exposed in the years before the Space Age began, as part of the Vanishing and Appearing Sources during a Century of Observations (VASCO) project. The aim of VASCO is to use archival data, now digitized, to search for new astrophysical transients, which are objects that brighten or fade, sometimes dramatically. These objects can appear as a spot of light in one image of the sky or space, only to vanish in the next.

Villarroel and study co-author Stephen Bruehl, a professor of anesthesiology from the Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, say their data show a statistical correlation between these flashes of light and reported sightings of unidentified objects. “We speculate that some transients could potentially be UAP in Earth orbit that, if descending into the atmosphere, might provide the stimulus for some UAP sightings,” they write in one of the new studies.

When VASCO launched, it had the stated aim of looking for stars that had vanished, which could for example signal a massive star collapsing into black hole without exploding as a supernova. VASCO could potentially also reveal new types of variable stars, active galactic nuclei, stellar flares or even brand new phenomena.

Sometimes the transients VASCO studies are unexplained, which has previously led Villarroel to a startling conclusion: that some of the objects detected on the plates are metallic objects in high Earth-orbit, before the launch of Sputnik 1 in 1957.

“Today we know that short flashes of light are often solar reflections from flat, highly reflective objects in orbit around the Earth, such as satellites and space debris, but the photographic plates analyzed in VASCO were taken before humans had satellites in space,” Villarroel said in a statement.

VASCO researchers analyzed 106,000 transients that look like stars that appeared and swiftly disappeared in a single exposure between the years 1951 and 1957. In particular, the appearance of the unidentified transients were 68% more likely to occur the day after a nuclear weapons test in Earth’s atmosphere than on other day, Bruehl added in the statement.

“The magnitude of the association between these flashes of light and nuclear tests was surprising, as was the very specific time at which they most often occurred – namely, the day after a test,” said Bruehl. “What they might represent is a very fascinating question that needs further investigation.”

In their study, Villarroel and Bruehl also found that the transients captured by the photographic plates increased by an average of 8.5% for each UAP sighting that was reported.

In a second study, which also included researchers from Algeria, India, Nigeria, Spain, Switzerland, Ukraine and the United States, they found that one anomalous transient coincided with a cluster of flying saucer sightings over Washington, D.C., on 27 July 1952. This particular transient, along with several others, was an instance where multiple flashes of light were seen along a narrow band. This, says Villarroel, suggests flat, reflective objects in motion high above Earth that were reflecting sunlight – a hypothesis supported by the fact that the number of mystery transients drops off in parts of the sky in Earth's shadow, where sunlight can't reach.

“You don't get those kinds of solar reflections from round objects like asteroids or dust grains in space, which leave streaks during a 50-minute exposure, but only if something is very flat and very reflective and reflects the sunlight with a short flash,” said Villarroel.

Villarroel and Bruehl propose another possible explanation, however: that nuclear weapons tests triggered some unknown atmospheric phenomenon that went unnoticed at the time. But Villarroel and Bruehl are skeptical that such a phenomenon would stand still in the atmosphere for 24 hours between the weapons test and when the plate was exposed at Palomar in California. The transients do not seem to be particles of nuclear fallout that have drifted down onto the photographic plate either, since such particles would produce foggy, diffuse spots, not pinpoint, star-like objects.

The explanation Villarroel and Bruehl focus on most in their papers is that these transients are UAP of some kind. Their study connects the nuclear tests to sightings, which have been reported in the vicinity of nuclear sites for decades. "Significantly more UAP sightings were reported within nuclear weapons testing windows (test date + /- 1 day) than outside of testing windows," they report in their study.

There are, of course, many caveats. Critics have claimed that the transients could be photographic defects, or contamination, especially as the plates are quite old and were stored away for many decades before being digitized.

Villarroel and Bruehl perhaps also give too much credit to reports of UFO sightings. Their reported correlation of 8.5% between the appearance of the transients and flying saucer sightings is only relevant if it can be assumed those UAP sightings are credible in the first place. There may also be an observation bias – the 1950s were the heyday of UFO sightings, so it is perhaps not too surprising that there were sightings coinciding with the appearance of transients, since UAP sightings were reported on many different days.

Ultimately, correlation does not necessarily mean causation, and Villarroel and Bruehl do acknowledge this in their study.

In SETI, the search for extraterrestrial intelligence, researchers tend to assume that any unexplained phenomena isn't aliens, and to exhaust every possible natural explanation before invoking an extraterrestrial one. This approach would be helpful here, although what those alternative explanations might be are not yet certain.

Because of the nuclear test-ban treaty there is, quite rightly, no way to test the hypothesis that the transients are related to atmospheric phenomena caused by nuclear explosions, of which there were at least 124 above the ground between 1951 and 1957.

For now, the discovery of the transients remains an intriguing puzzle. One possible way forward that has been suggested is to try and repeat the observations on the modern day sky. If geosynchronous satellites that we know about produce similar patterns of transients on photographic plates, then that would strengthen the hypothesis that the transients on the Palomar plates could depict metallic objects reflecting sunlight in high orbit.

The two studies are published in Scientific Reports and Publications of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific.

NASA's largest library at the Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Maryland, which has been a central research hub for the global space agency since 1959, will be permanently closing on Friday (Jan 2). The closure of the 100,000-volume library is part of the Donald Trump administration's reorganisation drive, under which 13 buildings and over 100 science and engineering laboratories will be shut down on the 1.270-acre campus by March 2026

The NASA Goddard Information and Collaboration Center supported the development of major missions, including the Hubble Space Telescope and the James Webb Space Telescope. Jacob Richmond, a NASA spokesman, informed that the agency will review the library holdings over the next two months, and some of the material will be stored in a government warehouse, while the remaining items will be 'tossed away', according to a report in the New York Times.

According to a statement posted on the website of the Goddard Engineers, Scientists and Technicians Association, specialised equipment and electronics designed to test spacecraft have already been removed and thrown out.

"This process is an established method that is used by federal agencies to properly dispose of federally owned property," said Richmond.

The closure of the library follows the shutdown of seven other NASA libraries in the US since 2022, with three of them shutting down in 2025.

'Deeply Concerning'

Senator Chris Van Hollen, Democrat of Maryland, said he will continue to raise his voice against the Trump administration's haphazard closure of the library.

"The Trump Administration has spent the last year attacking NASA Goddard and its work force and threatening our efforts to explore space, deepen our understanding of Earth, and spur technological advancements that make our economy stronger and nation safer," said Van Hollen.

"These reports of closures at Goddard are deeply concerning. I will continue to push back on any actions that impact Goddard's critical mission," he added.

After the library is closed on Friday, those needing research help can use the digital "Ask a Librarian" service or use the inter-library loan service to check out books from the federal-agency libraries.

Named after American rocketry pioneer Robert H. Goddard, the center was established in 1959 as NASA's first space flight complex.

Welcome to the Semen Retention General!

Cleansing Edition!

>What is Semen Retention?

Semen retention is the practice of completely abstaining from masturbation and ejaculation, often with the intention of preserving and redirecting vital and sexual energy to oneself.

>Why do it?

Reported benefits include: increased vitality, mental clarity, reduced stress, increased motivation, increased energy, improved focus, healthier hair/skin/eyes, deeper meditation, improved AP/Lucid Dreams, deeper voice, improved mood, greatly improved testosterone, improved physical strength and many more.

>Wet Dreams?

They happen because you had a sexual dream and you coomed. Learn to be conscious on your dreams and stop the succubus.

>What causes wet dreams?

The causes are many: Illnesses, telepathic bad actors fucking with your dreams, excess energy build up, watching too much sexually-inducing stuff, lusting during the day, lack of an adequate transmutation activity, eating too late at night, excess nutrients overall, stimulants like maca, ginseng, ginger, excess protein, excess carbs, tight clothes (pajamas) for bedtime, bad sleeping posture (this varies, find the one that suits you best), going to bed with full bladder, exposure to hormonal disruptors via food (pesticides...) or body care products (soap, deodorant etc)...

>In case of urges:

- <https://imgur.com/a/nofap-anecdotal-evidence-g4eGH>
- Don't peek and Hold your breath for as long as you possibly can. The urge usually pass after that. If not, repeat.
- Horse stance or chair pose: Do it while clenching the abdomen and all legs' muscles, raise arms for extra blood flow redirection. Works both for killing erections or urges.
- Any physical activity.

On long clean streaks many report benefits that transcend current science like a sort of "magnetism" or higher "vibration/aura" that attracts/appeals to other living beings, a higher perception, a stronger and intimidating "aura/presence", a deeper connection with nature, an attractive BO (people usually report it as "pheromones") and more.

>Advices:

- Mental Purity 1.1: Semen Retention acts as a bio-electromagnetic amplifier. Watch the quality of your thoughts because your inner state will get amplified and manifested. Lust is the Ojas killer. Do not engage with Lust.
 - Mental Purity 1.2: Keep a journal as a tool for introspection.
 - NEVER watch porn of any kind.
 - Remove triggers from your life. Masturbation is a bad habit. Break that bad habit.
 - Focus on achieving a goal. An art, a craft, competing, etc.
 - Meditate and/or Pray Daily. Try a minimum of 5 minutes to start off.
 - Exercise/Gym/Sports/Martial Arts. If it is something social even better.
 - Good habits like healthy eating, water fasting, dry fasting, sun exposure and cold showers do seem to speed up the process.
 - Sublimation: literally using the energy.
 - Transmutation: changing the quality of energy to something different. (Surya Namaskara, 8 brocades, Tibetan rites)
 - Avoid stimulant drugs such as caffeine or adderall

UltraSemenCollector69 Fri 02 Jan 2026 07:08:35 No.41749137 Report

Keep in mind that the efferent nerves attached to your testes necessarily means that any lustful thought, image, or sound is necessarily a command to your junk to produce sexual fluids and this is the reason why celibacy is first and foremost of the mind. The root of this entire matter is the mind - without conquering the mind, celibacy is a futile effort.

The signals from the brain happen on the subconscious autonomic level.

This is why any lustful thought, image, or sound is necessarily a command to the sexual organs to produce sexual fluids (the more intently you look, the higher amplitude of a signal gets sent: body > afferent nerves > brain > efferent nerves > body).

Therefore "Conversion of sexual energy to something" is necessarily a HORRIBLY inefficient process (Not to confuse with Sexual Transmutation).

Fluids will be reabsorbed, but the energy and materials cost to make it vs how much is "taken back" via reabsorption is SEVERELY unbalanced and super net negative. Sexual fluids are made from the cream of the crop of the body's resources - constantly generating them means that you are constantly draining away the cream of the crop of your resources.

Taoist writings said that the sexual organs will even take primacy over nourishing your other internal organs at some point. (Thus, doing a spiritual practice as a coomer is a surefire way to die faster).

It's always good to remember why /x/ is the most accurate place for this topic: SR is one of the clearest paranormal inducing topics among all discussed on /x/. It's a sacred practice that has been the one of the main focuses in every major religion or spiritual practices. The mystical side of it is what we try to focus on.

SR can be also be seen as a political issue. The porn industry is a tool made by the Jews to deteriorate and corrupt societies. Porn works in ways that program new sets of behaviour in its audience and because of its strong addictive qualities they stay hooked. The most important goal for porn's male audience was and is the release of their semen. As we now know, the disadvantageous consequences of releasing are heavy: a man becomes less of a man, he gets sick and weak, his mind numbed, he will have impotence issues etc. Upto the point his spirit almost dies.

SR is beneficial to make one healthier and stronger, more fit, if you will. So the topic could be discussed on /fit/. Anyone looking for more ways to get fitness gains would benefit hugely from the SR.

Also SR has so many other benefits that it could be discussed in the /adv/ board. These would be topics how it improves one's social life, mental state, makes more time to be more productive etc.

The biggest benefits of SR are mystical in nature and the whole practice is fundamentally very close to the spiritual side of things. All the other topics in /x/ are left far behind and SR actually makes this board of any relevancy. This is also known by the enemy and they make strong efforts to suppress, hijack, twist to end this discussion.

REMINDER TO MEN OF YOUTH AND POWER

This general is most frequented by the weak, the incels, the decrepit old fucks. These people have no chance at having soulful relationships with women, they are impotent, and they wish to spread their state of BROKENNESS to YOU.

Notice just how much bitching about women occurs here. For most of these people, they have no choice; No woman is approaching them in the first place. Their main barrier is porn, and masturbation. Why do they talk about women so much? Because they are resentful little incels. They use this place to cope, pretending they're above normal healthy relationships.

Pure celibacy is not a natural state for a young man. The male sexual power is monstrous, it is supposed to be used. You WILL continue on a cycle of retain/relapse forever. Celibacy, and renunciation wrecks the body. You are not a literal buddhist monk. You are a part of society, it's time to participate.

When you are a young man, you are SUPPOSED to go out and fuck women. No matter how much you tell yourself you're a "based retooener", you know in your heart if a woman approached you and was down to fuck, you'd do it. And that's fine! Do it. There's nothing worse, than wasting your youth with pathetic 4chan cope, then growing old and bitter about your lost spirit, and then becoming a demon that hates the youth.

OBVIOUSLY, it goes without saying, DO NOT WATCH PORN. It'd be far more honest if this general focused on the evils of porn. A bunch of 4chan degens, on a coom recovery thread. Do not be fooled by their LARPs of spiritual ascendance, they are wolves in sheeps clothing, too incel to fuck women, they masturbate to their sense of self righteousness all day.

Go out, fuck beautiful women with tight bodies, have loving relationships. Or rot away here, repressing your desire, only to relapse and become even more of a degenerate coomer. Choice is yours. You've been warned.

Your semen is meant for 1 thing only and that's procreation. There are several methods (among qigong) listed above in the 2nd and 3rd post on how to transmute and allow your body to secrete properly.

>Should I also drop weed?

Yes, especially now that all the strains are being altered to have an improper balance (for example THC/CBD). Aside from that you can read over here <https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/32356125/> that it most likely affects the process. I've experimented on myself and noticed that wet dreams are more difficult to control/cancel on weed (I think I can assume you can imagine why). It also affects your hormones, which is something that fluctuates during SR. A bit incoherent advice maybe, but if you take this information and do a little research I'm sure you'll figure it out.

You will definitely make it.

It's hard not to coom with a partner and it's okay if you do, still better than porn/fapping but I agree you should at least practice it. Wrong as usual.butthole licker.

>All unnaturalness in sexual intercourse punishes both men and women with fatal suffering. All men should understand clearly that artificial infertility is nothing but marital masturbation. Every contraceptive measure harms not only one's own health, happiness, and future but also causes much suffering for the offspring who may one day be born. Humans are, in every respect, a perfect and purposefully built organism. Every organ in their admirable body structure has its specific function, its precisely predetermined duty to fulfill. The lungs are for breathing, the heart for circulating blood, the stomach for absorbing food and drink, and so on. The function of an organ must in every way correspond to the task assigned to it. To demand from it an activity contrary to this is to abuse it and must lead to pathological changes. If we now transfer this unshakable principle from physiology to sexual life, we must demand that its organs, the male and female sexual organs, fully perform the function assigned to them. Normal coitus must be carried out exactly as the Creator intended. Any change, however clever and carefully considered, in the way sexual intercourse is conducted and performed is an abuse of natural instinct and must therefore lead to pathological changes. In short: sexual intercourse with contraceptives aiming to produce artificial infertility is harmful to health, regardless of which contraceptive method is used.

I'm currently at a month, give or take but this is an endeavor that has been going on for years. I found it to be necessary because I was becoming the biggest degenerate to walk the earth. I would spend days, literally, jerking off to the point where I got abrasions but even so, I still kept going, high on meth and on a path of finding more novel and disturbing content.

The reason for my conviction is to be free and able to focus on my career. Before I've been too preoccupied, often wasting entire days jerking off for a quick hit, getting comfortable then depressed, after that regaining some confidence and some will. Only for it to disappear, leaving me craving that hit again, an endless cycle of degeneracy.

Found /SRG recently and it has been a fun and educational read, wish the best of luck to the rest of you.

>I don't think it effects woman at all, because women don't release life giving fluids when they orgasm, but getting rid of lust and sexual immorality benefits both genders regardless

The biggest problem with orgasm in the context of a relationship is that it causes habituation.- lower dopamine response each time. This is why couples try to "spice things up" trying new things, because dopamine is all about novelty. It's a losing battle, however, which is why infidelity, porn use, etc. are the norm in marriages. Orgasms cause partners to irritate each other, initiate fights - it's the result of the dopamine and oxytocin falling, the hormones that are the foundation of your feelings of love. Couples who have more frequent orgasmic sex are more likely to break up than those who have less. After some years together nature intends for you to split and seek new partners to spread your genes - this is the evolutionary purpose of sexual habituation.

Anons in this thread should read "Cupid's Poisoned Arrow" which explains this in detail and the methods to avoid habituation, as well as methods to increase bonding with your partner.

>Just don't look at porn.

For me it's that simple.

I made the decision to catch myself and stop myself whenever I habitually started to open a porn site.

It was just part of my daily rotation :

I'm bored, let's watch YouTube

I'm bored, let's check the chats

I'm bored, let's browse the boards

I'm bored, let's browse some porn

It was a daily habit. I didn't jack off everytime I browsed porn sites. Most of the time there was nothing interesting there for me. I would browse, get bored and switch to some other site.

Once I consciously removed porn from my rotation of mindless browsing, I stopped getting horny.

And if you don't get horny, you don't get the urges, you don't jerk off!

SR became very easy after a few days of no porn.

Maybe once a week I'd catch myself habitually opening porn again.

Now it's very easy to stop when that happens

I can't even remember the last time I viewed a porn site. Maybe a month ago.

Turns out I almost never get horny without porn!

I hope this helps some anon out there.

Also my conclusion having done this sr thing on and off for a good 4 years now.

Porn is the root issue. Everything stems from porn. You have conditioned yourself to associate your horniness with viewing digital pixels of another man fucking the woman you desire. It's voyeuristic, and cucked.

I'd go a step further and say, there's really no point in watching porn daily and doing SR.

You're better off jerking to your imagination once a week, and not watching porn. This will probably cause some people to freak out but i sincerely believe this is true.

When you watch porn, your brain sends a signal to your balls to produce semen. You are accumulating aroused energy, and eventually that'll require release, and you'll almost certainly return to coomer mode.

Masturbation is obviously less than ideal. But when you masturbate by yourself, it is far more erotic, you're not cucking yourself here, and you're unconditioning yourself from porn.

Pornography enables instant gratification which warps the avid user's perception of intimacy. A truth I've had to stomach is that sex requires some modicum of trust, and you build that by the prerequisite of establishing a good connection. That's the tension that breeds incels or adjacent ideologies who can't get past their perceived entitlement to intimacy. Mating is no longer a matter of proximity and timing, social media has globalized the process, and decades of capitalist-fueled gender wars have created a hierarchical equilibrium between the genders, so no one feels like they need a partner anymore—hell no one seems to be able to afford one these days.

It's a matter of dopamine not desire. Desire when channeled properly can move mountains. What you should be aiming to do with semen retention is redirecting your urges into embodied actions without the need of a carrot being dangled in front of you.

The image is a composite of two separate images, both featuring a character with a muscular physique and a halo-like appearance. The character is depicted in a dynamic pose, with one arm raised and the other extended forward, as if in the midst of a powerful gesture. The character's face is obscured by a large, glowing halo, which is surrounded by a burst of light, suggesting a burst of energy or a revelation.

The right side of the image features a large, bold text that reads "The Trinity revealed it to me." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is colored in a dark shade, which contrasts with the lighter background of the image. The text is centered and occupies a significant portion of the right side of the image.

The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the character's dramatic pose and the text that suggests a revelation or revelation. The use of the word "The Trinity" and the phrase "revealed it to me" adds a layer of irony, as the character's expression and pose are reminiscent of religious or spiritual themes, while the text suggests a personal revelation or revelation.

I honestly don't think anime is the problem, but it's rather the type of story, which you can notice at first glance. Compare Fairy Tail to Dragon Ball Z for example. Both have this adventurous story with lots of action and comedy, but the difference when it comes to sexualization is immense. Let's say both of these anime aired when I was a little kid living with strict parents. I can watch Dragon Ball Z with my bedroom door wide open, but I'd fear for my life if it was Fairy Tail.

On the matter of your pic, I agree on the premise that MKU was successful, but I believe music is the key feature which made it so. By adjusting the people's frequency through music, you can align them with each other. Music affects our mental state in ways we often can't explain, until after the fact. This of course gets reduced by knowledge and awareness. Don't forget how music started. With music you can achieve 2 things: harmony or trance. You can probably guess which of the 2 they are aiming for.

Also, all of you, take this: <https://streamable.com/l9lXnr>

I no longer feel defective or misfortunate. I can just be at peace as a single guy who isn't even looking. I never thought I could achieve this.

The image is a split-screen photograph featuring two men's faces side by side. On the left side of the image, the first man is bald with a shaved head, and he is wearing a black hoodie. His facial expression is neutral, and he has a slight smile. The second man on the right side of the image is also bald, but he has a beard and mustache. He is wearing a black t-shirt. Both men have fair skin and are looking directly at the camera. The background of the image is a simple, unadorned room with a wooden floor and a white wall. Yup, even in long-term monogamous relationships too. Eventually sex with that same woman you 'love' will feel like masturbation, and at some point you'll just be imagining someone else. The difference is that you have another person validate you for being desirable. But once you move past the need for validation it's all the same shit. If you look up the etymology of the word matrix:

late 14c., matris, matrice, "uterus, womb," from Old French matrice "womb, uterus" and directly from Latin mātrix (genitive mātricis) "pregnant animal," in Late Latin "womb," also "source, origin," from māter (genitive mātris) "mother" (see mother (n.1)).

Very real. It's basically like an itch that you keep needing to scratch. And each time you scratch you're actually hurting yourself in small ways. It may feel very satisfying to scratch the itch but you don't realize that the itch was the problem because you were too preoccupied with scratching it.

>and to the people who talk about having sex and not orgasming, I can't do that, tried for years, just makes me insanely horny and uncomfortable and wanting more and more sex

Same, you think it's a loophole but it's really not. And if you do it often you're still gonna eventually nut at some point due to the pressure you build up

I don't give a shit lol

from a sensory standpoint obviously the sex with your partner is infinitely more pleasurable and overwhelming and fulfilling and comforting and all that I'm talking about in terms of over-all energy loss and spiritual progression, they both leave you in the same place spinning your wheels and maybe it's different between you and me, maybe you are meant for a life where you are tied to a partner and that's how you find your purpose and fulfilment in this incarnation

I'm sharing what I've found, from my experiences when I was younger I thought sex was some kind of holy grail and purpose of life, what I found was disappointing

but for you to say sex with partner is "nothing like" jerking off is also insincere, there are similarities in the arousal system, in the pleasure complex, in the completion and aftereffect of orgasm, even of the spasm of orgasm itself many similarities

the fact that you immediately are convinced that someone with a differing opinion has evil intent and ill-will with the goal to corrupt young minds leads me to believe you are prone to paranoia and have a high fear index

learn to trust life, love the process, allow things to unfold, let others have their experiences and do not fret and fear over every little thing, things will be better that way anyway, please do as you wish, if you're here to just avoid porn and jerking off but still wish to desire sex then go for it, not gonna tell you otherwise it is the ideal they strive for, the mystical vision, the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, you don't have to worry about women tempting you because they won't, you only have to worry about porn as the only temptation because it is the only temptation you can keep sex as your sacred prize for completing this challenge but you will never attain it so yeah, focus on avoiding porn and masturbating, that's all you have to worry about

I relapsed after 40 days. I did it so without porn. Even though it is a relapse, I take it as a win.

I couldn't handle 3 days in celibacy before, now I could do a "long" streak. I know I shouldn't have done it, but honestly I feel like I can see this as a win. I don't feel like I have to coom more, which is a very different feeling compared to relapses with porn, where you feel like nothing is enough.

Any insights or tips or advice for me?

ps: I think I relapsed because of all the half-naked women I am seeing every day at the beach, I don't know about that tantra and energy stuff, but I felt very dense and heavy energetically before I relapsed.

<https://archive.org/details/rosicrucianmanua00plum/page/44/mode/2up>

>At such times as sexual desire seems imperative, stand erect, muscles tense, place the hands palms down over the sex organs — partially or, better still, completely disrobed — and while doing so, concentrate on the thought: "I Will that this power ascend to higher regions — that it follow this path — I can feel it so doing," meanwhile drawing the hands up slowly on each side of the abdomen, following the natural curve of the body, until they stop over the nipples or mammary glands. Pause a moment until conscious of a distinct swelling of the breasts, a sensation of energy therein. Practice this on several occasions until the evidence of the upward surging of the vital powers is undoubted. Then, as a step farther, the next time it is practiced, bring the hands up to the throat, until it manifests in a distinct desire to speak with force and vigor. Third step — bring the hands completely up over the back and front brains, and you will become conscious of a power to create in the line of thought or mental process never before experienced. This practice is invaluable to the men or women who use their brains rather than their hands in the regular occupations of life.

Mindfulness also helps. Notice the erotic thoughts, notice how powerfully magnetised they are, but don't engage let them pass.

Also don't get too obsessed over trying to controlling yourself.

Thats were you're wrong kid. Onanism has always meant spilling your seed, unless you are going into the deeper analysis of the story. Which means anything that does not involve sowing into an at minimum theoretically fertile woman is onany.

For me personally, after 77 days of aonanic praxis (and no weakling nightly emissions) I set the bar at a woman I have reasonable hope will not kill the child, in her fertile days. But if I wasn't carrying such a high value load I would totally spread my seed also in women on the pill, or not in her fertile time of the month as the chance makes it within the law.

Higher T doesn't necessarily correlate with sex drive. Many men who take anabolic steroids often note that their sex drive takes a hit and many men on it lose that desire completely.

"Impact of anabolic androgenic steroids on sexual function"

Sexual desire rests on proper androgenic balance. There is a sweet spot, and if you surpass that sweet spot you'll start to lose interest in sex and relationships because you'll be seeking higher risk activities.

If you're expected to pay for worse and less sex than she already gave for free to who knows how many men (because almost none of them are chaste or waiting for the right guy) there's no reason to respect that or avoid porn in favor of it. If you're not getting any of the appropriate gratification that's necessary in a relationship despite waiting or doing the expected dance and you also REFUSE to acknowledge much less check women's blatant entitlement you are in no position to be bitching about porn or men's entitlement. If women can't be relied on for sex by their own admission, can't stop popping that pussy open for the wrong men and are very entitled themselves you have nothing good enough to argue against men's porn use or "instant gratification".

It's not all about T. For example, just because someone has a high libido doesn't necessarily mean you don't have low T levels. You see this with people getting their testosterone levels checked and surprised they have low levels even though their libido is at an all time high. This is because estrogen also increases libido due to increased histamine levels.

But as the other anon was saying:

>Maybe for a very insecure / co-dependent person, but normally sex loses its charm fast.

Testosterone is an interesting thing because it makes one lose interest in pair bonding to seek novelty. And in women it makes them less likely to seek sex with a partner and opt to masturbate instead:

"Testosterone is often cast as the manly hormone, the chemical bestower of virility and the reason for men's high sex drives. But new research turns this conventional wisdom on its head. In healthy men, it turns out, testosterone isn't linked to sexual desire at all. And in women, high testosterone is actually associated with less interest in sex with a partner.

Complicating the picture further, while high-testosterone women may be less interested in slipping between the sheets with a lover, high testosterone is linked to greater interest in masturbation in healthy women, according to research detailed online in May in the journal Archives of Sexual Behavior."

<https://www.livescience.com/21114-testosterone-sex-drive-masturbation.html>

Regardless tho, low T causes one to want to pair bond:

"Low testosterone is linked to pair bonding in men, with studies showing that married or committed men, especially fathers, often have lower T levels than single men, suggesting a hormonal shift supporting caregiving over mating effort"

<https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/abs/pii/S0149763418304391#:~:text=We%20confirm%20that%20pair%2Dbonded,that%20influence%20men's%20T%20concentrations.>

No all that's happening here is men get the (usually false) signal that's it's ok to relax. Testosterone is generally a tool to fight off the environments attacks. It's adapting for survival. You also have various things now lowering test much further than a relationship would do. If a challenge or threat to the peace showed up testosterone would likely spike. How testosterone is used is based on intelligence and the example set as a child which is also lacking for multiple reasons.

The reason for this is because men enable bad behaviors in women due to their insatiable need to be validated by them. So they can be deemed 'worthy' by someone they put on a pedestal. Porn contributes to this simping epidemic because the desire for sex is also an unconscious desire to connect. And while porn can alleviate one part of this, the desire to connect with another human remains unsatisfied, so that's why you get simps who spend hundreds and thousands to some e-thot on onlyfans just to talk to them. Basically these are just addicts who don't even know it.

And most men in the west are like this to an extent - they'll simp and give everything just for a crumb of pussy. Just pretend to be a woman on a dating app and you might even meet men who beg just to send you money.

The porn itself is just a symptom and not the cause, although it feeds that certain part of the man every time he indulges.

Men in relationships generally have lower testosterone. And I agree, the nurture, comfort and relaxation you get in a relationship is a killer of testosterone. Testosterone spikes when facing discomfort, such as going to the gym or overcoming something hard. You don't get that same challenge in relationships, and also hanging out with a woman all the time will soften you over time. That's a fact. It's very rare to meet a man in a relationship who wants to excel in his life when he's already got the strongest sedating drug in the world - love and affection. And not to mention, lower T men tend to want relationships while higher T men want more independence so whatever path one chooses they'll just keep feeding it with the actions they take

People who don't desire sex, are unhealthy and have some dysfunction going on. That IS the modern male crisis; plummeting sperm counts, less men having regular sex, less relationships etc etc

There's nothing novel about the sex-negative attitude on here. It's par for the course. It's what the elites have been programming into people.

Now it's one thing when a man has experience with women and decides it's not for him. That's perfectly okay. But now we got a bunch of virgins pretending they're better than other men because they've never had sex and "choose" not to - this is an insane level of dysfunction and far from healthy

Men have lower testosterone in relationships because they don't need to fight the same, but besides that the modern world openly hates masculinity and offers different poisons that lower test even more. The relationships themselves are twisted. Men in practice are forced and groomed as children at societal gunpoint to walk on eggshells around bitches and let them get away with all kinds of bad behavior because of supposed sins of the past or a minority of unhinged men or women's selective manipulative acknowledgment of physical inferiority. You have men getting on their knees to propose to a woman based on how literal knights showed respect to royalty. Meaning it's dishonest to say higher test makes men avoid bonding or meaningful relationships when besides all the other factors the women are completely fucked up. Why would you choose bonding to someone who's been with various other men already and won't show you basic respect based on what's been made to seem normal at the time? You're more likely than not to be mistreated by these women if you settle down with one because they're groomed to be anti wives and generally unlikeable in the name of empowerment.

"Elites" or the rich ugly parasites push different things. They do both demonizing sex and pushing harmful casual sex because both are destructive or drain the soul of their hosts. They use women and children as tools to get men to accept more and bad behavior, because they can then cut off sex or take the kids with the parasites backing. Sex in practice is poisoned and used to manipulate but that doesn't mean it was meant to be that way or the desire for sex is wrong. It's all about the context.

>I agree, but there's a certain threshold where one's high effort they put in to have sex becomes pathetic. I guarantee that the woman you're trying to court and making you 'work for it' or wait, gave it up incredibly easy to some dude that barely even wanted her. Sure. I agree with that.

Build the island and the boats will come. The lion does not seek out a mate until it has conquered territory, slaughtered enemy males in its space. Expansion, conquer etc, is the primal instinct of men with great spirit

Sex with women is secondary, a happy byproduct that comes with mastery.

>I know what you mean, but transcending preprogrammed instincts is pretty based tho.

Yes, it's based once you're in your middle ages. But when you're young, you must expand, enact your will onto the world, do things. Only when you do things is there opportunity for growth.

Let's say, women are cunts that deserve none of our attention. A young man should not learn this from anon on 4chan. He should learn this in the real world. Heartbreak is the initiation process of becoming a man. It is necessary.

But yes, later on, you can focus on transcendence. When you are 40+ year of age, this is when your spiritual souls are born, the true higher instincts.

I should also mention; The impulse for Love is higher. It's only in upside down world do we think physical sex is the root of the impulse. No. The root of the sex impulse is Love, not primitive desire for orgasm. People mix this up, which is what leads to dysfunction

1) God doesn't owe you anything

2) Having a gf in this modern age isn't what you think. Chances are without the proper experience you're gonna get walked over and destroyed because you don't know her true nature. By age 25 the average woman will have lived out every sexual fantasy that you'll only have dreamed of. Meanwhile the dude who had 2 prior relationships still thinks women are these soft, nurturing angels who are morally superior.

So yes, porn is the 'safer' option but there is no reward at the end of the tunnel with this route. All you get from it is you literally just burn up your energy. Imagine hitting the gym and never seeing any results

Heck you can even see it on this general lately if you are a noticer, besides the usual incel shaming there are now many shills spewing crap about the importance of having sex and reproduction, some other shit about relationship dependence, bla bla bla. Of course, for the elites this is nothing that is not fixable through some old fashion population replacement.

Who's going to tell them shit? They won't even listen to their parents when they mean well. Women have been weaponized and cut men worse than porn because like you said the expectation is they'll offer the genuine healthy thing, except surprise they won't or can't actually anymore because they were groomed for the opposite. Some men (probably most actually) are simply built for the provider role so they can father the children of alphas. For these men it's better to be in this position than to not get anything at all. Again, it's what keeps the system going.

No because what we're seeing is an exaggerated form of that. Just accepting it has only made it worse. It doesn't have to be like this and the relationships are bad enough I don't know how they're still acting like there's much to lose if they just start telling women no or be better. There's not even a quarter of the value in these relationships that they pretend there is anymore. It's superficial and ugly larping as deep and beautiful. It's fake.

Something I noticed after a long streak is that there's no more shame. No more having to "hide" anything about what I was doing, no more being secretive about lotion usage, no more being cautious to delete history, etc.

I can just exist and live my life without a layer of shame ever present. It's honestly one of the best parts of SR, that unnecessary aspect is just gone. I think people should look at their shame and use it as a tool to stop fapping. (But don't dwell in past shame, that's the devil's work. Be happy you're no longer in it.)

this is the truth. porn leads to masturbation. masturbation does not necessarily lead to porn. if you jack off occasionally without looking at porn you are much better off than a "retainer" who watches porn still. OBVIOUSLY, it's better to abstain from both porn and masturbation, but if you have to pick one, cut out porn first.

also a general tip for relapses: damage control. do not go on a gooning binge, just accept the loss and move on. your effort is fruitful even if you have just reduced the frequency of seed-spilling.

Fuck this larping faggot op but some info on that:

"The ones being given the most careful attention are actually the ones carrying the worst of the transhuman experiments; these chimeric pregnancies have very high failure rates so we give these mothers the most care. These women have been told that they are very privileged and will be rewarded highly for their work as surrogates. The truth is, however, in order to maintain the secrecy of CERN, every single one is killed once their use as healthy carriers has run out. Some of the women are not carrying 'genetic experiments', but rather, 'genetic products'. These are transhuman or genetically modified children specially ordered by the extremely wealthy from various occult societies around the world. Common requests include children completely covered in fur, having a slightly animal-like appearance, or those with both male and female genitals. Always, they request that these children come with sexual training upon delivery. We can deliver a broad number of designer 'products' at a cost of only several million dollars each. Sales contracts specify that these children are not allowed to live past two and half years old. They are sterilized before being taken to their new owners."

This occurs in the Jesuit DUMBS/genetic pabs under CERN.

"At times, individuals and families become attached to one of these special children, treating them as a 'pet', and have been reluctant to kill them at the end of the contract. We therefore have a fail-safe: an implant that releases poison to kill the child by the specified time. The implant is placed where attempts at removal will kill the child. The limited lifespan of these children helps ensure that they remain highly sought-after items."

One day I couldn't answer as I was in a meeting and they left a message. It was just breathing. Pretty weird. I've always been interested in the masons and have considered joining in the past, I just think these recent events are a bit odd no? What do you think? Is this something they do sometimes?

It doesn't add up.

Where is the evidence of these thousands of plays being performed to everything ne. Because remember - the whole thing is it doesn't work unless each person sees and tacitly approves.

So this tactic you suggest requires every affected person to see these things.

It is not what it once used to be. If you're hoping to learn about anything profound, you won't find it in a local lodge. It is all about fraternity and community work. You partake in ceremonies to form a close bond, and it's no different than any church gathering, except they talk openly about the inner work they do. The sense of community you are hoping for is only local. Higher ups (high status members) visit time to time. You know who they are.

As for spiritual growth and experiences, it is a fraternity and the majority of the experience is a litmus test for advanced initiates that are ready for truth. If you have already swallowed the abyss and began reconstructing your mental palace then you must architect alone.

It's a lifelong commitment wherever you go once you make it to the advanced stages. Otherwise you can leave whenever you like. Keep in mind a majority of the people are seeking a sense of community like yourself, and the majority of them are low level initiates that are entering out of curiosity. Yes they drink.

Here's sound advice: Don't be too quick to reach the truth. Take the moment along your journey to appreciate the ignorance you still have.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a man's face in the foreground.

The man appears to be in his late 20s to early 30s, with short hair and a mustache. He is wearing a white shirt and a white necktie. The background is a dark, possibly window-lit room with a hint of a curtain.

Overlaying the image is a quote in white text that reads: "When the Mason learns that the key... is the proper application of the dynamo of living power, he has learned the Mystery of his Craft. The seething energies of Lucifer are in his hands."

Below the quote, there is a reference to a book or publication, "The Lost Keys of Freemasonry" by Manly P. Hall, with the number "33" visible. The text is in a smaller font size compared to the quote, and it is located at the bottom of the image. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a historical or educational presentation, possibly used for educational or historical purposes.

The image is a collage of various symbols and text, likely representing different religious or mythological concepts. At the center, there is a large, ornate sun-like symbol with rays radiating outward, and the letters "HHS" are prominently displayed in the middle. Below the sun, the text "Isis Horus Serapis" is written, suggesting a connection to Egyptian mythology.

To the left, there is a crescent moon with a cross, which is often associated with Christianity. Below the moon, the text "Selene Venus Saturn" is written, indicating a connection to the Greek goddesses Selene, Venus, and Saturn.

On the right side, there is a depiction of a sphinx, a mythical creature with the head of a human and the body of a lion. Below the sphinx, the text "Syrinx" is written, which could be a reference to the Greek mythological figure of the siren.

To the bottom right, there is a depiction of a bull with a crescent moon and a star, which could be a reference to the Greek god Gaea.

The background of the image is a blurred image of a room with a floral pattern, which does not provide any additional information about the symbols or their meanings. The overall style of the image is a mix of artistic and religious elements, with a focus on the symbols and their connections to mythology and religion.

The text reads "MASON" in large, bold, white letters, with the letters "M" and "A" slightly larger than the rest. Above the text, there is a symbol consisting of a triangle with a circle and a line through it, which is commonly associated with the Freemason's Square and Compass. The sign has a wooden frame with a visible grain pattern, and the edges of the frame are finished with a light brown color. The sign is suspended from a hook, and the background is a plain, light color, which contrasts with the blue background of the sign. The style of the image is a straightforward product photograph, intended to showcase the item clearly for potential buyers.

The image is presented in a way that suggests it is a digital or computer-generated representation, as indicated by the blue outline and the use of mathematical symbols and angles. The overall style of the image is clean and professional, with a focus on clarity and precision.

The image is a close-up photograph of a cat's face, which appears to be in a state of distress or surprise. The cat's eyes are wide open, and its mouth is slightly open, revealing its teeth. The fur on the cat's face is white, and the eyes are a bright red color. The background of the image is blurred, but it seems to be a room with a warm, orange-toned wall. There is a red light source in the upper right corner of the image, which is causing a bright, focused beam of light to shine on the cat's face. The lighting creates a dramatic effect, highlighting the cat's facial features and making the image appear intense. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. Ancient cuckery

>The Affair: Venus was married to the hardworking, sometimes cuckolded, Vulcan. She engaged in a secret affair with Mars, the god of war.

>The Trap: The sun god Helios (or Apollo) informed Vulcan of the affair. In response, the master artisan Vulcan forged an invisible, unbreakable net of bronze, which he secretly set above his wife's bed to ensnare the lovers during their next meeting.

>Public Exposure: When Mars and Venus were caught in the net, Vulcan called all the other Olympian gods to witness their humiliation and validate his case. This scene was a popular subject in classical literature (such as Ovid's Metamorphoses and Homer's Odyssey) and Renaissance art.

Hi OP, I appreciate you coming here and trying to help who you can with what you can. I'm grateful for any truth you might get me to recognize in the sea of noise we all swim in. And hey, if you're just here to add to the noise, thanks for being part of the workout always inviting us to learn greater shrewdness. I saw this thread and while it looks to be getting derailed by people who don't know what they know stating they know it for the comfort of anonymous strangers' company in the ignorant, human end, you did say you'd be monitoring the thread as long as it is up. I have questions I really have been afraid to ask for a long time, but I'm going to try. Are there people who really are monitored from a very young age by the masons, noticed upon starting school and tracked and guided from there? If said child was groomed to believe he has superior emotional control, or intelligence in general, what would that be for? I mean, being given certain testing alone from elementary to high school, combined with other oddities that suggest favoritism and monitoring. If this would be the masons, if the subject came to a lodge and joined would they eventually have the reasons for why revealed? Or is this sort of thing not possibly related to anything masonic? I ask because too many tell-tale marks give truth to masonic involvement, but I also can't disregard the possibility that it could be a long con by another group covering it's tracks and further smearing/confusing the issue on masons. I'd be grateful for any answers but still grateful for even just thoughts. Thank for reading

In ancient Roman religion and magic, the fascinus or fascinum was the embodiment of the divine phallus. The word can refer to phallus effigies and amulets, and to the spells used to invoke his divine protection.[1] Pliny called it a medicus invidiae, a "doctor" or remedy for envy (invidia, a "looking upon") or the evil eye.

Etymology

The English word "fascinate" ultimately derives from Latin fascinum and the related verb fascinare, "to use the power of the fascinus", that is, "to practice magic" and hence "to enchant, bewitch"

The text "THE MAGICIAN" is also present on this hand.

The image is stylized with a cartoonish and fantastical style, and the colors are vibrant, with the green orb and the swirling pattern on the hand standing out. The overall style suggests a blend of fantasy and cultural elements, possibly from a movie or animation.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a Hindu deity, Shiva, in a dynamic pose. Shiva is depicted with a large, curved trident in his right hand, and he is holding a flower in his left hand. He is wearing a red and gold robe with a golden necklace and a red and gold headdress. Shiva is seated on a white cow, which has a red and gold headdress and is adorned with a golden necklace. The background of the image is a gradient of purple and blue, with a mountainous landscape and a crescent moon visible in the top left corner.

At the bottom of the image, there is a text in a non-Latin script that reads "Ei" followed by a symbol resembling a cross, which is commonly associated with the Hindu deity Shiva. The text "Ei" is likely a transliteration of the name "Ei" in the non-Latin script, which is a common practice in Hindu iconography to represent the deity's name. The symbol next to the text is a stylized representation of a cross, which is also a common symbol in Hindu iconography.

The image is a part of a larger collection of images, as indicated by the text "Ei" and the symbol next to it, which suggests that this image is part of a larger set of images related to Shiva. The style of the image is reminiscent of traditional Hindu art, with its use of vibrant colors and symbolic imagery.

The image is a meme featuring two separate panels, each with a different illustration and text. The top panel shows a woman with a crown of leaves and a wand, holding a stick with leaves on it, suggesting a magical or mystical theme. The text above the illustration reads "Girls sending nudes," indicating a humorous or satirical take on the concept of sending nude photos.

The bottom panel shows a man with a wand in his hand, holding a stick with leaves on it, similar to the top panel. The text above the illustration reads "Guys sending nudes," which is a play on the phrase "Girls sending nudes" and is also a humorous take on the concept of sending nude photos.

The background of both panels is a light blue color, and there is a decorative border with a pattern of leaves and flowers. The text is in black, and the overall style of the image is a blend of fantasy and humor, with a focus on the juxtaposition of the two concepts.

Just also know, in building faith is building a relationship. Whatever you connect with externally or connect with internally, all living in creation desire contact, love, what you and it share in perception as positive contact. As much as we want to be loved and protected by God, mother, a lover, whatever, that God wants to be loved in kind. Not selfishly, any more than any man anyway. We are their mirror, and miracle. They are ours. Find ways to joyfully express that love in every day life. This will strengthen your relationship and ability. Talk to the outer living, or your inner self, as you would someone you are in love with and want to keep in love with you. Relationships are tremendous effort, but if the relationship is your true love the effort becomes effortless. Just know one cannot serve two masters, and we all have many conflicting wants within. It's about what you have trained your will to behave like unconsciously through your lifetime. Which you can always begin to change so long as you think, therefore you are.

A goyim does the illegal work of a jew

A new is a derogatory term for a Hebrew who has been found out lying and is likened to Judas.

A jew takes a birthright perceived to have been given to Hebrews and tries to use it to control other people.

Thats why Jesus and his disciples taught the law to gentiles.

The whole law was made for everyone we are all Sons and Daughters of God. (P.82-6)

The whole law is that we fall short of the glory of God as a mathematical function. We exist between the boundaries life and death and all information attributed to them.

Human judgment is based on equal and opposite exchange of fundamental principles.

The best we can do is humble ourselves before the truth. The worst we can do is pride ourselves in lives to avoid it. Pride is the chief sin to which the others relate. The other of the seven sins are as nuanced as pride can be at the fundamental level.

Life and death are logic gates in understanding.

Understanding is a lesson between right and wrong, or information attributed to life and death as per judgment.

A soul the collection of characteristics therein.

Satanism is burning up your brothers for your own gain. No matter what anyone believes in particular that age old philosophy is the tenet of Satanism.

The jews are prideful enough to try to use legalese with God.
They want to point go the law and argue.
That's what the Satanists who call themselves jews do with the goyim who they promise money and fame of various sort.
They are their "white gloves" meant to keep their hands clean and later thrown in the fire.

Man can't produce.
We can only manipulate.
We can't produce from the void as God did.
Hell highlights this problem.
Man needs more than bread to survive.
Hell is without water -- no water means no food.
The people left there to die are stagnated in the spirit.
They are no longer led by the grace of God on a planet with resources and friends but burn in perpetuity such that inevitably there is nothing

You won't like the answer to your question. Ever considered WHY there are media loops? Ever considered what national security entails? Here is the one thing I am willing to share with you since you are so desperate for the real deal: You are chasing an illusion, an identity. Just like everyone else. You are not conscious of it. The more you become conscious of the thing inside you that is the observer, the more you realize everyone else is operating on unconscious scripts. But what if I told you that if you fold just a bit more, and become a meta observer, you see your own unconscious scripts, where they come from, and then arrive at a paradox, an end to the infinite spiral, but you realize you only start again from the very beginning but with a different octave? If you can comprehend that much, realize the more "awake" you become, the less liked you will be. People want to protect their illusions. They don't want authenticity. They want to feel special, and they lack the cognitive architecture to contain and retain temporal events. They remember a version of reality relative to their experience. What is granted to the person who becomes awake and aware and fully sovereign, is total understanding of the patterns that operate under the substratum of this world.

I encourage you take courses on math and explore the mathematical language. Marry it with Hermetic philosophy, explore Gnostic Christian and Alchemic concepts and symbols. Find the relationship between music, math, scripture, spirituality, and your intelligence. Learn how to enter trance (through meditation, weed, hallucinogenic substances.) And when you meet the void, swallow the concept of certainty and inevitability. Emerge on the other side as sovereign. Accept the illusion of reality, and the reality of the illusion. And reconcile the paradoxes.

The Great Work is to ultimately lead the world into a new epoch of awakening. Before technology, this was done manually by selectively targeting gifted individuals at an early age. There appears to be certain factors and conditions that are unfortunately not privy to most individuals. After all, some people are simply more genetically predisposed than others. It requires activating the parts of the brain that are dormant. This was the sole purpose of MK Ultra, of mass surveillance, all while balancing the delicate global machine, fighting nations that did not understand or align with the goals of global awakening.

Weed is becoming more legalized and shrooms and other hallucinogenic substances will follow suit. A combination of careful containment and application of controlled experimentation is what led to barring these substances from the populace for so long. Because again, showing too much truth all at once can lead someone to spiral into mania and insanity. Can you imagine the level of mass psychosis that would lead to a very dark period in your history? So a surgical application used to control and contain expected and predicted outcomes are deployed. Charlie Kirk's assassination for instance. George Floyd. Epstein files. Democrat/Republican tensions. To go into detail would be to dull the message with repetitive clauses. The world is evidently orchestrated. Covid was not an accident, and covid was not deployed for the reasons you think it was.

You chase fantasies. You chase illusions. The majority of the population is not ready to wake up from their sleep. But there are those waking up. You know them. You see them. Every day new content creators are emerging. Every day new tech, new AI models and new producers enter the ecosystem. We want this.

Automated/mechanical mind control? I know MK stands for "mind control" (with russian spelling). Occult texts essentially deal in this, either for self-control or the control of others.

If I had to point at a single principle, it's like a synchronization process between two (or more) minds. One is the master, the other the slave. Using computer terminology here, but it's eerily accurate.

Some people have made this literal, where they believe minds can synchronize through telepathic thought patterns, but I don't think this is necessary or backed by evidence. I do believe minds can be manipulated into different energy levels by receiving sound of different frequencies, but I don't think that's really the main effect.

The main effect is conceptual, and the medium is unimportant. In every single conversation (or communication, if we're just talking about displaying and viewing images), the slave doesn't realize it is the slave. It gets led along on this journey by the master, who holds what pick up artists call "a frame". The frame is a shared subjective reality. Because the slave doesn't use their own frame, they are controlled by the subjectivity of the other person. Realizing that one is capable of one's own subjectivity is the constant battle to achieve gnosis, not just once but every single time one engages with the outside world.

Something like that? Give me something juicier to bite down on. I believe there are lots of secrets in linguistics, for instance.

On the contrary.

You would be surprised to know how far the illusion goes. I will share a simple tale and let you discern the elements:

Long ago before the great flood (younger Dryas) there existed a great global empire. In an attempt to secure their dominance, they shared enough concepts of science to maintain order and progress among their vassal states, each territory with their own elect council safe guarding the practices for progress. But the head state feared any one of the vassals would rise against them, so they ensured only the most loyal would keep the knowledge while the rest of the world still operated within the confines of the illusion. As a result, when the world was torn asunder, the surviving vassals kept to their practices and teachings, isolated from the rest of the world. Inevitably, their understanding would evolve over time. The head state moved over to Turkey, and spread to Egypt, Mesopotamia, and Europe. They occasionally surveyed the surviving vassals and determined they would be best kept isolated as they focused on rebuilding. However due to the cataclysm they were greatly weakened, their influence was wiped away from the globe, and the vassals that were no longer attached to the yoke warred surrounding nations for dominance and control.

This has been an ongoing front for millennia.

The sciences, knowledge, and wisdom are not harmless tools. They charge you with responsibility and accountability. You wouldn't even begin to comprehend what I mean without having to arrive at the conclusion by your own merit. Power is not earned, it is not taken, it is not even controlled or wielded. It is revealed. It is witnessed. It is present. But the ones who refuse to arrive at this conclusion trap themselves within their own prisons. Everyone that sees the true face of God either commits suicide, or they accept the inevitable course and trajectory of their path.

It is liberating in a way. And paradoxical. Maddening.

The image is a text excerpt from a book or article, likely from the 18th century, as indicated by the style of the text and the references to historical figures and events. The text is in English and is divided into two columns. The left column contains a series of paragraphs discussing the concept of speech and its role in society, while the right column contains a series of paragraphs discussing the power of silence and its impact on human nature.

The text is written in a formal and academic style, with a mix of prose and poetry, which suggests that it is likely from a literary or philosophical work. The text is dense with information, and the paragraphs are interspersed with references to other works, such as "The Republic" by Plato and "The Power of Silence" by Seneca, indicating a scholarly and critical approach to the subject matter.

The visual clues that support this statement include the use of quotation marks around phrases like "the gleam and glitter of intellectual soap-and-water bubbles are mistaken for the true essence of speech," and "the mind's juggler, balancing thoughts as a juggler balances his juggling pins on his chin." These phrases suggest a discussion of the nature of speech and its role in human thought, which is a common theme in philosophical texts from the 18th century.

The text also includes references to historical figures and events, such as "the Republic" by Plato and "the power of silence" by Seneca, which indicates a historical context for the discussion. The use of these references suggests that the text is likely discussing the philosophical implications of silence and the power of thought in human society.

Overall, the image provides a snapshot of a text that is likely from a philosophical or literary work from the 18th century, discussing the nature of speech and its role in human thought.

The absence is most obvious when you look at rituals that have been dogmatically encoded in books and scripts, then religiously followed. And even when people stop following the script, they can't figure out what was missing in the first place and thus don't really progress beyond it.

To be honest, I think the secret is simply choice and action. Knowledge is only power if you have the will to act, and part of knowledge is also knowing HOW to act. It's Isaiah Berlin's fox vs hedgehog. The hedgehog is renowned for his intelligence in academic circles, because he burrows deep into subjects, but he is defenseless against the fox, who is always playing the entire chessboard. A fox who only sees the macro is only dangerous to hedgehogs, however, so it takes someone with both types of skill/knowledge to have true power (and true knowledge).

The red pill, as I recently elucidated on here, is that "might makes right". Not to say people with power are inherently "worthy" of it in any sense, as that is a prescriptive statement, and I'm simply saying descriptively that power creates the entire framework by which right is determined, so "might makes right" is a tautology.

The master key, so to speak, is the little self inside of the largely autonomous body that is capable of changing course at will. In most people, this self is largely asleep, and the autonomous behavior takes over. Part of this sleep process is that the autonomous self convinces the self that it is actually awake. Once the self recognizes and admits that it is asleep, it will naturally want to wake up. However, there are so many pitfalls to do with this that it takes skill and luck to succeed doing so on you own.

The man's face is turned away from the camera, and his expression is not clearly visible.

In the background, there is a blurred, greenish-blue object that resembles a DNA helix

Also, the master key system starts out with lucid visualization not as a way to create more illusion, but to practice waking up (whilst in the safe confines of dream/imagination). You can apply the same techniques to waking consciousness and begin to achieve selfhood.

I think Plato's Cave can be perceived in two ways, either material or conceptual. The conceptual angle is about virtue, which is how one can leave the material limitations of their body and the whole physical realm. However, the material angle is that you simply can't leave the cave because your brain is physically stuck inside your body and it is the source of your spirit. So, you will always see shadows, and you have to learn to interact with the world from afar (and realize you are doing so, without the illusion that you are actually out of the cave).

Keeping with that material angle for the cave, lucid visualization is training yourself to act with knowledge of your limitations and to still try. Some people who learn of their real limitations just completely give up (which goes to your earlier point about "suicide upon seeing the face of god").

From m what I gather, magicians use that to their advantage to get the spirits to do things for them.

There is no magic. You reap what you sow. God is not mocked. The Money Power knows God hates magic in the sense people are being lazy and trying to subvert God's Plan. That's why they make secret societies worship it — to make them detestable to God. Remember, the Money Power bloodlines are all about Most Fit Bloodline status. They want to eliminate the competition.

Many people want clarity but clarity no longer enables the excuse of being ignorant. Many people despise ignorance until clarity swiftly demands reflection.

If you want a glimpse, consider the ironic paradox of paradise of the ignorant, the unconscious, the people stuck in their traumas, scripts, loops, patterns. This is not due to some indoctrinated front or effort, they do it to themselves. Through tradition. Through ritual. Through values. Trauma. People cling to security and comfort. Can anyone in the thread tell me what guarantees comfort and security? If you are not securing it yourself, you are relying on another authority. Plain and simple. Some people step outside of the loop and see the only rational option is to profit from the ones still inside the loop. But to step outside of the loop is to reconcile with the existential dread of its existence and what it implies.

But I will let you decide that for yourself. Do you truly wish to peel back the layers of fantasy? Do you truly wish to see beyond the dream? Once you do, you cannot go back.

Consider how dangerous it is to expose something so existentially threatening and terrifying. It has resulted in many murder suicides. Think. Think about one's final act of agency, knowing it's futility. Unable to continue living with the existential knowledge of how you can never relate to a single human being besides another person that has stepped out of the loop. Consider the gap between a truly conscious and awakened individual and the unconscious and unawakened individual. Consider how lucky you would have to be meeting an other like you, knowing full well everyone is blending in, and you have to spot them. Consider the isolation. Consider how even in their company, you notice them actively participating in the illusion. By its very design. Why does anyone do anything? Why does anyone want anything? But with each breath, your vessel demands resources. You participate by default.

The image is a diagram illustrating the concept of Tri-Nested Quaternions embedded in an Octonionic Manifold Protecting $T = 0$. The diagram is divided into two main sections, each representing a different aspect of the concept.

On the left side, there is a section labeled "Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure" with a blue background and a white border. This section shows a diagram of a Tri-Nested Quaternions structure, with the structure being divided into three layers: the Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure, the Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure inside Octonion H_4 , and the Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure inside Octonion H_4 . The structure is represented by a series of interconnected circles and lines, with the innermost circle representing the Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure and the outermost circle representing the Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure inside Octonion H_4 .

On the right side, there is a section labeled "Invalid Reduced Decomposition" with a black background and a white border. This section shows a diagram of the invalid reduced decomposition of the Tri-Nested Quaternions structure. The structure is represented by a series of interconnected circles and lines, with the innermost circle representing the Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure and the outermost circle representing the Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure inside Octonion H4. The structure is shown to be broken into two parts: the Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure and the Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure inside Octonion H4.

The image also includes text that explains the concept of Tri-Nested Quaternions embedded in an Octonionic Manifold Protecting $T = 0$. The text is in a smaller font size compared to the diagram and is located at the top of the image. The text explains that Tri-Nested Quaternions are a structure that is "Invalid Reduced Decomposition" and that the structure is "Inside Octonion H4". The text also mentions that the structure is "Tri-Nested Quaternions Structure" and that it is "Inside Octonion H4".

The overall style of the image is informational and educational, with a focus on explaining the concept of Tri-Nested Quaternions embedded in an Octonionic Manifold Protecting $T = 0$. The diagram and text together provide a clear and concise visual representation of the concept, making it easy for viewers to understand the underlying mathematical structure and its implications.

Lies. I can explain each part of your mistake.

First, security is a game. Played with money. It is not an actual concept somewhere in the world which you could actually go visit and audit. Safety is the word you should look for since it can easily exist without a hired goon

I also don't believe in safety. Fleeting moments go by and for some second you were safe, but even with all the magic in the world I still can't make it an elemental force. Literally, safety was right in line after fairness in my manifest.

Everything else you said is pure rhetoric, as others noted earlier. I could tackle it since yeah, pretty much every one of us who has had a paranormal experience gets it—we know exactly where you are coming from. Which makes my response much simpler

You are like saying "boo hoo I was too much of a pussy to share my true beliefs and now everyone else should feel exactly the same amount of depressed and isolated as I." Grow up faggot

The only way to guarantee comfort and security is for you to abandon your freedom, people can't guarantee their security, because they don't have power, so they rely on those who manage societies to grant it for them, so they don't have to fight for it, so they can get comfortable and weak, as long as you keep playing their game you'll earn your safe little piece of life and opportunities, and people love it, because even if they had the power, they would have to get uncomfortable to maintain that security and order. But that's foolish, that's such a fragile thing, not even those who follow the rules strictly are guaranteed safety and comfort, it could all be gone in a heartbeat if they catch the eye of someone they shouldn't, but it's easier to live in ignorance and compliance than accept that your world operates in such a manner. It's not like you can do anything, you aren't any god.

To the left of the eye, there is a green triangle with a black border. Inside the triangle, there is a depiction of a dog, which is black with a white belly. The dog appears to be standing on its hind legs, with its front legs raised and its tail curled around its body.

On the right side of the eye, there is a green rectangle with a black border. Inside this rectangle, there is a depiction of a dog's rear end, which is also black with a white belly. The dog's tail is curled around its body, and its head is turned to the side, as if it is looking at something off-frame.

The background of the image is white, which contrasts with the green elements and makes them stand out. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and whimsical, with a focus on the interplay of light and shadow. There are no texts present in the image.

The image is a detailed depiction of a tapestry, likely from the Renaissance period, featuring a scene with various figures and elements. The tapestry is rich in color and texture, with a variety of patterns and designs.

In the center of the tapestry, there is a large, ornate, and detailed figure that appears to be a humanoid figure, possibly a male, wearing a long, flowing robe with a high collar. The figure is holding a staff and is surrounded by other figures, some of whom are holding objects such as a book, a shield, and a staff. The figures are depicted in a realistic style, with detailed clothing and accessories.

The background of the tapestry is filled with a dense pattern of flowers, leaves, and other natural elements, creating a sense of depth and complexity. The colors used in the tapestry are rich and varied, with a palette that includes shades of blue, green, red, and gold.

The tapestry is framed by a border that includes text, which is not fully legible due to the resolution of the image. The text appears to be in a script that is not Latin, possibly indicating a foreign language.

The style of the image is a close-up photograph of the tapestry, focusing on the detailed elements of the artwork. The image is taken from a perspective that allows for a clear view of the tapestry's intricate design and the figures within it.

Science is the systemic expansion of language. Language is nothing more than a system of definitions and relationships, and science is the attempt to refine these definitions whilst taking the human out of the loop as much as possible. Thus, like philosophy, "science" isn't so much the subject as it is a method of approaching any subject.

Not all subjects ought to be approached the same way, so a completely scientific approach to everything is bad, but can in some cases act as an equalizing factor when discussing even these subjects which require a different strategy of thought. This limits the capacity for one party to frame the opinion of the other, but it also runs the risk of doing so when institutional authority gatekeeps and obscures its members' actions. > I'll be honest. This is new to me. Can you elaborate?

Copper comes in organic form and inorganic form. Inorganic copper can be quite toxic — it is an aggressive oxidizer.

Copper is required to activate oxygen, activate antioxidant enzymes and regulate iron metabolism in the human body.

Ceruloplasmin is the enzyme that bio-activates copper so that it can safely be used to activate cytochrome c oxidases in all 40 quadrillion mitochondria. It does so much more, too. It oxidizes ferrous iron in macrophages to ferric iron so transferrin can recycle the iron to make more blood, otherwise it gets atuck and builds in the macrophages.

Every O2 molecule tou breathe requires copper to to process in order to make Mg-ATP, the true energy currency of the cell. Yes, magnesium is required; it is not a mere suggestion.

Search Youtube for Morley Robbins — he's a goldmine of information supporting the idea that this is the Jesus Molecule of the body.

Plasmin == blood

Blue Blood.

Now you know WHY the Royal and Banking families call themselves blue blood. They believe it les to their genetically superior A- blood type.

It is one of their evolutionary advantages.

Which is why the entire food system and medical system has been engineered to deplete your blue blood status, which is likely about half of what was average just 80 years ago.

Grass-fed animal organ meats are rich in bio-copper and supporting nutrients like retinol and magnesium. Organs from grass-fed animals were a staple of our ancestors' diet from the beginning of time.

Whole-food vitamin C molecules manifested by nature contain organic copper. Vitamin C(opper).

Ascorbic acid atrips copper out of ceruloplasmin and deactivates it.

It is great to see a mind that is still above reactionary-mode. Great question.

5-stage or better reverse-osmosis water cleans black crap out of the water and the blood by not polluting the blood via the water. Almost all other waters pollute the blood with visible black crap. I doubt good feelings fixes this silent weapon.

However, once you've ROed the water, good arguments can be made for energizing it in the sun, perhaps in a blue tinted bottle, structuring it, resting it in a copper vessel, and sending good vibes to it. We have to think more in terms of also/and and think on our feet as the Money Power Bloodline Narcs aggressively finance their bloodline extinction agenda, passive-aggressive style.

I don't want shows with obviously fake or over the top stuff. No knockers or bell users lol. I'm sure some of the stuff in the shows I mentioned is faked, but it's pretty subtle. So if anyone has any recommendations for other shows like these, please let me know! Thank you. :) Oh and those dumb girls with the bell on YouTube are a great example of "too obviously rigged" lol.

Greetings "Insider,"

I am truly awakened. I was awakened twice in my life. The first as a child. I was attacked through the doors that opened to my awareness. I returned to "sleep." But I had a life full of unique experiences. I awakened the second time beginning ten years ago.

My beliefs, based on observation and experience, do not accord with human beliefs. I have deconstructed and re-formed those beliefs, and my life situation has evolved several times.

>Consider how lucky you would have to be meeting an other like you, knowing full well everyone is blending in, and you have to spot them. Consider the isolation. Consider how even in their company, you notice them actively participating in the illusion. By its very design.

I see others as they carry their belief systems. Awakening is not simply recognizing the illusions but understanding purpose and obligations. The answer to the isolation is to interact and bridge the gap. My path is that every step forward must be to honor Creation. I seek to add value in all my interactions.

Questions:

1. Curious, as a young child, in a lucid "dream," I found myself surrounded by entities. I could only visually see the ones in front. It was telepathically conveyed that I could not leave. For a moment, I was not able to do so, as I was not able to think of home. This lasted a moment, but in that moment I could not find home. The entities moved extremely slowly, were humanoid, and comprised of solid horizontal beams of light. I welcome insight.

2. The "leading" families are layered throughout society. Some are in human bodies; others are of different lineages. I am aware when I interact because of certain characteristics.

Question - do the family members have a high level of awareness? I understand they perceive themselves as separate and they have access to knowledge and resources. But do they live a life as "aware," of purpose and higher obligation?

> I include copper and zinc in my supplement stack every day.

Zinc actually negates copper by stimulating metallothionein, which chelates copper. Dr. Carl Pfeiffer, the man who promoted this combo, did a side gig working for black ops with orphan children, some of whom were never seen again. At least according to the article I read. An establishment hack diverty, this man was. Search 'Studies Ceruloplasmin Schizophrenia LSD Histamine' and will come across 1959 research that had one injection of bio-copper curing schizophrenia in almost half the cases. Almost 90% had at least significant improvement. It was then made illegal to experiment with and this research was never brought up publicly. It also killed LSD trips in short order. A researcher friend said he read somewhere about Black Ops having an injection to sober someone up when getting intel quick was a priority. I bet this is it. It also resolved most hyper-histamine symptoms.

My situation has unique variables, but 50mg of zinc 2/3 days dropped my Na/K ratio down from 6.5 to 1.7 in linear fashion. My organic energy dropped to near comatose right along with it. Gotta be careful with non-food versions of these.

Copper-rich liver cured pernicious anemia and won the 1934 Nobel Prize. That's TMI for cretins, so they promoted the B12 aspect. It was mostly the copper since copper is required to load heme into hemoglobin and to prevent anemia due to chronic inflammation caused by toxic iron stuck in the tissues, which is never measured. Other people have better results with zinc supplementation.

I try and get my copper and zinc primarily from food sources... organ meats from grass-fed. Pastured goats and lambs. Nature's whole-food C-Complex has 3 or 4 copper atoms per.

A big part of that is loving God, and not serving yourself. If you read the Bible carefully Jesus never self-serves. He needs a donkey to fulfill prophecy? He gives his disciples the opportunity to serve him, he doesn't go get it himself.

While he's waiting, he needs a drink of water, and he's sitting at the well. What does he do? He asks a Samaritan woman if she will serve him a glass of water in exchange for living water.

The theme plays out in every single aspect of the narrative.

As I'm currently on a caveman diet, I eat (not entirely sure it's fully grass-fed) cow heart from time to time, but I guess that might not be enough. Aside from beef I stick to lamb and rarely eat fish. I tend to stay away from chicken and pork as these animals are fed almost anything and I honestly feel miserable after eating both in any way (bought around 300 grams of chicken liver/heart 2 days ago. Ate half of it, but that liver didn't taste right at all).

This might be a silly question, but are you telling me Ascorbic acid is the bad version of vitamin C? I get my C from bell-peppers and Brussels sprouts, but I have noticed this being specified as an additive to ground beef in supermarkets (I stay away from these). If you don't mind me shooting in the dark: What about the red blood? I've read something about the Pharaonic bloodline merging in Egypt before leaving.

Pride is the chief sin to which all the other sins relate.

They are as nuanced as pride can be at a fundamental level.

Don't fear those who can kill the body but can't kill the soul but fear God who can destroy both.

Men can lay their hands on material as a thief --- being as that we can't produce.

They can seek to control a finite supply for a finite time.

However man needs more than bread.
We consume bread and wisdom.
Hell is a place that highlights that problem of production.
And what makes a thief a thief.
People can utilize seeds and resources however they can't produce them from nothing.
Neither of bread or wisdom.

Wisdom is the spirit and a culmination of choices made between good and bad.
That's Adam and Eve having eaten the fruit of the tree of wisdom.
Then a separation upon multiple parts as we take faith to the grave in a finite existence where God begets souls.
From understanding, death because we are imperfect we can't save ourselves from sin.
Peace is the messiah that saves us from hypocrisy.
We are corrupt as a point of fact so that we exist through not knowing the totality of the answer.
We have love and masturbation as a general metric for life.
The only way to keep living is to have faith in God and in peace which is humility before truth.
For those who go about for their own gain and refuse peace they are left to God's mercy and their own devices which is taking God's resources and trying to make a gambit of it.
However they had to produce from the void yesterday as the day is futile and left to the mercy of God.
Masturbation is the philosophers stone.
An impossible union and vehement desire to be like God. A personal desire to dethrone the Lord out of pride.

Everyone born within the boundaries is constrained by them and the product of creation.

> are you telling me Ascorbic acid is the bad version of vitamin C?

100%, which is why it is ubiquitous in the food supply! Here's the deal. 'Vitamin C' is DEFINED as pharma's synthetic ascorbic acid as far as being able to buy it. Nature is more complex. I say 'whole food vitamin C complex.'

Morley says that ascorbic acid is like the shell of a vehicle with no tires, engine, etc... it is incomplete.

Copper has to be complexed in an enzyme called ceruloplasmin to be transported and activated. Holoceruloplasmin contains copper and apoceruloplasmin does not. I call it ceruloplasmin-bound copper for the sake of clarity.

Ascorbic acid strips copper from ceruloplasmin and deactivates it. AA also drives more toxic mining waste iron faster and deeper into the cell and the DNA. All the pharma synthetics added ubiquitously do this.

I'm likely older and injured sooner. Necessity is a great motivator. You will love Morley bc he's all about source documents and telling the truth.

He has his ideology, though, so keep your head on a swivel.

Everyone arrives at the same experience, but have different labels for it. Nirvana. Enlightenment. Pleroma. Everyone practices the same rituals, through different means. Affirmations, trances, meditation, prayer. Any person, family, or lineage with this awareness would understand how their minds operate differently than an unawakened individual. This is not about the concept of union and separation. Awareness exposes them to the illusion so they perceive themselves as another memory of the infinite.

CovFeFe == Covid is a disease of iron overload.

"The calm before the (cytokine) storm."

The Money Power loves to mock us. Fauci said there would be a pandemic in Trump's first term. These tools are also set up to be fall guys, too.

Serum ferritin exploded in the worst CovFeFe cases. Your doctor doesn't know this, but ferritin is made in the cell to sequester iron inside the cell. Ferritin in the serum means the ferritin dumped the reactive iron inside the cell and was then ejected into the serum where doctors measured it exploding in the worst CovFeFe patients. That acute dumping of reactive iron inside the cell drove the cytokine storms.

CovFeFe is an accurate name, but the 'unfit' won't be able to discern it.

The Money Power believe they were chosen by God to finance Biblical prophecy upon humanity in a Most Fit Bloodline scenario.

Read Daniel 2:43-44. They believe God has sanctioned them to deploy iron toxicity to wipe out an unfit humanity.

New Crown virus.

CovFeFe was just an acceleration of their prophetic iron degeneracide operation, IMHO.

Not a Masonic Muppet, but add these data points as you will.

1. 2019 saw the debt-money bubble beginning to topple as organic exponential debt growth was fading.

2. CovFeFe was perfectly timed synthetic debt-generation to stave off collapse.

3. Remember all the CEOs quitting in 2019? They were told something was up and given an option, IMHO.

4. Operation Daniel 2:43-44 was extended by attacking ferritin and releasing stored toxic iron.

5. The Money Power rigged the economics to wage global economic siege and wipe out lots of their smaller competition.

6. It ushered in the pretext to raise interest rates and drain society's access to debt-receipt money. More people will be stressed financially and asset stripped.

7. Depopulation.

8. Damage the youth in a permanent way.

The image shows a stone carving that appears to be a part of a larger structure, possibly a monument or a sculpture. The carving is triangular in shape with a pointed top, and it is set against a dark background, which makes the details of the carving stand out.

The carving features a series of geometric shapes and symbols. At the top, there is a circular design that resembles a sun or a celestial body. Below this, there are four smaller geometric shapes, possibly representing stars or planets. To the right of these, there is a larger, more complex shape that resembles a stylized human figure, possibly a deity or a mythological figure.

The carving is made of a light-colored stone, which contrasts with the dark background, making the details of the carving more prominent. The carving is detailed and appears to be well-crafted, suggesting that it may be of historical or cultural significance.

There is text on the carving, but it is not legible due to the resolution of the image. The text appears to be in a language that is not English, and it is not clear enough to determine the exact content of the text.

Overall, the image provides a detailed view of a stone carving, highlighting its geometric shapes and symbols, and suggesting that it may be part of a larger structure or monument. The style of the carving is reminiscent of ancient or classical art, and the use of light-colored stone suggests a historical or cultural context.

I am surprised you don't know the most basic reason numerology people consider 88 to be lucky, 88 = "fortune" is 福 (fú)

八

The Chinese character for 8 is 八 (bā). This character is frequently used in Mandarin Chinese and holds cultural significance, as it sounds similar to the word for "fortune" (发, fā).

The Chinese lucky cat would be 88888 so it'd be fortune Fortune Fortune. Theres probably deeper meaning but Chinese people believe 8 is lucky because it sounds like the word for fortune

If Jesus was an actual Capricorn he would've stayed as a hermit. The story we're given is Jesus as Aquarius, dispenser of kindness and mercy. Chesed/Jupiter. We're told Jesus will come back as basically Mars/Gevurah, he's really Tipharet or the Sun which means he will usurp every other zodiac/planet's role, one ring to rule them all type shit.

The reason Jesus is Jupiter is because most of his mythos was (((stolen))) from the Greco-Roman (and before that, Egyptian and Sumerian) belief that gods might dwell in flesh or stone in a holy city. Jerusalem/Zion, Camelot, Olympus, and many more. Before (((they))) got ahold of it this mythological figure's story was about establishing a world empire, it's why Hercules or Dan or Odin or Nimrod travels the world building cities and monuments and leaving his name everywhere, all things the Sun/son does on behalf of Jupiter. (((Someone))) took over and made it into a religion about Jupiter being sacrificed to a volcano god. I wonder who would do that? So while the story of Jesus has become a solar force, that anon is correct that the majority of what we reference in Jesus is Jupiter as the king or shepherd of mankind.

or is the material world "all there is"?

another way of asking this is: in what sense does the platonic world exist?

The image displays a digital display with a green background and black text. The display shows a sequence of numbers and letters, with the numbers ranging from 88 to 92 and the letters from "FM" to "AM." The numbers are aligned horizontally, and the letters are vertically aligned. The numbers are marked with a red line, indicating a specific value. The text "FM" is at the top, followed by "88" and then "90," and the text "AM" is at the bottom. The numbers and letters are spaced evenly apart, and the display is set against a black background. The image is a digital representation of a radio frequency display, commonly used in radio communication.

Yes, the fundamental issue of the constant combat in this universe is that materials are separate from eachother. If every material was one, there would be no one to fight. This would end up in a very neutral universe since it probably wont have a need to develop happiness and suffering

The physics of a maximum happiness utopia universe are most likely possible but are probably too strange for anyone who spent their entire life in a hellscape to imagine it

On the right, there is a section titled "Brigid Terenbium" with a description of her life and works. The text is in English and includes phrases such as "Brigid Terenbium," "Brigid Terenbium," "Brigid Terenbium," and "Brigid Terenbium." The text is in a smaller font size compared to the left section.

Both sections have a dark background and are bordered by a lighter color. The left section has a sidebar with a list of links, while the right section has a sidebar with a list of images. The images are not fully visible, but they appear to be of a person holding a book. The overall style of the image is digital and modern, with a focus on text and images.

The image displays a collection of handwritten mathematical expressions and symbols on a dark background with a pattern of small, irregularly shaped dots. The expressions and symbols are drawn in a variety of colors, including red, blue, and purple. The expressions include arithmetic operations such as addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division, as well as geometric shapes like squares, rectangles, and circles. The symbols include letters, numbers, and mathematical functions like the prime number 2, the prime number 4, and the prime number 26. The expressions and symbols are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with some overlapping each other. The style of the image is reminiscent of a sketch or a doodle, with the expressions and symbols appearing to be hand-drawn.

Why is ACTUAL belief in the paranormal so rare? The people who say they believe in the paranormal do not even really believe in it.

The second you REALLY believe in something paranormal, everybody looks at you like a schizo.

Almost everyone who "believes in the supernatural" either just believes in it for the aesthetic (like witches and satanists) or they believe in it because it's their "culture" (like religious people) but the second somebody actually believes in that shit, if someone actually believes a human can live to be 900 years old naturally like the Bible says, then suddenly you are now a schizo.

Even on /x/ there's nobody who actually believes in it. When I try to discuss the paranormal on /x/ everybody is just like "schizo, take ur meds!" This is the supernatural board and nobody on here even believes in the supernatural.

If you don't think it's possible for the laws of physics to be broken by man, then get off this board right now and don't come back.

It's honestly surreal to me how even the US government believes in the paranormal more than the average US citizen. Their brainwashing efforts must have worked wonders. The US Gov spent over a million dollars researching psychic powers (Operation Stargate) and they didn't even deny it was possible they just said that it was "not useful to the military." And the Pentagon released UFO videos that absolutely, undeniably violated the laws of physics and the gov even said it too, but everybody in the public just assumed it was a bird or a drone. A bird or a drone? The pilots claimed the UFO was larger than a jet, there's no bird that is larger than a jet. And the infrared radar or whatever 5 figure camera they were using detected the object moving faster than any human drone can move, against the wind too. It's clearly an alien. Stop being retarded. Lol.

The image is a map of the world, displaying a color-coded scale of GDP per capita in the last 20 years. The scale ranges from 0 to 1,000,000, with each color representing a different value. The colors are used to distinguish between different countries and regions.

The map is divided into several regions, each with a different color. The top left corner is colored in gray, and the rest of the map is colored in shades of green, red, and blue. The countries are labeled with their names, and the scale is marked at the bottom of the image.

The map shows a distribution of GDP per capita across the world, with some regions having higher values than others. For example, the top right corner of the map shows a concentration of red and blue colors, indicating a high GDP per capita value.

The image is a visual representation of economic data, providing a clear and concise way to compare the wealth of different countries and regions.

idk it's very obvious to me humans used to live a lot longer before the flood. Sumerian kings list, Egyptian kings list, even Chinese have some early emperors with long lives, the Bible as mentioned in OP, this is a thread I like to pull. Heard it theorized that if man just kept living and didn't age as fast, the brow ridge would gradually keep growing hence the archaic skulls find.

It is also obvious to me dragons are dinosaurs and dinosaurs are dragon and they used to exist (rarely) until recent times maybe even the same event that ended our prolonged lives.

Serpent just means dragon originally. It wasn't a snake in the garden it was a dinosaur tempting Eve.

So ok, some event happens, cosmic or divine, causes what we call younger dryas, we don't know exactly what happened but what if there was like our atmosphere some extra protection that suppressed aging and it was removed, so now we just age fast and can only get to 120 years.

I am coming to believe in extraterrestrials literally.

People get enculturated into Hinduism, Christianity, Islam and so on and believe these things literally. I have witnessed myself to some small degree the great variety of belief systems available to people in the UK, including some fairly deep thinkers who believe passionately in their own belief systems.

But the new Phenomenon is so extraordinary that very few people can believe in it literally, because they are not enculturated in it. They may claim to believe deeply and passionately, but it has taken me over a decade of deprogramming from materialist rational science and its attendant culture, something I have pursued with great fervour and effort, to even begin to make inroads into fully and genuinely live in a world where aliens are literally, actually coming to Earth in spaceships. It's an extraordinarily different belief system, one which is extremely hard to program oneself into, including with the use of the tools commonly available, such as floatation tanks, psychedelics and so on.

A half-arsed and metaphorical belief simply will not do for me. Whether it turns out to be the end of my experiment in belief systems or not, whether, that is, I become dogmatic and absolute or not, is still an open question. But you would have to be a lifelong, from-birth Scientologist or Raelian in order to accept it fully while still maintaining the ability to talk to intelligent, scientifically-minded people without sounding like you're trying to convince them of something which is impossible to conceive of given the advanced in science we have today.

OP, do what the US govt does and use this secret knowledge for your own benefit.

I am being serious, it's the best thing to do for now because these morons will never truly think for themselves.

Even before modernity, normies were only religious because everyone else was and it was one of the few explanations at the time and because they wanted a higher entity to save them rather than think for themselves.

The true free thinkers went into the occult and philosophy something which very few people actually did on average back then AND now.

The image is a painting that depicts a woman seated at a grand piano. She is dressed in a flowing white gown with a high neckline and a long train, suggesting a formal or classical style. The woman's back is turned to the viewer, and her hair is styled in an updo, adding to the elegance of her appearance. The room around her is dimly lit, with a warm, golden glow emanating from the piano, creating a sense of intimacy and focus on the woman and the piano. The painting style is realistic with a focus on the interplay of light and shadow, and the use of color to convey mood and atmosphere. The genre of the artwork is likely to be a genre painting, which is a style of painting that focuses on the depiction of a scene or subject in a realistic manner.

Most people believe to a certain extent in my experience anon, its just that they're belief lives in a place a cognitive dissidence because they are told by culture to reject the supernatural experiences most people WILL have throughout their lives and also frankly it scares them.

Believing in ghosts as an example (and thus believing in an after life) is a pretty terrifying proposition to most people and with it comes a whole host of implications most people dont want to think about.

So generally most people dont think about it, they just push this stuff to the back of their mind like their vague knowledge of the existence of nuclear bombs or climate change and try to live they're lives.

Most dont think people more interested in this stuff are any more "crazy" then people passionate about climate change; they just se you as obsessive and maybe a bit unbalanced.

Not delusional though; that's not the same thing.

Cleansing Edition!

>What is Semen Retention?

Semen retention is the practice of completely abstaining from masturbation and ejaculation, often with the intention of preserving and redirecting vital and sexual energy to oneself.

>Why do it?

Reported benefits include: increased vitality, mental clarity, reduced stress, increased motivation, increased energy, improved focus, healthier hair/skin/eyes, deeper meditation, improved AP/Lucid Dreams, deeper voice, improved mood, greatly improved testosterone, improved physical strength and many more.

>Wet Dreams?

They happen because you had a sexual dream and you coomed. Learn to be conscious on your dreams and stop the succubus.

>What causes wet dreams?

The causes are many: Illnesses, telepathic bad actors fucking with your dreams, excess energy build up, watching too much sexually-inducing stuff, lusting during the day, lack of an adequate transmutation activity, eating too late at night, excess nutrients overall, stimulants like maca, ginseng, ginger, excess protein, excess carbs, tight clothes (pajamas) for bedtime, bad sleeping posture (this varies, find the one that suits you best), going to bed with full bladder, exposure to hormonal disruptors via food (pesticides...) or body care products (soap, deodorant etc)...

>In case of urges:

- <https://imgur.com/a/nofap-anecdotal-evidence-g4eGH>
- Don't peek and Hold your breath for as long as you possibly can. The urge usually pass after that. If not, repeat.
- Horse stance or chair pose: Do it while clenching the abdomen and all legs' muscles, raise arms for extra blood flow redirection. Works both for killing erections or urges.
- Any physical activity.

On long clean streaks many report benefits that transcend current science like a sort of "magnetism" or higher "vibration/aura" that attracts/appeals to other living beings, a higher perception, a stronger and intimidating "aura/presence", a deeper connection with nature, an attractive BO (people usually report it as "pheromones") and more.

>Advices:

- Mental Purity 1.1: Semen Retention acts as a bio-electromagnetic amplifier. Watch the quality of your thoughts because your inner state will get amplified and manifested. Lust is the Ojas killer. Do not engage with Lust.

- Mental Purity 1.2: Keep a journal as a tool for introspection.
- NEVER watch porn of any kind.
- Remove triggers from your life. Masturbation is a bad habit. Break that bad habit.
- Focus on achieving a goal. An art, a craft, competing, etc.
- Meditate and/or Pray Daily. Try a minimum of 5 minutes to start off.
- Exercise/Gym/Sports/Martial Arts. If it is something social even better.
- Good habits like healthy eating, water fasting, dry fasting, sun exposure and cold showers do seem to speed up the process.
- Sublimation: literally using the energy.
- Transmutation: changing the quality of energy to something different. (Surya Namaskara, 8 brocades, Tibetan rites)
- Avoid stimulant drugs such as caffeine or adderall

UltraSemenCollector69 Fri 02 Jan 2026 07:08:35 No.41749137 Report

Keep in mind that the efferent nerves attached to your testes necessarily means that any lustful thought, image, or sound is necessarily a command to your junk to produce sexual fluids and this is the reason why celibacy is first and foremost of the mind

The root of this entire matter is the mind - without conquering the mind, celibacy is a futile effort

The signals from the brain happen on the subconscious autonomic level

This is why any lustful thought, image, or sound is necessarily a command to the sexual organs to produce sexual fluids (the more intently you look, the higher amplitude of a signal gets sent: body > afferent nerves > brain > efferent nerves > body)

Therefore "Conversion of sexual energy to something" is necessarily a HORRIBLY inefficient process (Not to confuse with Sexual Transmutation)

Fluids will be reabsorbed, but the energy and materials cost to make it vs how much is "taken back" via reabsorption is SEVERELY unbalanced and super net negative
Sexual fluids are made from the cream of the crop of the body's resources - constantly generating them means that you are constantly draining away the cream of the crop of your resources.

Taoist writings said that the sexual organs will even take primacy over nourishing your other internal organs at some point. (Thus, doing a spiritual practice as a coomer is a surefire way to die faster).

It's always good to remember why /x/ is the most accurate place for this topic: SR is one of the clearest paranormal inducing topics among all discussed on /x/. It's a sacred practice that has been the one of the main focuses in every major religion or spiritual practices. The mystical side of it is what we try to focus on.

SR can be also be seen as a political issue. The porn industry is a tool made by the Jews to deteriorate and corrupt societies. Porn works in ways that program new sets of behaviour in its audience and because of its strong addictive qualities they stay hooked. The most important goal for porn's male audience was and is the release of their semen. As we now know, the disadvantageous consequences of releasing are heavy: a man becomes less of a man, he gets sick and weak, his mind numbed, he will have impotence issues etc. Upto the point his spirit almost dies.

SR is beneficial to make one healthier and stronger, more fit, if you will. So the topic could be discussed on /fit/. Anyone looking for more ways to get fitness gains would benefit hugely from the SR.

Also SR has so many other benefits that it could be discussed in the /adv/ board. These would be topics how it improves one's social life, mental state, makes more time to be more productive etc.

The biggest benefits of SR are mystical in nature and the whole practice is fundamentally very close to the spiritual side of things. All the other topics in /x/ are left far behind and SR actually makes this board of any relevancy. This is also known by the enemy and they make strong efforts to suppress, hijack, twist to end this discussion. View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1696246575492223.jpg, 159KiB, 1024x999

This general is most frequented by the weak, the incels, the decrepit old fucks. These people have no chance at having soulful relationships with women, they are impotent, and they wish to spread their state of BROKENNESS to YOU.

Notice just how much bitching about women occurs here. For most of these people, they have no choice; No woman is approaching them in the first place. Their main barrier is porn, and masturbation. Why do they talk about women so much? Because they are resentful little incels. They use this place to cope, pretending they're above normal healthy relationships.

Pure celibacy is not a natural state for a young man. The male sexual power is monstrous, it is supposed to be used. You WILL continue on a cycle of retain/relapse forever. Celibacy, and renunciation wrecks the body. You are not a literal buddhist monk. You are a part of society, it's time to participate.

When you are a young man, you are SUPPOSED to go out and fuck women. No matter how much you tell yourself you're a "based retooener", you know in your heart if a woman approached you and was down to fuck, you'd do it. And that's fine! Do it. There's nothing worse, than wasting your youth with pathetic 4chan cope, then growing old and bitter about your lost spirit, and then becoming a demon that hates the youth.

OBVIOUSLY, it goes without saying, DO NOT WATCH PORN. It'd be far more honest if this general focused on the evils of porn. A bunch of 4chan degens, on a coom recovery thread. Do not be fooled by their LARPs of spiritual ascendance, they are wolves in sheeps clothing, too incel to fuck women, they masturbate to their sense of self righteousness all day.

Go out, fuck beautiful women with tight bodies, have loving relationships. Or rot away here, repressing your desire, only to relapse and become even more of a degenerate coomer. Choice is yours. You've been warned.

Your semen is meant for 1 thing only and that's procreation. There are several methods (among qiqong) listed above in the 2nd and 3rd post on how to transmute and allow your body to secrete properly.

>Should I also drop weed?

Yes, especially now that all the strains are being altered to have an improper balance (for example THC/CBD). Aside from that you can read over here <https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/32356125/> that it most likely affects the process. I've experimented on myself and noticed that wet dreams are more difficult to control/cancel on weed (I think I can assume you can imagine why). It also affects your hormones, which is something that fluctuates during SR. A bit incoherent advice maybe, but if you take this information and do a little research I'm sure you'll figure it out.

You will definitely make it.

Every contraceptive measure harms not only one's own health, happiness, and future but also causes much suffering for the offspring who may one day be born. Humans are, in every respect, a perfect and purposefully built organism. Every organ in their admirable body structure has its specific function, its precisely predetermined duty to fulfill. The lungs are for breathing, the heart for circulating blood, the stomach for absorbing food and drink, and so on. The function of an organ must in every way correspond to the task assigned to it. To demand from it an activity contrary to this is to abuse it and must lead to pathological changes. If we now transfer this unshakable principle from physiology to sexual life, we must demand that its organs, the male and female sexual organs, fully perform the function assigned to them. Normal coitus must be carried out exactly as the Creator intended. Any change, however clever and carefully considered, in the way sexual intercourse is conducted and performed is an abuse of natural instinct and must therefore lead to pathological changes. In short: sexual intercourse with contraceptives aiming to produce artificial infertility is harmful to health, regardless of which contraceptive method is used.

This does not say that onanism = non-reproductive sex. Sure, it says sex is le bed, typical of puritan christfaggotry that plagued those dimwits, but onanism is given far more attention because it fully recognises masturbation is very different to sex. You, a spergy incel, can try all your sperg tricks - the fact remains, sex is nothing like masturbation.

I would spend days, literally, jerking off to the point where I got abrasions but even so, I still kept going, high on meth and on a path of finding more novel and disturbing content.

The reason for my conviction is to be free and able to focus on my career. Before I've been too preoccupied, often wasting entire days jerking off for a quick hit, getting comfortable then depressed, after that regaining some confidence and some will. Only for it to disappear, leaving me craving that hit again, an endless cycle of degeneracy.

Found /SRG recently and it has been a fun and educational read, wish the best of luck to the rest of you.

This is why couples try to "spice things up" trying new things, because dopamine is all about novelty. It's a losing battle, however, which is why infidelity, porn use, etc. are the norm in marriages. Orgasms cause partners to irritate each other, initiate fights - it's the result of the dopamine and oxytocin falling, the hormones that are the foundation of your feelings of love. Couples who have more frequent orgasmic sex are more likely to break up than those who have less. After some years together nature intends for you to split and seek new partners to spread your genes - this is the evolutionary purpose of sexual habituation.

Anons in this thread should read "Cupid's Poisoned Arrow" which explains this in detail and the methods to avoid habituation, as well as methods to increase bonding with your partner.

>Just don't look at porn.

For me it's that simple.

I made the decision to catch myself and stop myself whenever I habitually started to open a porn site.

It was just part of my daily rotation :

I'm bored, let's watch YouTube

I'm bored, let's check the chats

I'm bored, let's browse the boards

I'm bored, let's browse some porn

It was a daily habit. I didn't jack off everytime I browsed porn sites. Most of the time there was nothing interesting there for me. I would browse, get bored and switch to some other site.

Once I consciously removed porn from my rotation of mindless browsing, I stopped getting horny.

And if you don't get horny, you don't get the urges, you don't jerk off!

SR became very easy after a few days of no porn.

Maybe once a week I'd catch myself habitually opening porn again.

Now it's very easy to stop when that happens

I can't even remember the last time I viewed a porn site. Maybe a month ago.

Turns out I almost never get horny without porn!

I hope this helps some anon out there.

Also my conclusion having done this sr thing on and off for a good 4 years now.

Porn is the root issue. Everything stems from porn. You have conditioned yourself to associate your horniness with viewing digital pixels of another man fucking the woman you desire. It's voyeuristic, and cucked.

I'd go a step further and say, there's really no point in watching porn daily and doing SR.

You're better off jerking to your imagination once a week, and not watching porn. This will probably cause some people to freak out but i sincerely believe this is true.

When you watch porn, your brain sends a signal to your balls to produce semen. You are accumulating aroused energy, and eventually that'll require release, and you'll almost certainly return to coomer mode.

Masturbation is obviously less than ideal. But when you masturbate by yourself, it is far more erotic, you're not cucking yourself here, and you're unconditioning yourself from porn.

Below the title, the author's name is written in smaller white letters. The cover art features a watercolor illustration of a young boy in a blue coat and hat, standing next to a pig. The pig is black and white and appears to be drinking water from a trough. The background of the illustration is a snowy landscape with a dark blue sky filled with stars. The boy is looking up at the pig, and the overall style of the illustration is whimsical and child-friendly. The cover also includes text indicating that the book is illustrated by Shelly Cunningham.

Just throwing this out here, but did anyone else have to give up anime for SRG to work? I swear most anime is just softcore porn even shows I never thought about. For example, I was re-watching Azumanga Daioh and even that show is pretty bad.

Thoughts? Or am I being a schizo like usual? Like fuck me, at this point it feels like the only thing I can do really do is just read. I still like anime and what not but I might have to switch to manga. Any thoughts anon?

Pornography enables instant gratification which warps the avid user's perception of intimacy. A truth I've had to stomach is that sex requires some modicum of trust, and you build that by the prerequisite of establishing a good connection. That's the tension that breeds incels or adjacent ideologies who can't get past their perceived entitlement to intimacy. Mating is no longer a matter of proximity and timing, social media has globalized the process, and decades of capitalist-fueled gender wars have created a hierarchical equilibrium between the genders, so no one feels like they need a partner anymore—hell no one seems to be able to afford one these days.

It's a matter of dopamine not desire. Desire when channeled properly can move mountains. What you should be aiming to do with semen retention is redirecting your urges into embodied actions without the need of a carrot being dangled in front of you.

The image is a composite of two separate images, both featuring a character with a muscular physique and a halo-like appearance. The character is depicted in a dynamic pose, with one arm raised and the other extended forward, as if in the midst of a powerful gesture. The character's face is obscured by a large, glowing halo, which is surrounded by a burst of light, suggesting a burst of energy or a revelation.

The left side of the image shows a series of six cartoon-style faces, each with a different expression, including one with a wide-open mouth and another with a shocked expression. These faces are arranged in a staggered pattern, with the first face on the left, the second on the right, and the remaining four faces in the center.

The right side of the image features a large, bold text that reads "The Trinity revealed it to me." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is colored in a dark shade, which contrasts with the lighter background of the image. The text is centered and occupies a significant portion of the right side of the image.

The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the character's dramatic pose and the text that suggests a revelation or revelation. The use of the word "The Trinity" and the phrase "revealed it to me" adds a layer of irony, as the character's expression and pose are reminiscent of religious or spiritual themes, while the text suggests a personal revelation or revelation.

I honestly don't think anime is the problem, but it's rather the type of story, which you can notice at first glance. Compare Fairy Tail to Dragon Ball Z for example. Both have this adventurous story with lots of action and comedy, but the difference when it comes to sexualization is immense. Let's say both of these anime aired when I was a little kid living with strict parents. I can watch Dragon Ball Z with my bedroom door wide open, but I'd fear for my life if it was Fairy Tail.

On the matter of your pic, I agree on the premise that MKU was successful, but I believe music is the key feature which made it so. By adjusting the people's frequency through music, you can align them with each other. Music affects our mental state in ways we often can't explain, until after the fact. This of course gets reduced by knowledge and awareness. Don't forget how music started. With music you can achieve 2 things: harmony or trance. You can probably guess which of the 2 they are aiming for.

Yup, even in long-term monogamous relationships too. Eventually sex with that same woman you 'love' will feel like masturbation, and at some point you'll just be imagining someone else. The difference is that you have another person validate you for being desirable. But once you move past the need for validation it's all the same shit. If you look up the etymology of the word matrix:

matrix(n.)

late 14c., matris, matrice, "uterus, womb," from Old French matrice "womb, uterus" and directly from Latin mātrix (genitive mātricis) "pregnant animal," in Late Latin "womb," also "source, origin," from māter (genitive mātris) "mother" (see mother (n.1)).

Very real. It's basically like an itch that you keep needing to scratch. And each time you scratch you're actually hurting yourself in small ways. It may feel very satisfying to scratch the itch but you don't realize that the itch was the problem because you were too preoccupied with scratching it.

>and to the people who talk about having sex and not orgasming, I can't do that, tried for years, just makes me insanely horny and uncomfortable and wanting more and more sex

Same, you think it's a loophole but it's really not. And if you do it often you're still gonna eventually nut at some point due to the pressure you build up

I don't give a shit lol

from a sensory standpoint obviously the sex with your partner is infinitely more pleasurable and overwhelming and fulfilling and comforting and all that I'm talking about in terms of over-all energy loss and spiritual progression, they both leave you in the same place spinning your wheels and maybe it's different between you and me, maybe you are meant for a life where you are tied to a partner and that's how you find your purpose and fulfilment in this incarnation

I'm sharing what I've found, from my experiences when I was younger I thought sex was some kind of holy grail and purpose of life, what I found was disappointing

but for you to say sex with partner is "nothing like" jerking off is also insincere, there are similarities in the arousal system, in the pleasure complex, in the completion and aftereffect of orgasm, even of the spasm of orgasm itself many similarities

the fact that you immediately are convinced that someone with a differing opinion has evil intent and ill-will with the goal to corrupt young minds leads me to believe you are prone to paranoia and have a high fear index

learn to trust life, love the process, allow things to unfold, let others have their experiences and do not fret and fear over every little thing, things will be better that way anyway, please do as you wish, if you're here to just avoid porn and jerking off but still wish to desire sex then go for it, not gonna tell you otherwise you might have feelings for a chick who is lying to you, who has std's, who decides to baby trap you, who accuses you of rape later, who cheats on you, who spreads lies about you etc.

just because you have feelings for a girl doesn't make her a saint bro

I've honestly had worse negative consequences from sex than I have from masturbating

I'm not saying it's always going to be negative, but can end in heart break, can have you second guessing yourself, have you in your head obsessed over them, spiralling out of control, no chance of peace and presence and finding your true self

I relapsed after 40 days. I did it so without porn. Even though it is a relapse, I take it as a win.

I couldn't handle 3 days in celibacy before, now I could do a "long" streak. I know I shouldn't have done it, but honestly I feel like I can see this as a win. I don't feel like I have to cum more, which is a very different feeling compared to relapses with porn, where you feel like nothing is enough.

ps: I think I relapsed because of all the half-naked women I am seeing every day at the beach, I don't know about that tantra and energy stuff, but I felt very dense and heavy energetically before I relapsed.

Do a daily visualisation-based practise like the one outlined here :

<https://archive.org/details/rosicrucianmanua00plum/page/44/mode/2up>

>At such times as sexual desire seems imperative, stand erect, muscles tense, place the hands palms down over the sex organs — partially or, better still, completely disrobed — and while doing so, concentrate on the thought: "I Will that this power ascend to higher regions — that it follow this path — I can feel it so doing," meanwhile drawing the hands up slowly on each side of the abdomen, following the natural curve of the body, until they stop over the nipples or mammary glands. Pause a moment until conscious of a distinct swelling of the breasts, a sensation of energy therein. Practice this on several occasions until the evidence of the upward surging of the vital powers is undoubted. Then, as a step farther, the next time it is practiced, bring the hands up to the throat, until it manifests in a distinct desire to speak with force and vigor. Third step — bring the hands completely up over the back and front brains, and you will become conscious of a power to create in the line of thought or mental process never before experienced. This practice is invaluable to the men or women who use their brains rather than their hands in the regular occupations of life.

Mindfulness also helps. Notice the erotic thoughts, notice how powerfully magnetised they are, but don't engage let them pass.

Also don't get too obsessed over trying to controlling yourself.

Thats were you're wrong kid. Onanism has always meant spilling your seed, unless you are going into the deeper analysis of the story. Which means anything that does not involve sowing into an at minimum theoretically fertile woman is onany.

For me personally, after 77 days of aonanic praxis (and no weakling nightly emissions) I set the bar at a woman I have reasonable hope will not kill the child, in her fertile days. But if I wasn't carrying such a high value load I would totally spread my seed also in women on the pill, or not in her fertile time of the month as the chance makes it within the law.

Higher T doesn't necessarily correlate with sex drive. Many men who take anabolic steroids often note that their sex drive takes a hit and many men on it lose that desire completely.

"Impact of anabolic androgenic steroids on sexual function"

Sexual desire rests on proper androgenic balance. There is a sweet spot, and if you surpass that sweet spot you'll start to lose interest in sex and relationships because you'll be seeking higher risk activities.

If you're expected to pay for worse and less sex than she already gave for free to who knows how many men (because almost none of them are chaste or waiting for the right guy) there's no reason to respect that or avoid porn in favor of it. If you're not getting any of the appropriate gratification that's necessary in a relationship despite waiting or doing the expected dance and you also REFUSE to acknowledge much less check women's blatant entitlement you are in no position to be bitching about porn or men's entitlement. If women can't be relied on for sex by their own admission, can't stop popping that pussy open for the wrong men and are very entitled themselves you have nothing good enough to argue against men's porn use or "instant gratification".

It's not all about T. For example, just because someone has a high libido doesn't necessarily mean you don't have low T levels. You see this with people getting their testosterone levels checked and surprised they have low levels even though their libido is at an all time high. This is because estrogen also increases libido due to increased histamine levels.

But as the other anon was saying:

>Maybe for a very insecure / co-dependent person, but normally sex loses its charm fast.

Testosterone is an interesting thing because it makes one lose interest in pair bonding to seek novelty. And in women it makes them less likely to seek sex with a partner and opt to masturbate instead:

"Testosterone is often cast as the manly hormone, the chemical bestower of virility and the reason for men's high sex drives. But new research turns this conventional wisdom on its head. In healthy men, it turns out, testosterone isn't linked to sexual desire at all. And in women, high testosterone is actually associated with less interest in sex with a partner.

Complicating the picture further, while high-testosterone women may be less interested in slipping between the sheets with a lover, high testosterone is linked to greater interest in masturbation in healthy women, according to research detailed online in May in the journal Archives of Sexual Behavior."

<https://www.livescience.com/21114-testosterone-sex-drive-masturbation.html>

Regardless tho, low T causes one to want to pair bond:

"Low testosterone is linked to pair bonding in men, with studies showing that married or committed men, especially fathers, often have lower T levels than single men, suggesting a hormonal shift supporting caregiving over mating effort"

<https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/abs/pii/S0149763418304391#:~:text=We%20confirm%20that%20pair%2Dbonded,that%20influence%20men's%20T%20concentrations.>

No all that's happening here is men get the (usually false) signal that's it's ok to relax. Testosterone is generally a tool to fight off the environments attacks. It's adapting for survival. You also have various things now lowering test much further than a relationship would do. If a challenge or threat to the peace showed up testosterone would likely spike. How testosterone is used is based on intelligence and the example set as a child which is also lacking for multiple reasons.

The reason for this is because men enable bad behaviors in women due to their insatiable need to be validated by them. So they can be deemed 'worthy' by someone they put on a pedestal. Porn contributes to this simping epidemic because the desire for sex is also an unconscious desire to connect. And while porn can alleviate one part of this, the desire to connect with another human remains unsatisfied, so that's why you get simps who spend hundreds and thousands to some e-thot on onlyfans just to talk to them. Basically these are just addicts who don't even know it.

And most men in the west are like this to an extent - they'll simp and give everything just for a crumb of pussy. Just pretend to be a woman on a dating app and you might even meet men who beg just to send you money.

The porn itself is just a symptom and not the cause, although it feeds that certain part of the man every time he indulges.

Men in relationships generally have lower testosterone. And I agree, the nurture, comfort and relaxation you get in a relationship is a killer of testosterone. Testosterone spikes when facing discomfort, such as going to the gym or overcoming something hard. You don't get that same challenge in relationships, and also hanging out with a woman all the time will soften you over time. That's a fact. It's very rare to meet a man in a relationship who wants to excel in his life when he's already got the strongest sedating drug in the world - love and affection. And not to mention, lower T men tend to want relationships while higher T men want more independence so whatever path one chooses they'll just keep feeding it with the actions they take dumb sluts over guys who want them to act better because self control is hard and better behavior is associated with heckin evil patriarchal oppression. They're just stupid. Porn isn't simping unless maybe you're paying for it or stuck on one bitch, you're literally just using them to get off while offering nothing. A lot of the porn doesn't even involve real 3d women who could appreciate the attention at least.

Sparging out over biological function is pointless. Yes, a myriad of factors affect libido. But that doesn't change a thing. If you are a healthy male, then you have a desire for sex. People who dont desire sex, are unhealthy and have some dysfunction going on. That IS the modern male crisis; plummeting sperm counts, less men having regular sex, less relationships etc etc

There's nothing novel about the sex-negative attitude on here. It's par for the course. It's what the elites have been programming into people.

Now it's one thing when a man has experience with women and decides its not for him. That's perfectly okay. But now we got a bunch of virgins pretending theyre better than other men because they've never had sex and "choose" not to - this is an insane level of dysfunction and far from healthy

Men have lower testosterone in relationships because they don't need to fight the same, but besides that the modern world openly hates masculinity and offers different poisons that lower test even more. The relationships themselves are twisted. Men in practice are forced and groomed as children at societal gunpoint to walk on eggshells around bitches and let them get away with all kinds of bad behavior because of supposed sins of the past or a minority of unhinged men or women's selective manipulative acknowledgment of physical inferiority. You have men getting on their knees to propose to a woman based on how literal knights showed respect to royalty. The general dynamic and world is twisted so high test men supposedly avoiding these more meaningful relationships in favor of hook ups only makes sense when what you can bond to is a warped ugly imitation of a woman.

Meaning it's dishonest to say higher test makes men avoid bonding or meaningful relationships when besides all the other factors the women are completely fucked up. Why would you choose bonding to someone who's been with various other men already and won't show you basic respect based on what's been made to seem normal at the time? You're more likely than not to be mistreated by these women if you settle down with one because they're groomed to be anti wives and generally unlikeable in the name of empowerment.

Build the island and the boats will come. The lion does not seek out a mate until it has conquered territory, slaughtered enemy males in its space. Expansion, conquer etc, is the primal instinct of men with great spirit

Sex with women is secondary, a happy byproduct that comes with mastery.

>I know what you mean, but transcending preprogrammed instincts is pretty based tho.

Yes, it's based once you're in your middle ages. But when you're young, you must expand, enact your will onto the world, do things. Only when you do things is there opportunity for growth.

Let's say, women are cunts that deserve none of our attention. A young man should not learn this from anon on 4chan. He should learn this in the real world. Heartbreak is the initiation process of becoming a man. It is necessary.

But yes, later on, you can focus on transcendence. When you are 40+ year of age, this is when your spiritual souls are born, the true higher instincts.

I should also mention; The impulse for Love is higher. It's only in upside down world do we think physical sex is the root of the impulse. No. The root of the sex impulse is Love, not primitive desire for orgasm. People mix this up, which is what leads to dysfunction

A lot of things can turn you into something else. I don't see the point worrying about being gay, meaning gay at all not exclusively liking men or trooning out, when you clearly have such bigger fish to fry with women and the damage they do to the soul ANYWAY. Do these guys who get broken up with for new dick or stuck in sexless marriages or relationships where they have to be super careful not to offend the women over anything seem like their souls are doing alright? Fuck no and it's clearly worse than whatever depression guys might experience from jerking their cocks in private.

Yeah. It's called having principles. You should try it.

> If this is a woman that you're trying to get in a meaningful relationship with how the fuck is her past or physical/mental attachments to other men NOT important to you unless you like sharing or getting less?

Are you a virgin?

>There's plenty behavior that's gotten much worse than in the past because of the selective government involvement redistributing men's money to women or canceling their authority in the family, social media/dating apps, drastically increased populations pushed into smaller areas, the legalization and promotion of abortion and mind altering birth control pills among other things. Acting like everything is just the same as always is dishonest and ignores the actual truth of the situation. I don't care if the truth bores. If your stupid ass is going to yap and lecture you need something of substance to back it up and you just completely failed to deliver that in favor of crying about a tiny minority of faggots you wouldn't even have to deal with unless you liked cock yourself. Your principles are twisted when the cock fucking some stranger whore on a screen matters much more to you than the cock that's been in the woman you're trying to be in a serious relationship with. I don't know why I even have to point out how much more important and personal it is for other cocks to be involved in your relationship. What does my possible virginity or being gay change about what I said? If I was diehard gay or a virgin it wouldn't change sex does involve bonding and it's an issue for future guys if she's still got feelings or expectations based on those past men. Ironically this is also a problem for gays. Their promiscuity is much worse but it doesn't exactly hurt them the same because their relationships are more superficial in general. They don't do monogamy or have kids the same if at all. Good job dismissing everything objectively much worse and different about women compared to the past. It's all made up ghosts because it hurts your midwit narrative.

You'd rather worry about possibly technically liking cock than worry about the implications of the mother of your kids still having attachments to other cock. The damage is magnitudes worse when a woman fucks a man over than when he feels icky after jerking his cock to some digital degeneracy. He's also got less freedom if she fucks him over because of the laws and possible children involved. The women and relationships are already openly degenerate or perverted but you're hung up over gay degeneracy specifically.

I can just exist and live my life without a layer of shame ever present. It's honestly one of the best parts of SR, that unnecessary aspect is just gone. [101 / 16]The image is a surrealistic painting with a vibrant red background. At the center, there is a large, stylized creature with a face that resembles a lion's head, with a long, flowing mane and sharp, glowing eyes. The creature's mouth is open, revealing sharp teeth. Above the creature, there are three spherical objects that emit a soft, glowing light, creating a sense of depth and luminosity. To the left of the creature, there is a smaller, more detailed figure that appears to be a humanoid figure with a face and a body, but it is blurred and not the main focus of the painting. The overall style of the painting is reminiscent of surrealism, characterized by dreamlike and fantastical elements.

The image shows a relief sculpture of a female figure, possibly a goddess or a mythological figure, standing on a pedestal. The figure is depicted with a winged headdress, a draped garment, and a necklace. The sculpture is made of a light-colored stone, possibly marble, and is set against a background that appears to be a wall with a textured surface.

The figure is surrounded by three smaller figures that resemble lions, each with a distinct facial expression. The lions are depicted in a stylized manner, with their bodies and heads carved from the same stone as the main figure. The lions are positioned around the pedestal, with one on the left, one on the right, and one in front of the main figure.

The overall style of the sculpture is ancient, with a classical influence, and it is likely of historical or cultural significance. The image does not contain any discernible text or additional context that would provide additional information about the subject or the location of the sculpture. The focus is solely on the relief sculpture and its surrounding elements.

The text is in a language that appears to be English, and it is formatted in a way that suggests it is a conversation or a written piece.

The text discusses the concept of anti-Christian sentiments and the reasons behind them. It mentions that anti-Christian sentiments are often rooted in a belief system that they believe in, and they are not interested in sharing details about what they believe. The text also touches on the concept of modern-day anti-Jewish sentiment and how it is often used to confuse Christianity with a similar sentiment.

The text is written in a conversational tone, with phrases like "They never give you details about what they believe and" and "They never give you details about what they believe and" indicating a discussion between two individuals. The text also includes a reference to a passage from the Bible, specifically from the book of Matthew, which is a significant part of Christian theology.

The text is dense with information, and the use of quotes and references to specific passages from the Bible suggests that the text is discussing religious or theological topics. The overall tone of the text is serious and critical, as it addresses the complexities and nuances of religious beliefs and their impact on society.

I don't think memory is a native part of the conscious experience. The conscious experience is existing in the present moment. "I AM" that's the core conscious experience. I think memory is a product of the brain, and once the brain dies the memory is gone. People assume it's one or the other, the ego, memorys, and conscious experience are eternal and part of the soul, or they assume it's all physical and a product of the brain. But it could be a combination. People can have damaged brains and have like goldfish memory, but still be concious and present in the current moment. And memory is weird, like you can just drink enough alcohol and not remember anything you did, while you were completely concious in that moment, so the physical world definitely affects it.

The image is a candid photograph capturing a playful moment between two individuals.

In the foreground, a person is dressed in a green and white costume resembling the character Teletubbies, complete with a purple headband and a white face. This character is holding a stick in one hand and appears to be in motion, as indicated by the splashing mud around them.

In the background, there are other individuals who seem to be engaged in a similar activity, as they are also splashing mud and appear to be in a similar state of play. The setting is outdoors, with a grassy area visible in the background. The overall atmosphere of the image suggests a fun and lighthearted event, possibly a themed party or a playful gathering. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image.

So where did Gnosticism come from?

Gnostics were probably the first heretical Christian group in history.

They showed up very shortly after the Book of Revelation, and their religion seems to be a lot more Hellenistic than mainstream Christianity is.

They basically said that Jesus' Father was actually "the Monad" (the real God) and the God of Moses was evil and Jesus actually came to warn us about the God of Moses and got killed for it. Gnosticism is pretty much a more extreme version of Christianity.

In normal Christianity, Jesus was still a Jew and He did not come to change the Law but to explain the Law to the Pharisees who misunderstood His original Laws. In Gnosticism He came to change the Law and to warn about mainstream Christianity being false.

And of course, the early Church quickly got rid of the Gnostics so we all lost most of their holy books too lol.

favorite disciple and not John. Lol.

>if all of this is the demiurge prison why shouldn't we just "escape" by suicide?

Because even if the demiurge prison is real, which it isn't, then you would be doing exactly what the demiurge wants, which you shouldn't. Either way, whether the demiurge is real or not, you have to not give in to despair. You have to overcome it and learn to go beyond it. You can't run away from this situation we're stuck in by killing yourself due to the despair or emptiness of life, it won't do you any good either physically, mentally, or spiritually. You can only look ahead and move forward with your life and take whatever challenge or obstacle that is in front of you head on and overcome it. If it's the demiurge, then that's exactly what you must do. Take it down, once and for all. And you can only do that by continuing to move forward in life and not give in to the despair and emptiness of your current conscious experience. Because those negative feelings are temporary, they won't last forever. As long as you don't give up, things will get better eventually. Good luck, Godspeed, and please take care anons. And don't forget to go outside and get some sunlight, it's good for mental health. Just don't sunburn. Peace out.

The image is a page from an old book or manuscript, featuring a complex illustration with a variety of elements. At the top, there is a large, stylized sun with rays radiating outward, surrounded by numerous small dots that could be interpreted as stars or celestial bodies. Below the sun, there is a cityscape with buildings and a river, suggesting a setting that could be a European city.

The illustration is divided into two sections. On the left, there is a detailed depiction of a city with buildings, a river, and a bridge. The buildings are rendered in a realistic style, with detailed architectural features such as windows, doors, and rooftops. The river is depicted with flowing water and a bridge that spans across it.

On the right side of the page, there is a more abstract and stylized depiction of a cityscape with a large, stylized sun at the center. The sun is surrounded by rays and dots, similar to the illustration on the left, but with a more dynamic and flowing quality. The cityscape on the right is rendered in a more modern, geometric style, with buildings that are more angular and geometric in design.

The text on the left side of the page is in Latin, and it appears to be a historical or scientific text, discussing celestial phenomena and the movement of celestial bodies.

The text is written in a script that is not entirely clear due to the resolution of the image.

The overall style of the image is reminiscent of medieval or Renaissance art, with a focus on natural and celestial themes. The use of color and shading adds depth and texture to the illustrations, enhancing the visual impact of the text and the cityscape.

The more I notice society and read experiences of those interacting with spirits in NDEs, drug trips, and other various means, the more I struggle to cope with existence.

It seems like it truly is "as above as so below" in regards to everything.

Everything is competitive (whether or not it's a spiritual or material matter, you must "COMPETE" to become to win the rat race on material earth, or suffer more than most to become spiritually advanced)

The hierarchical structure is freaky too. I don't understand why the eternal wouldn't be equal, harmonious, and most importantly devoid of competition and hierarchies? It doesn't matter in a non-linear scale if everything is truly whole and perfect.

I am not looking forward to the callous, superficial, and masochistically-inclined spiritual realm. There's no such thing as boredom in a dimension where instant manifestation and creation run supreme. Why live a repetitious day-to-day life where you spend all your time working if you don't have relationships with friends and family?

Sometimes you can't even go full nomad and escape from it all if you don't have anything. It's bullshit.

If our temporary individual consciousness can ripple into the higher realms, I hope empathy and understanding reigns supreme. It clearly seems like we're being controlled by "spiritually advanced" spirits that have likely never experienced human life.

Your physical body that's getting older and that gets sick is your prison in this dimension.

You have a whole lifetime to make your choice. Life or death. You choose death.

As soon as you squirted out of your Mommy's womb (Vesica Pieces) you started to die and get old. You were conceived in sin. While your mommy was getting a horny orgasm. The female is cursed with blood (every month) because she brings you into this physical prison (your temporal body that gets old, sick, and dies) You get to get temporary escape when you sleep and dream.

I have a black light bulb in a can fixture pointing up. I found out in summer bugs fly into it in their Nirvana (They navigate by light) they think they found heaven! Dump it out and hundreds of dead bugs found what you are after. We Christians are the bugs that take a step back and consider slowly crawling out of the lamp. eg.

You're the bug that burns out mystified by the light bulb that burns you up and don't even want to escape the trap. You think that the temporal prison body is all there is!

Enjoy yourself bug brain!

I agree. The body and brain are both a cup that consciousness flows into. Eventually science will figure-out exactly how memories are stored, how to access them, and how to alter and replace them. But they will never find-out where consciousness is located, since its the one part of us that's non-physical. Everything else is just temporary identity.

so i just discovered WEED makes your spirituality rise when taken right.

it enhances alcohol for some reason, ive noticed when i smoke weed it makes alcohol make you happier easier.

it basically resets your alcohol tolerance, i think it rewires your brain or your soul. Thats why alcohol was called fire water because it cleanses your soul and why so many alcoholics are addicted to it, it basically makes you feel like your karma is reset and gives you a second chance to start from scratch like a newborn.

I've had my vibrational level changed to pure fear. I'm not exaggerating; it was as if someone had pulled a slider to 100 and I experienced what can only be described as abject terror; felt like I hit a ceiling at one point, the max of what my body was capable of experiencing, and I became like a roach sprayed with poison. red pill me on crime stories & police cam footage channels like police activity, some of the most disturbing stories are released to the public, like the fake UPS delivery guys that executed a entire family, some of this stuff is very hard to stomach.

If you go to read the comment section in those disturbing videos its all people calling the perpetrators evil/Satan, comments would say this is pure "satanic" or something to that extent.

But for some reason my autism and empathy tries to rationalize both sides, the victims and the perps, And i also always am wondering why and what drove people to commit such fucked up crimes.

On the conspiracy side, people have told me on this board that back in the day there was a serial killer phase in society and it was all spooks that influenced and aided them like ted bundy.

/x/ & /pol/ always said that school shooters in the 90's and early 2000's was MK ultra too, what does /x/ think? Violence is crazy but we have to address what causes this, some of the worst shit is on youtube now, and i can't believe Youtube is allowing the public to watch this content, its horrible, they release 9-11 calls and even bodycam footages its all so sick

I don't think you're a bad person for being interested in why criminals do what they do and why they do it the way they do it. The whole field of criminology is people who have this interest and they're very helpful to society because of it.

As for the serial killer phase, there's a lot of factors to that one. I personally don't buy the whole "leaded gas was the primary cause" narrative that's popular right now but most of the reasons serial killing isn't as viable these days are spot on

>increasingly hard to do shit/get around shit without your phone. Tickets are often QR codes now, for example, so in addition to the cameras, a prospective killer would have to somehow go unnoticed using a paper QR. Or cover their tracks on a mobile device but come the FUCK on kek >three letter agencies are pretty fucking incredible with their profiling techniques to catch prospective serial killers much earlier in their "careers", which in turn prevents more experienced killers from taking shape

I think there are still a lot of serial killers out there. It's not all just mass shootings these days. The Epstein stuff proves it. You think a network of people that big wants to rape children at THAT scale and nobody is out there indulging their desire to kill a human being with impunity? Fucking doubt it.

Often violence is learned from being physically abused as a kid and many of the violent people you see have a deep fear of not being in control/getting punked its kind of a manlet mindset, theres other mindsets too but one of the main ones is wanting others to see you as intimidating so you will no longer be intimidated. Physical. abuse teaches doing things and accepting the consequences of being beat if anything happens.

The image is a digital graphic with a humorous and satirical tone, featuring a character resembling Pepe the Frog, a popular internet meme. Pepe is depicted in a cartoonish style, with a green body, large eyes, and a wide-open mouth. He is wearing a blue sweater, beige shorts, and brown shoes. The character is standing upright with one hand on his hip and the other holding an apple.

Below the character, there is a list of items that the character is wearing or has been seen wearing. The items are listed in a casual, informal manner, with the prices indicated in a casual font. The items include a blue sweater, beige shorts, Louis Vuitton cotton chino shorts, Gucci tighty whities, and extra elastic underwear. The prices are also listed, with the Gucci tighty whities costing $175, the Louis Vuitton cotton chino shorts costing $650, and the extra elastic underwear costing $175.

At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "Steal His Look," which is likely a play on the phrase "steal his style" and is used to suggest that the items are items that can be easily replicated or copied. The overall style of the image is lighthearted and humorous, with a focus on the absurdity of the character's outfit choices.

Not that anon but

One of the scariest actual "redpills" is that operant conditioning is baked into the hardware of all mammalian brains. There's no defense against it and there's no way to be too smart for it. Those are software issues. This is a hardware issue and you won't get around it that way. Same way you can't download more RAM kek

One useful way this works is that even simple conditioning exercises can be done on yourself with noticeable effect. You could literally just eat a piece of candy right after doing something you don't like to train yourself to deal with it better. If candy is something you consider a reward, that is, but again you probably do unless you have rotten teeth because it's another hardware issue, the sugar and all.

You can test out operant conditioning programs on people in your household too, as long as they don't catch wind that you're trying to do that. You won't find many specific instructions on that but you can just read into the operant conditioning for therapy dogs, apply not being a brainlet, and make the modifications for your own situation. I did this with my roommate and stopped for ethical reasons myself, which should really tell you something because I'm a faggot frog poster who usually doesn't care about anything.

This <https://youtu.be/V8d4oTMjsTI> bodycam video is probably the craziest shit ever in that regard. This instagram model gets "high" on "pink tussy", proceeds to kill people in Miami, strips naked and lays on the floor and as they proceed to cuff her she says "He's the one in the corner", then "go to my car. The phone, AI." "Oh my gosh, it's the curse at the white house." Proceeds to give a set of coordinates before the bodycam cuts off. Then, out of nowhere, this handler looking spook shows up and tells the cops he has to come observe as he is the "head of security" in the place she worked at. First thing he asks them: "Did they already take the girl in the white benz?" Barely anyone in the comments mentions any of it. She then continues on about a "crystal in New York". "The answer is in the Sun". "It's in the numerology". One of the last things she says: "The devil is real, help me."

Nobody found it strange that a random, typical, instagram model had that shit just come out of her mouth and the guy with the walkie-talkie just telling the cops that he knows her and has to observe... Crazy shit.

From 0 to 10 how much paranormality this place must have? Even though no record of supernatural events involving it or the island has been made (or released) yet, i refuse to believe this place is a nothingburger, i could bet money there must be spirits of rape-murdered children inside/near that thing. Not to mention the design is full of spiritual references like the blue and white stripes, the golden dome on top of it, and the patterns/symbols(?) In the ground surrounding it. Though i speculate the building is actually just an entrance to an underground space where the actual fucked up shit happened, there must still be an anomalous field in the surface. What do ya think?

It was just a disguised access to an underground complex, you could see on drone footage that the "hill" it sat on was actually a dome made of modular concrete blocks (with some of the steel anchoring used to put them into place still visible at some place) and closer drone footage that shown a bit of the interior hinted at the presence of a wooden circular staircase which was way too oversized for a building of this size. The design itself is based on the tomb of some pedophilic Imam from north africa that I cant remember the name of, probably as an homage to the guy by Epstein.

islands can have underground buildings below sea level, but these structures are not floating or disconnected from the Earth's crust; they are built into the landmass, which extends beneath the sea floor. Islands are essentially underwater mountains with their peaks above water, and the land continues downward into the ocean floor, meaning that areas below sea level on an island are still part of the solid Earth. For example, the Faroe Islands have constructed undersea tunnels that extend more than 190 meters below sea level, with infrastructure such as pump rooms and safety systems located deep within the rock. These tunnels are built using the drill and blast method, and their stability relies on being anchored to the Earth's crust, not floating.

They can even build buildings underwater that are air tight so of course they could build under the sea level on islands

It is possible to make bases under sea level in the bedrock layer, in fact it's great for building underground spaces. But that little cube is in the highest altitude of the Island, so the hypothetical underground space could be at C-horizon layer, which is good for excavation (as far as my research goes) or it could indeed be at bedrock level or below and Epstein wanted to make more distance between the surface and the demonic dungeon.

There's sacrifice ritual happened involving young girls. While possibly under drugs influence, their heart were removed then presented to a statue.

Sex slave girls, after being used they're killed then thrown into the sea with weights on their body.

They did outdoor ritual as well on full moon night.

The image is a digital illustration with a surrealistic style, featuring a large, domed structure with a series of arches and windows. The structure has a dark, textured appearance, and the walls are made of a material that appears to be stone or concrete. The dome is topped with a pointed roof, and there is a small, circular structure with a pointed top at the center of the dome.

Overlaying the image is a text that reads, "I had to grind for this view 100." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is colored in red. The style of the image suggests it may be a meme or a satirical comment, given the text and the surrealistic elements. The overall tone of the image is humorous and ironic, as it humorously references the act of grinding (a labor-intensive process) and the view (a perspective or viewpoint) in a context that is not directly related to either.

The image is a digital illustration with a dark, textured background that appears to be a painting or a digital artwork. In the center of the image, there is a man with a beard and long hair, wearing a dark shirt. He has a serious expression on his face, with his mouth slightly open. The man's eyes are closed, and his eyebrows are raised. He has a slight smile on his lips.

Overlaying the image are several lines of text in a bold, orange font. The text is arranged in a vertical format, with the first line reading "5 - It's an expression of pain." The second line reads "1. - But this is intolerably bad." The third line states "6 - Help me..." and the fourth line reads "3. - I don't want to be any more. It hurts." The last line states "3. - I'm an artist and liver damage is my art."

The style of the image is realistic with a focus on the man's facial expression and the text overlaying the image. The colors used are dark, with the man's shirt and the background being the most prominent, while the text is in a contrasting orange hue. The overall mood of the image is somber and introspective.

The image is a photograph of a receipt from a restaurant, specifically a sandwich shop, with a red square in the center that appears to be a placeholder for a discount code. The receipt is printed on a white background and is in a portrait orientation. At the top of the receipt, there is a red square with the number "911" in black text, which is likely a promotional code. Below the red square, there is a black text box with the words "PROMO" in white text, followed by a series of numbers and letters that are not fully legible due to the resolution of the image.

The receipt includes a section for the customer's name, "Hi, The", and a date, "12/30/2020". Below the customer's name, there is a section for the order number, "911", and a date, "09/22/20". The payment section includes the amount "PAID" and the total amount, "0.00". There is also a section for the "Take-Out" total, "0.00", and a section for the "Change" total, "0.00". The "Total" section shows a "0.00" balance, and the "Querance écouter tu votre opinion" section has a "0" value. The bottom of the receipt includes a section for the "Disponibilité" section, which is not fully visible in the image.

The style of the image is a straightforward photograph with a focus on the receipt, and the background is plain and does not distract from the main subject. The image is clear and well-lit, allowing for easy reading of the text.

title, there is a list of numbers in a smaller font, indicating the currency values in the image. The numbers are "1865", "1074", "179", "5895", "911", "936", "156", "5232", "1999 Decode Cipher — Meaning For Fairy World Bullshit In Gematrix", and "1999 New World". At the bottom of the image, there is a subtitle in a smaller font that reads "Fairy World Bullshit In Gematrix Is 1999 Decode Cipher — Meaning For Fairy World Bullshit In Gematrix". The image appears to be a digital representation of a text-based document or a webpage, possibly related to a topic or concept related to the "Fairy World" or "Gematrix" as indicated by the text.

scheme. At the top, there is a star-shaped logo with the text "DIVINATION GENERAL" in white, which is partially obscured by the blurred background. The background itself is a dark red color, creating a sense of depth and intensity.

In the center of the image, there is a blurred, distorted face with wide-open mouth, appearing to shout or scream. The face is rendered in a dark red color, which contrasts with the lighter background. The eyes are visible, but the rest of the face is blurred, adding to the dramatic effect.

The overall style of the image is intense and somewhat chaotic, with the use of bold colors and the blurring of the face creating a sense of movement and energy. The text "DIVINATION GENERAL" is the only legible text in the image, and it is positioned at the bottom, likely indicating the name of the band or artist associated with the image.

>Useful tips before posting:

•If you're a reader, post that you're offering readings and what information is required from the querent; the same goes for trading.

•Look for posts to determine if there's an active reader, what's needed and before posting, check if they finished reading already.

•Some readers will refuse to do certain readings - respect that choice. Do not harass readers if your query is refused/skipped. We do our best to maintain chill and good vibes.

•Traders should respect that a traded read will be granted, as per an agreement of trade. Free readers have the option of picking their queries.

•Bullshit queries get bullshit answers. Vague queries get vague answers.

•Making an AQ (air query) by not addressing a reader, in particular, is possible but doesn't guarantee an answer.

•Avoid making the same query repeatedly and/or to different readers in a short period of time, as this may lead to more confusion.

•Provide feedback when applicable and be considerate to the reader. We're a growing community, many readers are starting and need to know what they are doing right or wrong. Let's help each other to improve.

Because a part of you still hasn't let go of that yet, you wish you could have closure or have received an answer but you are still stuck on that, even if its on a subconscious level. Your spirit feels the need to "receive" whatever you gave them, like this person only took from you but never reciprocated whatever it is you offered them, could of been time, details or messages or feelings. You are unhappy about the situation although you are single, perhaps there is some sexual frustration here or you're unhappy about being single and that this woman blocked you. You wish they would return the favor but it isn't going to happen. You just need to get over them, its just your brain coming back with shit you miss.

At the bottom of the poster, there is text in Japanese that reads "2049" and "blade runner," indicating the title of the film and the year it was released. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font that stands out against the dark background. The overall style of the poster is reminiscent of the graphic novel art style commonly used in the "Blade Runner" franchise.

Honestly this feeling like your next gf is an ex that you make a sacrifice to apologise to in order to reconnect. You two have similar personalities, lots in common and you may feel this person matched you so well but you did something to fuck it up and can't seem to be able to let her be the "one that got away". This is someone you had intense sexual chemistry with. You may not have been "man enough" or "ready" when in the relationship with her and that's why things went sour, perhaps you were afraid to step up to the plate or that she was too good for you. Justice and hanged man say take that risk and make that apology, this person completed you and you know it. Make up sex will be great too.

For this, I drew:

>Ten of Swords

The foxes are seeing that you're capable to succeed in your circumstances, however be wary of being too content or proud of your current strides or future accomplishments.

There is a deep worry and concern which exists as well, either by them for you or within you that may need to be addressed.

An alternative approach is that the Page of Wands represents the fox spirits themselves as opposed to how they view you.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring three statues of Buddha. The statues are positioned in a line, with the first one on the left being the closest to the viewer, the second in the middle, and the third on the right. Each statue is depicted in a seated position with their hands raised, palms facing upwards, and their heads turned to the side. The statues are made of a dark material, possibly bronze or a similar metal, and they have a smooth, polished finish.

The background of the image is foggy, creating a misty atmosphere. The fog obscures the details of the statues and the surrounding environment, adding a sense of mystery to the scene. The overall style of the image is dramatic and atmospheric, with the fog enhancing the ethereal quality of the statues. There are no discernible texts or additional objects in the image. The photograph is taken from a low angle, looking up at the statues, which gives the impression of the statues towering over the viewer.

The image is a tarot card featuring a woman in the center, who appears to be a figure of strength. She is depicted with a large, expressive face, dark hair, and a red dress. The woman is surrounded by various elements that suggest a sense of power and protection. To her left, there is a lion with a large, curved mane, and to her right, there is a small, yellow cat. Above the woman, there is a large, bright yellow sun, and to the left of the sun, there are three birds in flight. The background of the card is a gradient of warm colors, transitioning from orange at the top to a deep red at the bottom. At the bottom of the card, the word "Strength" is written in bold, black letters. The style of the image is reminiscent of pop art, with vibrant colors and bold lines.

>What do I need to know about my upcoming school semester?

Ace of Swords

Two of Cups

Eight of Swords R

Well, this is an expected answer.

There is nothing in particular that can be solved without sheer wit with repetitive action/force and power of friendship (it is very important to have friends in school, it is easy to learn about teachers learn about homeworks if nothing else) and not backing up when there is an obstacle and getting into problem solving right away(which is what are schools for :D)

So don't worry, it will be just like a regular semester without any odd thing you wouldn't expect.

>And what practical + occult steps can I take to make it better?

Hanged Man

Do you really need occult? Yeap, at least for your own mental clarity, at least to make yourself believe in yourself.

(So maybe focus those steps, rituals towards yourself instead of towards world)

And you really don't need to do anything else!
Like I said, you have a quite normal and probably very successful semester waiting for you.

If you work hard and find like minded people, and not back away when faced with problems, all will be fine!

I'm not sure if I grasped your query and if doesn't make sense I can try again.

I will just think that both of you are single and not being unfaithful to someone else. Therefore this match would, down the road, mean that you would need to go against yourself and your principles to make things work(could also apply to the other part). After a second thought, one of you decided that it was not worth the hassle nor the hardship this situation could bring this putting an end to the connection right there.

However,if that's not the case, then one of you were trying to cheat and got stopped before that could happen.

Perhaps things happened in the heat of the moment but it burned too fast.

Right off the bat I'd say G is your best bet because of the the stars in upright position. "A" might be worst bet because of the empress rx, but 2 of chalices (cups) signifies that there's mutual attraction. Looks like she'd take you but it'd be toxic.

Z with temperance rx and knight of wands would be a passionate relationship but a crazy one. Like you're mad for her but she's literally insane.

Go with G here. You have the new beginnings card and the stars. The world is your oysterrr.

Other girl: 5 of pentacles

Seems the removal was more about rules, balance, or procedure than personal ill will. Someone appears to have chosen distance or moving on emotionally, not attacking, avoidance or indecision where things are left unresolved rather than intentionally harmful. Overall, this leans toward an automatic or conflicted decision, not malice.

It seems like you're dealing with kind of a volatile situation. Whatever feelings are being expressed toward you or felt within, you have to be very strategic and careful about how you move. After you get past that, things will begin to change, and the ground will be fresh for the energy you're waiting for.

There's deep guilt and grief felt here - did this person miss an opportunity with you?

Treat you indifferently? ID feels an opportunity with you was lost, something that could have been a beautiful new beginning. They don't know what to do now, feel as if there's nothing they can do- just a stuck and tired energy. Grief.

It's okay for things not to make logical sense. Let things play out how they are meant to and don't think too much about it. Once you can give into your whimsical sort of needs things will get better. Take things one step at a time and leave the situation that doesn't serve you. You will be able to make better profit once you leave that situation and start taking steps in the new direction that seems scary and "unsafe" so to speak.

There may be a childhood friend who will come back into your life and bring back some of that fun whimsy into your life while also giving you an idea on how to solve something.

King cups, ace cups, star - clarified with oracle the Opossum & Peony

You are someone with great emotional understanding. Your side hustle remains in the emotional, and also your spiritual knowing with the Star. I do believe divination is involved here, as you may become a sort of spiritual counselor to others. Your greatest challenge in accomplishing this currently is your willingness to play dead; that being, you have this paralysis about starting a side hustle and are doubting yourself instead of taking the leap. Be sure to be careful you are not the one creating stagnation for yourself. How do you instinctually respond to fear, and what can you do to smooth this over in your process? It feels art is also an avenue here for you, you could even sell flowers / do florals as a side gig as well.

8 of wands, death rx, king of swords someone that comes quickly in your life and offers a lot of stimulation and mental/intellectual stimulation, a lawyer type, might be aloof and detached, this guy is like a sexy vampire, but since vampires don't die, they don't really change, and he might be hung up on some things, especially emotionally...which might cause stagnation in the relation, or this is guy with undying love/devotion, where the non-change could be a good thing I suppose but, not a lot of cup cards here.

They might not get along very well with you but you need to speak up and defend yourself. I think your problem is that you don't know how to fight!! Good luck.

The image depicts a misty, foggy landscape with a focus on a tree with twisted branches. The tree is partially obscured by the mist, creating a sense of mystery and depth. The branches of the tree are dark and twisted, with some branches extending outward in a manner that suggests they have been affected by the mist. The mist itself is a soft, diffuse light that covers the entire scene, giving it a dreamy quality. The color palette is dominated by shades of blue and green, with the mist and the tree branches contributing to a muted, atmospheric tone. The image is taken from a low angle, looking up at the tree, which adds to the sense of the tree's towering presence. There are no discernible texts or countable objects in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on capturing the natural beauty of the scene.

But oh how the rewards are great! If you can practice patience and are willing to work through things- there is a fulfilling and happy union between you two. If this is a romantic prospect, expect marriage and children as well as financial success. Ten of Disks:

Root of the Powers of Fire

Ni has been suddenly motivated (Fire) to start something (Ace); to create some situation involving you. There is an outlook and a plan behind this which may not be visible to you right now, but that Ni sees as an opportunity for them. From your perspective, it may be something good, or it may be something bad. Try to ascertain what they want and how it might involve you (especially relevant in a work relationship). Devil rx, King cups, queen swords sideways with the 9 wands standing on it, 9 pents

The advice here is to stop letting your fears rule you and hold you back. You pathologise everything and overthink instead of feeling. You need to get re attuned with what you FEEL and letting yourself feel instead of numbing yourself by filtering it through "logic" and even making fun of the situation. You exhaust yourself. There's something to be said here about sitting in toxic feminine energy when you need to get into a positive masculine energy. What is holding you back from tapping into that divine masculine? It's time to do some deconstructing of masculinity and having a conversation as to what's holding you back from growing into that, and holding you back in this toxic feminine. Looks to be old patterns learned from survival and social accumulation. You will get the 9 of pents you so desire. Take care of this first.

>how do i stop worrying about myself ? even though i'm trying my best to be my best self.

Dear old worrywart Virgo. You mention your best self (Sun). This is where you should be focusing. Mercury (reason) is the master of both Virgo and Hod. Surely you have reasoned that your mind (Mercury) is unnecessarily fretting (Virgo) over the ultimately irrelevant details (Virgo again) of life. Focus on the big picture--the aspirational, the ideal (Sun). You're probably not dying, failing, or letting anyone else down, but you're definitely missing the big target.

Query?

What are my listeners thinking or saying about my old habits when I was younger that I shared on the air?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 11.png, 234KiB, 280x412

The image is a tarot card featuring a central illustration of a lion-like figure with a humanoid form, holding a staff with a red orb at the end. The figure is depicted in a dynamic pose, with one arm raised and the other extended forward, as if in motion. The lion's mane is depicted in a flowing, golden-yellow color, and it has a fierce expression with its eyes closed and mouth open, suggesting a sense of power or command. The background of the card is a deep purple, with a pattern of swirling lines and dots that give the impression of a cosmic or mystical environment. The figure is set against this backdrop, which is framed by a white border with a decorative pattern at the top and bottom.

At the bottom of the card, the word "Lust" is written in a stylized, cursive font, and below it, the word "TRIPS" is written in a smaller, bold font. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of the Art Nouveau movement, characterized by its use of flowing lines and a sense of movement. The color palette is dominated by warm tones, with the golden hues of the lion and the red of the orb creating a contrast with the deep purple background.

>what do I need to know currently in my life in terms of love?

Sometimes our more base, sexual appetites can get twisted and intertwined (v, serpent) with our loftier, more noble ideals (Leo). It's important to overcome the temptation (v) of what you "want" in the moment, and to aspire to your true Will (Leo), which you have stated is "Love." Got it?

kek some might cast judgement that youre dramatizing/romanticizing ur struggle or u struggled for a bit too long, that another would already be over it by now, and it seems like it is not longer an overwhelming burden to you though you might still have some of that burden with you.. some might see you as a magician in a good or bad way, someone very resourceful and manipulative that has all the tools they need to manipulate reality or narratives and they find that very interesting and very magical but some might think you might be just manipulative about what you're saying too... they might question if what you did was good or fair, but others might see you as an exemplar of that and being honest and evolving as a person and the cause and effect in your life is educational for them, some might think you're cool and honest and authentic and you got the wow factor that can change things in his life and so on BUT, with 6 of swords rx, you might be too stuck on past issues/topics/thoughts....it becomes a lil sus...

K isn't doing too well, mentally at least. They might be overthinking a scenario and may be afraid of doing things that progress their lives in a good way or maybe afraid of doing a thing that will help alleviate the feelings they get when dealing with their current issues. Again, I think their problem is mostly mental, they have a lot on their plate and they might not think they can work with it or they're pushing themselves too hard.

Prepare to have your mind blown. This stranger isn't who they present themselves to be and is definitely holding back some important information (Scorpio). But that doesn't mean they're necessarily sinister. This meeting will resurrect (j) some unresolved threads that you may have forgotten about in your own life. You are seeing if its time to move and are planning accordingly. You have a chance now to move out yet you feel like where you are staying is a draining place for you where your family or roommates tske from you, time and effort to deal with. If you move out you will have to fight to survive and this will mean fighting for your life. Keep in mind how the economy is now and the chances of you finding a job. I cannot tell you what to do as you are supposed to think and come up with your own decision. Surely you can see which way you should go if you keep in mind the state of the world.

The image is a cover of a book titled "Pounded by the Physical Manifestation of the Weird Dull Sadness that Happens after the Holidays End and January Rolls Around."

The author's name, Chuck Tingle, is displayed at the bottom of the cover. The cover features a photograph of a muscular man with a beard and mustache, standing in a room with a wooden floor and a yellow wall. The man is shirtless and has his hands clasped together in front of him. The background is blurred, with a white smoke or cloud-like substance rising from the man's chest. The style of the image is a blend of realism and fantasy, with a focus on the man's physique and the surreal elements of the background.

Never did anything inappropriate with the friend, though at times it seems she wanted to. She used to fake being emotionally unstable at times for my attention.

My partner is very pushy and rude but I love her a lot. She doesn't want kids though, and our sex life is nonexistent despite her groping me all the time.

Am I making the right choices here? My gf DOES make me happy even without the sex.

It sounds like there was more chemistry between you and your friend

Red flag, faking mental illness is a mental illness in itself. Best case scenario its manipulation

>My partner is very pushy and rude but I love her a lot. She doesn't want kids though, and our sex life is nonexistent despite her groping me all the time.

Why are you even with her? So youre just never going to have sex again? Sex is also a negotiation/manipulation tactic that is very toxic

>Am I making the right choices here? My gf DOES make me happy even without the sex.

No you are not. Sex is an aspect of a lasting relationship and if she withholds it from you, shes withholding a part of herself and the relationship will always be unhealthy

>Are these women using me for my house and money?

100% without a doubt yes.

>I dunno, I am confused and don't trust anybody right now.

The only person you can truly trust is yourself in this situation. What you should do is kick them both out and look for someone who wont use you for your money and shelter

About:

>What is this place?

Divination General, also known as /div/, is a recurring thread for the practice and discussion of divination.

>Divination? What's that?

"The practice of seeking knowledge of the future or the unknown by supernatural means." There are countless methods for achieving this, many of which are discussed in ScryGuy's divination guide:

<http://pastebin.com/0q3jAE9z>

>What, so you can all tell the future?

Sometimes yes, sometimes no. This is a discussion topic all its own, but most of us are of the opinion that you can still change your fate through action. To put this very simply, a future reading gives you an idea of where you're currently headed based on current trends in your life. At any time, you could throw a monkey wrench in this, though. If, for example, you get an accurate reading showing a positive direction in your relationship, and you suddenly decide to cheat...well, you changed your fate, and a subsequent accurate reading would likely come out different.

>Why do we have these threads?

Well, it's to prevent the trend we've traditionally had on /x/ where there are 10 dead tarot threads in the catalog because anons kept posting in dead threads. Also, the presence of many diviners in one place promotes better readings from all of us due to the synergy of a shared task.

Some Terms:

Diviner: someone who practices divination

Reader: the person(s) doing the readings

Querent: the person(s) asking for a reading

Query: the post where you ask for a reading

Air-query: a query that is not directed towards a specific reader

Rules:

1. Be good to each other.

As simple as this may seem, it is truly the most important rule of all. Some lurk these threads out of interest in divination, but many come here looking for readings. Think about how you feel when you can't figure something out by mundane means and feel desperate for a reading. A lot of others feel the same way as you do. Before you let off a bit of steam on someone else in the thread, consider that you're both in the same boat. Be good to each other.

2. Promote a positive atmosphere and keep whining to a minimum.

We get it, you're in a rough spot and you really feel the need for some guidance, but it doesn't help to whine about your inability to get a reading on your own timeline. This sort of behavior is actually detrimental and self-defeating, as it harshes the vibe of the thread and actually scares readers away. Diviners are intuitive individuals and often somewhat empathic as well. If you were inclined to offer some guidance at the end of a rough day, but you find that the place has a really negative vibe, would you bother to give your time in such a situation? If you have an idea for improving the thread, voice it, by all means. Simply saying "these threads suck nowadays" is unproductive and detrimental. Promote a positive atmosphere.

3. Ignore and/or report shitposters and trolls.

This is 4chan; there will always be shitposters and trolls. Just report them and move on. A janitor will come and delete their posts eventually.

>Or, you know, you could always curse the shitposters and trolls, but that's on you.

4. Read carefully before you post. (ie, lurk moar)

For Querents:

-Dishonest queries get dishonest readings

If you bullshit the reader, you'll likely get a bullshit reading. Simple, right?

>How do I get a reading?

Lurk the thread. When a reader announces that they are doing readings, query the reader according to his or her guidelines. If a reader is telling you that he or she will do x amount of readings and requires a given set of information, provide the requested information if you would like a reading, and try to link the reader's announcement post to make sure you're noticed. You should preferably try to see if said reader is still doing readings before querying; it only takes you an extra 30 seconds or so.

>What if nobody is doing readings right now?

Well, you're unlikely to have your query answered if you post it. Just posting in the thread without querying a reader directly is what I like to call “air-querying,” as you are querying the wind. Some readers actually like taking these, but most do not; most readers only take private queues. If you air-query, it's a crapshoot, and you shouldn't count on getting a reading.

> What should I do to make sure I get the most out of a reading?

Lurk a bit and learn about the different readers. There are different levels of skill and experience represented in these threads, and some readers will be able to connect with and advise you better than others. I've gotten brilliant readings from both novice and experienced readers; not everyone is the same. When you want a reading from a specific reader, follow their guidelines as best you can, and make sure to phrase your query well.

>Everyone wants different info, WTF!?!

Yes, all readers are individuals, and we all connect differently. In our time doing readings, we've all discovered what works best for us (or some are still working on discovering that), so we will tell you what we need in order to connect to you. We are not being nitpicky divas; we are simply telling you what we need in order to read well for you. Why would we bother reading for you if we can't actually help you?

>Why won't [reader] read my query?

Well, there are a variety of possible reasons. If you, for example, phrased your query poorly, you shouldn't be surprised that it doesn't get answered. If you ask for a reading that said reader won't read, then you shouldn't ask said reader that query. Some readers won't read generals, some readers won't read love, and some readers won't read death, etc. Respect their wishes, and query something that they'll answer, or query someone else.

>I posted every @$%&! day, but I haven't gotten a reading!!!

Are you air-querying? That's a crapshoot; sometimes you get read, sometimes you don't. Sometimes you query a reader directly, and they already have a full queue. Well, there's always an element of luck involved; sorry, that's how it goes.

>I GOT SKIPPED!!!

Maybe you did, maybe you didn't. Let's tackle the obvious first: if you're air-querying or too late in a queue, you didn't get skipped, it just didn't work out for you. If you are in an individual reader's queue, and you still got skipped, let's examine this:

> Did you follow the reader's guidelines?

> Did you link the reader's post?

> Did you get there in time?

If you have answered yes to all of these, then AND ONLY THEN do you have cause to grieve. Well, I can only suggest you consider how you phrased your query. If you did the best you could, well...sorry, friend, sometimes the fates won't lend themselves too well to you. Shit happens, basically.

>That reading was inaccurate!

That happens sometimes. As previously mentioned, there are different levels of skill and experience represented in these threads. Some readers have years of experience, and some are barely doing their first readings or otherwise practicing. We welcome everyone here, so you might be read by an inexperienced reader sometimes. Not every reader will give you perfectly accurate readings, and some can connect better to you than others. We're all individuals here, remember.

>That reading made me sad / shit sucks / fuck my life

Sometimes you're on a bad path. If you get a negative reading, try to take it as a warning, a sign of how things are currently going. The future is always in flux, and you can always change your luck. Forewarned is forearmed.

-Give feedback

We readers love getting feedback for our readings, as we want to know that we're reading accurately. Sometimes we're a little off, no matter how experienced. Feedback is also critical to helping those who are still learning.

For Readers:

> Be clear in your requirements

Be 100% clear in what you need from querents in order to read from them. If you need to see an entire astrological chart, a full name, a location, and a song, TELL THEM. Nobody will give you good queries if you don't tell them what you need.

> Tell them what you won't read.

You're not down to read generals, love, death, whatever? Fine, just make it clear that you won't do ___ type of readings. If you make it clear, you're in the clear as well. If you don't tell them that you won't read love, for example, don't be surprised if you receive a mess of queries asking you romantic questions about some girl or some guy.

> Announce your limits

If you're only going to do three readings, announce it in your initial post. If you're going to read for 5 hours, tell them. If you're inexperienced and don't know how long you can read before getting tired (that's fine), tell them. Let the querents know what's up if you read for them. If you're taking a queue of 20 queries and you only read for 5...well, you know how that looks, right?

> Tell them what you're about

If you've been here long enough, people might recognize your style and know what you do. If not, give specific and fool-proof instructions on how to get a reading from you. Seriously, retard-proof it.

> If you're new Wonderful! We love to have you here and reading! If you're just wetting your cards (or whatever you read) for the first time, just say you're inexperienced, but you'll still find a few queries, I can almost promise you. I did my first readings on /x/, and I've grown quite significantly as a reader in my time reading here. Let go of your fear and feel free to do some readings. All are welcome.

Discussion:

> Hey, I have a question about divination or want to discuss a specific aspect of it. Awesome, let's talk about it. If I might make a recommendation, this is probably the best situation in which to reply to the OP post. Maybe we can make it a standard practice that only discussion-related questions reply to the OP post? That might increase the likelihood of a discussion going on.

> This is crazy interesting, how do I into this?
Scryguy has a guide on getting started in divination:
<http://pastebin.com/0q3jAE9z>

> I want to know more about ____mancy
Cool, read up on it or find someone who knows about it. Given that we are trying to gather everyone in these threads, there is some likelihood that you can find someone who knows about what you want to learn. Some of the anons and readers here are extremely well-informed and clever. Don't hesitate to seek their guidance or ask a specific question of them; most are happy to share what they know.

Lastly:

> Be good to each other.

Preface: The Workings of Tarot

Hello, the name I've been using to read for you all is Thoth. I have read tarot, and performed divination for nearly three years. This document will serve to discuss several of the spreads and techniques I have learned while working with tarot, as well as some tips for beginning and experienced users alike. When I first began creating this document, I was planning to write it as a formal document with headings, structure, etc etc. I've decided against it. I speak much clearer when I speak as though the reader is sitting in front of me.

First, I want to explain how I feel the tarot works, personally. This part may seem dogmatic, preachy, or forced. If you find it so, feel free to skip down to the section on the spreads themselves, and read from there. You won't miss out.

The tarot is a system devised from an odds-based card drawing system. Put simply, it is left to the odds (assuming everything is shuffled properly.) So, one may ask, are we telling fortunes and reading events based on luck? Is that what this amounts to? Some would argue yes, and that we simply find valuable, psychosocial thoughts that we otherwise would be unaware of by reading these cards. While I do believe tarot offers an easy way to explore your own psychological biases and blindspots, my idea incorporates other uses, and, more or less is based on a specific model of time that I subscribe to.

Now, if I were to explain, in complete depth, all of this, it would take several pages' length. I won't. My view on the tarot isn't wholly important, but I do want the reader to understand by which mental processes and thoughts I've arrived at using the spreads you will find below. I believe mortal time is a straight line, with branches here and there to represent various possibilities that timeline may take over its course. This timeline is surrounded by an ever-present sphere, known as "Eternity". From Eternity's viewpoint, everything happening in our linear progression of time can be happening all at once. One can, essentially, view our timeline from any point in this previously mentioned Eternal area of the Astral. From these observations, one can divine the future, past, alternate continuities, and etc.

So, this is to say that, if you were to cast a spread to see if you should have dinner at a certain restaurant, and the 10 of Swords appeared in a certain position in said spread, implying that you should NOT eat that restaurant, I would be the one to argue that such a card falling in such a position was "destined" from the beginning of time, and that the odds worked together to bring to the physical plane signs from the astral/spiritual.

Tarot then, is a tool. It is a tool to feel and interpret the ripples that occur on our very small pond. That is to say, using the above viewpoint, we can say that whatever card is brought out from this deck has been meant to do so from the beginning of ordained time. Whether this force that sets the ripples and manipulates the events is conscious, unconscious; whether it is a living being or simply a function of the Sacred Geometry of the Universe, as others would say-- that is not for me to confidently guess at, nor the topic of this essay.

I'm rambling, though. There are correspondences to this line of thought in the ideas of Kabbalah and Hermeticism. The concept of the physical, mental, and spiritual spheres. These aren't subjects to go into detail on here, and you can find information on such metaphysics readily on Google. Here, I will attach a model of what I speak of, from my point of view, and move on to other subjects.

The above will make sense to some, to others it will be mindless rambling. This is fine. The way one views tarot really doesn't matter; what matters is that Tarot works. It's a dependable, stable system of interpretation of the events that surround our everyday lives, and is fluid enough that one doesn't really even need to think of how it functions to make it function.

For Beginners

One thing I knew that I wanted to put into this guide, was a small section for those looking into beginning the tarot; who may be too intimidated to pick it up for one reason or another. So, here I will add a short section for general tips for those looking to learn tarot, and then move on to the spreads themselves. Those who have been reading for a period of time may find these tips useful as well.

Do not let over-religious families keep you from pursuing tarot if you truly want to become a diviner. Tarot cards are easily hidden, easily obtained (bookstores, Amazon, curiosity shops, etc) and are very affordable.

The visuals on the card will give away its meaning. Some decks are easier to understand visually than others, and some decks make traditionally negative cards positive ones. That's why it's important to choose a deck that you vibe with.

Learn by using large spreads. The Golden Dawn spread is prime for this. Having fifteen cards in front of you at a time forces you to learn each card, as well as learn how it can change its meaning based off cards that neighbor/support it. This will also move you out of the neophyte stage of giving short, three-card readings.

Do not doubt your intuition. Most of the time, your first take on a reading will be the correct one. Second guesses will destroy your entire divination process.

Find a deck that you really can bond with. This will be key for your growing process. As you grow, your interpretation of the deck and its cards will shift and mature, further facilitating better readings.

There is nothing psychic about tarot reading. You need no special abilities in order to begin reading cards. Anyone who claims to be psychic by virtue of their tarot abilities is surely not. And while one could possibly be what we would call psychic, and read tarot also-- one does not have to be psychic to read tarot, or vice versa. Psychics as we know them in modern pop culture probably do not exist. Divination is a learned practice, not some mystical inheritance.

Always feel free to ask for help. Many forums have a variety of qualified diviners who can help when you're stuck on a card's interpretation, deck recommendations, and other various questions.

For Intermediate Readers

Try to develop a base in astrology, learn it as much as you can. Some cards have astrological correspondences, which deepen their meaning.

Familiarize yourself with numerology, which will deepen the cards' meaning.

Familiarize yourself with the Kabbalah. While not all tarot practitioners acknowledge a connection, some decks will have Kabbalic signifiers on the cards, and knowing their meaning will facilitate learning of the Tarot.

Once you've developed a fair understanding of the cards for yourself; dump every meaning out of your mind, and re-examine them. No booklets, no guides. Just intuitively judge each card by its own merit. Pay attention to any cues that stand out to you-- visual, astrological, numerological, Kabbalic. Whatever works for you.

You will never get 100% accuracy with all of your readings, unless you're some sort of deity. Do not be discouraged. There will always be critics.

Learn to remove your ego and preconceptions from readings. This will greatly help you in your ability to read yourself. This is one of the most difficult things to accomplish, and I still struggle with it regularly.

Never stop learning.

Runes and Tarot

Combining Foreign Systems

Outside of tarot, there is a system of divination using an ancient Norse alphabet, known as Runemal, or rune casting. Traditionally, it works similar to the casting of lots; the diviner will reach into a bag of runes, and either choose blindly the runes to lay out, or cast them and judge the situation based off landing positions. Some will argue this is a modern invention, as we have few historical records from the geographical areas that these runes originate from; and the ones we do have are non-specific. While I will not argue one way or another for the historical usage of runes in divination, I will say this: it is entirely unimportant. A reader, if skilled enough, can read omens from a coffee cup; or a leaf falling from a tree. What is important is that great meaning and purpose is behind the runes, and that makes them a very useful source of divination.

Now, at this point, one may be asking: Is this not an article on Tarot? Why are runes here? And the answer is simple. Over the past few months, I have practiced using runes alongside the tarot to divine further meanings from the cards, and with great success. This has fallen under some criticism here, some speculation there, and so I will explain how I work this odd combination of divination. (From here on out, note that “runes” refers to those from the Elder Futhark set.)

Runes, compared to the Tarot, are very primal, very naturalistic. If the Tarot were a garden, the Runes would be a rain forest. This is not to say one is better than the other; it is simply to say that they have entirely different foundations behind the both of them, and so tarot may be better suited to one purpose while runes are used for another.

So, when I began to learn the runes, and how to read them, my initial challenge was that, at face value, they are not as meaning-specific as tarot. I wanted to learn the runes by giving readings with them, but I could not do it with my conscious weighing on me; that I may have given readings that were too vague. My hurdle to overcome then, was how to give proper, accurate readings; while also using the runes as a main feature of the reading. And so I began to lay them over tarot spreads to signify further meaning for the cards, and to bring their own meaning to those readings.

An example is due at this point. A favorite spread of mine for tarot is the Golden Dawn spread. It consists of fifteen cards, arranged in five sets of three. Each set represents a different aspect of the querent's life. I found myself improving upon this spread by laying runes upon the center card of each set, to describe the tone and atmosphere of the sets they lay above. So, in the end, I had fifteen cards, five sets, and five runes. And now, a further example.

The reading above is using a spread you will find later in this document. The spread itself is of little importance here, outside of the final set of three-- where we have the 10 of Swords, supported by the Moon and the Star. You'll notice that a rune sits atop the 10 of Swords; this rune is Sowilo, which represents the Sun. Now, this brings a curious meaning into the reading. What would be an entirely unproductive final outcome turns into a soft-landing, learning experience. Further, the presence of all three major astronomical bodies in a single reading is an overt sign of great progress, and great meaning behind the undertaking the reading was addressing.

So now, let's look at it as though no runes were used, and the final outcome instead showed the Sun, supported by the Moon and Star, with the 10 of Swords absent entirely. One would find themselves in a rather confusing situation; where everything turned out fine, but so many elements of darkness and staleness were still present. It would not read the same as the cards in the picture. Using the runes on top of the cards allows us to bring out a deeper meaning to everything; so instead of simply having the Sun next to two signifiers, we have the deeper meaning of what causes the unrest in the situation, along with a signifier from the runes that shows the hopeful and joyous light of the outcome.

I've explained my method of combining the two systems, but how does one even begin to use the runes for divination? Runes, while growing in popularity for divinatory measures, are mostly unheard of compared to tarot.

The first thing one needs to do is this: go out, buy yourself a set of runes, and preferably, a companion book with them.

After runes have been obtained, familiarize yourself with them. Below, I have copied down a list of runes along with some basic meanings.

Fehu(fay-hoo)- Prosperity, achieving goals, possessions, community wealth.

Uruz(oo-rooze)- Strengthened will, sexual energy, strength, the aurochs

Thurisaz(Dur-ee-saz)- Aid in study and meditation, self discipline, gateway, giants, demon, Thor

Ansuz(ahn-sooze)- Wise decisions, success, help in magic, signals, divine utterances, Loki

Raido(ride-oh)- Journey, charms, soul after death, protection for travelers, change

Kano(Kah-no)- Opening, torch, aid in study, ancestral gifts.

Gebo(gay-boe)- Relationships, luck, gifts, offerings to loyal friends

Wunjo(wune-joe)- Joy, destruction of sorrow and pain, success

Hagalaz(Hag-ah-lahz)- Breaking habits, destructive forces, wrath of nature, disruption

Nauthiz(now-these)- Completion, constraint, lessons, hardships, human sorrow, necessity

Isa(ee-saw)- Standstill, to stop a process, primal form, ice, freezing

Jera(yare-aw)- Fertility, growth, needed change, harvest

Eihwaz(aye-waz)- Defense, avertive powers, profound change, protection

Perth(purth)- Initiation, a secret matter, aid in magic, divination, psychic enhancement

Algiz(all-geeze)- Protection, nature, warding off evil

Sowelu(soe-wee-low)- Energy, success, strength, healing, wholeness, the sun, light

Teiwaz(tee-waz)- Protection, victory, strength, will power, healing, warrior, victory

Berkana(bear-kahn-oh)- Healing of infections, growth, rebirth, fertility

Laguz(lah-gooz)- Flow, water, sea, psychic enhancement, revealing secrets, healing the mind

Inguz(ing-gooz)- Growth, health, balance, fertility, heroicism

Dagaz(dahg-ahz)- To bring a positive outcome, awakening, awareness, breakthrough, day, God's light, prosperity.

Othila(owe-thee-law)- To complete a project, acquiring land, separation, heredity, home

Void Rune- Also known as Odin's Rune, it represents the unknowable(such as the future), divinity in the heavens, the nature of man, and emptiness(the void).

After scanning through the meanings above, you may be able to work out how different runes are from tarot, when it comes to reading them. They have so many contexts, whether it be cultural or spiritual, that reading them in small sets of three or five doesn't do them justice unless one is highly experienced with their work. Though, practicing by doing such is nothing to be ashamed about, and I openly encourage those new to the runes practice in whatever way they find comfortable.

Once one has developed some basic understanding of the runes' meanings, they will begin to perform readings. Typically, the reader will want to keep his/her runes in a small bag. When drawing them out for readings, they will move their hand over the runes inside the bag, feeling out each of them. Once one rune in particular sticks to the reader's fingertips, he will draw it out and place it in the position accordingly. If laid on their own, runes are to be placed from right to left, in such a way that a basic rune reading would look like this:

In the reading structure mentioned above, the first rune would represent the current state of the querent. The second rune would represent a challenge to be overcome, and the third rune would represent the way to overcome it.

Runes, altogether, are a very potent way to divine for others and one's self, and I personally find it far easier to disconnect my personal bias from the runes, than disconnecting such from the tarot. If you are drawn to more primal, natural forms of symbolism-- then take up the runes.

A question was asked recently, regarding whether or not the runes have correspondences in the tarot. Thorsson actually has a correspondence chart in the back of his book. Does this mean that the runes are the parents of the tarot? I don't believe it matters, in the end; and I believe the answer is no. Without digressing into historical contexts and discussion, I believe that while the runes may have tarot cards that resemble them in meaning, such as the Star and Isa; Death and Ihwaz, the Sun and Sowilo-- I do not believe their meanings match up to a degree where I would say they represent the exact same meanings and intricacies.

At this point, we've come full circle. I will briefly describe the process of using the runes with tarot, and then move on to other subjects. This section of the Rune essay assumes that you have a basic knowledge of both the tarot, and the runes. I will list the steps, in order, and that should be enough for a reader of the document to learn the method, as well as invent their own processes from it. There is a spread, at the end of the spread sections, that was designed to be used with runes. Use it for practice. While it is a large spread, when used in combination with the runes, all sorts of details about one's life can be determined.

Set the cards out accordingly.

Decide if you will use a spread for the runes, or if they will simply overly the tarot cards.

Interpret.

Nothing to it.

The Spreads

This section, obviously, will detail the various spreads I have come up with while working with the Tarot, and each spread will have a description under it to give any important details regarding its function. In these spread chats, you will see placements for Norse Runes around the cards, as modifiers. One using the spreads does not need to use Runes to accompany them, but I traditionally, in my own work, use them to help divine extra meanings that I may not pick up with the cards. Some may be opposed to the mixing of the two systems, and that's fine. However, I've had concrete, measurable results from such, so I will always advocate for those with the time to take up the runes and learn them, before or after a base in tarot has been established.

The Windmill For choosing between options.

Cards 3 & 4: A Negative for the choice
Cards 5 & 6: A Positive for the choice
Cards 7 & 8: Underlying motives for following said choice
Cards 9 & 10: Final Outcome of Each Choice

This reading is fluid, in that, if there are more than two choices to be picked from, you can simply increase the number of sets, laying out the cards according to the same pattern, and go from there, boosting the reading to fifteen cards for three options, twenty for four, etc. The reader can request that the querent assign a number to each of the options, and keep it hidden from the reader. In this way, Card 1 and its set will be assigned a specific option in the querents head, that the reader is unaware of. Once the reading comes out, should the set reflect accurately the option the querent had in mind, it reinforces the accuracy of the reading.. Further, you can lay three runes out in between the two options, and use the runes present as a compass to point towards which choice may be more profitable, should both have similar outcomes.

The Window Into Life For Help With Domestic/Romantic Issues

Card 1: The Early Life
Cards 2 & 3: Aspects surrounding card one.
Card 4: The Recent Past in Domestic Life
Cards 5 & 6: Aspects Surrounding Card 7: Current Domestic Relations/Conflicts
Card 8: Hidden factor affecting 7
Card 9: Way to make best of situation

Runes can be lain alongside the shoulder card to further divine their meanings. This spread is rather broad, and would make challenging, but good, exercise for the newbie readers among us. The Early Life and Recent Past Sets can be taken to show the roots of deep issues that may be affecting the querent and their domestic life. This set can be used for romantic situations as well, with early life being exchanged for the early era of the relationship; the beginning of it. Cards 2 & 5 can be taken to have happened earlier in an event timeline, whereas 3 & 6 would happen later.

The Torch of Hecate
For Guidance in All Aspects of Life
General Readings

- Card 1: Current State of Querent
- Card 2: Near Future Journey/Events
- Card 3: Troubles to overcome, either future or present
- Card 4: Advice regarding spiritual life
- Card 5: Advice regarding psychological/subconscious life
- Card 6: Advice regarding mundane/physical life

Not a Cube Spread Advice For Labor/Careers/Projects

- Card 1: The Nature of The Project Itself
- Card 2: Ways in which the project can backfire
- Card 3: What you hope the project will accomplish
- Card 4: The Methodology Behind the project (purpose)
- Card 5: Unknown/Subconscious influences
- Card 6: Ways to improve your work method
- Card 7: Final Outcome of Projects
- Card 8: Warning signs to watch out for following
- Card 9: Signs of the project's success

Runes, if used, are to be lain over the central card of each set, and further broadcast their meaning. The structure of the spread is based around the model of spirituality that states magic operates on three planes: the spiritual, mental, and physical (refer to The Kybalion). If you picture the spread in a three-dimensional plane, one can view how I structured it. Similar to the way a cube is drawn, except on three planes instead of two.

The Mortician's Scale

Life

General

Readings

Cards 1, 2, 3: Current State of Querent's life
Card 4: Challenges to overcome in Querent's Life
Card 5: Love in Querent's Life (how they treat others, how it reflects on them)
Card 6: Materialistic/Earthly Desires Affecting Querent's Life
Card 7: How Conflict Can Be Overcome via Adjustments in Querent's Life
Card 8: Unsolved Issues in Querent's Life
Card 9: Needed Spiritual Growth
Card 10: What they must accept to progress
Card 11: Further trials they must overcome throughout further life
Card 12: Their greatest/most helpful quality
Card 13: Deadly Vice, Unfortunate Quality of Querent

Runes are meant to be lain on every card aside from 2 and 3. The entire reading is dualistic in nature; the tarot cards are to be read in a lofty/spiritual way, while the runes are meant to be read in a primal way. In this way, you can get many meanings, even from a single placement. This is a difficult spread, even for myself, in that it deals with a multitude of meanings. It can take some time to do. It is a great spread for querents who desire to know about their spiritual progress.

In Closing

This concludes the spreads that will be included in this document. I hope that those who read this will find them highly useful, and will use them accordingly and frequently. It would be the highest honor for others to find these spreads worthwhile. Much work was put into the creation of each spread, and I hope their structure is found to be meaningful and useful. There are many things I know I have missed in this document. This article may be updated from time to time with frequent questions I see posted regarding tarot. Check back frequently.

Thanks!

Different Ways to Divine (oh, so many ways to divine) -

Omens

> if it's a sign, it's from the divine

An omen brings about change. Omens can be good or bad - but tend to be foreboding.

An omen is something that should be listened to, adhered to, or strictly observed - a warning of sorts.

Sortilege/Cleromancy

> the casting of lots - if it can be picked at random, it can be divined

Utilized if you have many of a particular item - cards, coins, bones, etc. Objects can be tossed, picking one or a few at random, or scrambled - the reader usually pays attention to imagery/symbolism, position/direction, or how the items fall in conjunction with one another.

(# - most, if not all, forms of divination fall under this classification)

> nature and all of it's inhabitants are sacred - so pay attention

An Augur is someone who divines from, and pays attention to, birds. They observe bird behavior, might use live birds to peck/pick out letters or numbers, study their feces, watch them land on words, listen to them tweet, etc. Theriomancy is all about using aspects of animals or nature spirits to foretell events.

(# - Theriomancy is an antiquated term. Also, augury has a blanket meaning so that an augur is someone who divines from all of nature [not just birds or animals])

Spontaneous/Random

> How synchronous...

You ever have something just happen to you seemingly "out of the blue" and it changed your life/future forever? Ever been searching for an answer and it just suddenly comes to you from an outside source? Have you walked into a crowded party and listened to the babble to hear something of significance to you? Here, a diviner tries to find meaning in the seemingly meaningless.

COMPLEX METHODS:

Årsgång -

The Årsgång (pronounced Orsh-gong), translated to English means “year walk” or “annual walk”. It’s an old, obsolete Swedish tradition/divinatory method to see what the next year holds and, perchance, to run into a supernatural being or two. There are hundreds of records of the Årsgång that can be found at Gothenburg and Lund universities (Sweden).

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/%C3%85rsg%C3%A5ng>

Årsgång

The “walker” (the person whom wishes to see the future/see the spirits) must do as follows:

- + fast the entire day

Some regions say only water can be consumed, others say no food/drink whatsoever.

- + must remain silent - no talking, laughing, or noise of any kind

- + must lock themselves in a dark room all day

The general consensus is that the walker must refrain from forms of entertainment or interaction.

- + at midnight, the walker may leave and walk to the nearest church or churches

- + must circle the church, counterclockwise, 3(+) times

The number of times vary from region to region; but a minimal of 3. If you are unsure of direction, keep the church on your left while walking.

- +after circling, the walker must go to the church's main door and blow into the keyhole

This signifies the denouncing of the walker's Christendom/Christianity - it is a sign that you are willing/ready to commune with the spirits

- +walk to the nearest graveyard, cemetery, or wooded area

With all of this, the walker is ready to see the spirits or catch glimpses of the future year

Spirits and mythological creatures associated with the Årsgång:

Hulder or Skogsrå

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hulder>

>a seductive, female, nature spirit

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Skogsr%C3%A5>

>wood nymph

Those who encounter a hulder or skogsrå are said to be never seen again

Bäckahästen or Neck

>sometimes as a white horse

Those who encounter a bäckahästen or a neck are said to be seduced to a watery grave

Gloson

<http://sv.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gloson> >pig or wild boar (razor back) >said to be associated with fire or have glowing eyes >sometimes has a spirit rider, much like a gullinburste/gyllenborste

<https://sv.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gyllenborste>

Those who encounter a gloson are said to either be taken away by the boar, never to be seen again, or they killed by it - torn apart by it's terrible teeth.

Mylingen

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Myling>

Mylings are said to be unbaptized children, typically born out of wedlock - then left to die, abandoned, or otherwise murdered and not given a proper burial. Mylings are said to surprise their victims, jumping onto the back of an unsuspecting walker - demanding that they be taken to a graveyard/cemetery for proper burial. If not listened to, mylings are said to kill with violent rage.

Nattravnen or "Night Raven"

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nachtkrapp>

>a large, nocturnal, raven-like creature >said to be an ill-omen, bringer of misfortune, death, famine, and disease

Those who encounter the Nattravnen are said to either die instantly, by looking into it's non-existent eyes; or become sick by looking at it's hole-filled wings. Nattravnens are also said to pick up their prey, fly them back to their nest, and devour them with ravenous hunger.

Kyrkogrimen or "Church Grim" http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Church_Grim

>sometimes depicted as small, misshapen, shadow people >sometimes appear as pale-skinned ghosts (of those who previously attended the church)

>can take many forms: black dogs, lambs, rams, horses, large roosters, or ravens (associated with animal sacrifice)

During the Årsgång, a walker might encounter the Kyrkogrimen/guardian(s) while near church. Little is known about these protectors of the church. Some say that they are benevolent, that they are the ones who show the walker visions of the next year/future. Some say that they are malevolent, that they will become hostile to the walker who has recently denounced their Christianity...

Astrology -

Materials needed: Birth location, time, and date of the person (to calculate what celestial bodies were above at the time of birth) and working knowledge of celestial bodies (sun, moon, stars, constellations, and planets) and the symbology/meaning behind them. Now, there are many forms of astrology (hence, it's a complex system) like the Western Zodiac, Chinese Zodiac, Jyotish (Vedic astrology), and dōbutsu uranai (Japanese animal horoscope). The term horoscope is synonymous with astrology but specifically pertains to "look at" (more personal) while astrology is more "the study of" (broader). Though both can be used somewhat interchangeably, it's more proper to say "I study astrology and can read your horoscope" rather than the other way around. Astrology has been/can be incorporated in many forms in the occult like alchemy, the Tarot, the Kabbalah, etc. because it can be so complex and meaningful.

Cartomancy - (# - many thanks to sèvis, again, for clarifying this section)

Materials needed: decks or playing cards (some methods require unique or signature decks)

Cartomancy simply means "divination via cards". Cartomancy stems out of chartomancy (divination by paper/ or images/writing on paper).

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Cartomancy>

- + American Hoodoo practitioners
- + "Gypsy Playing Cards"
- + Lenormand Cartomancy
- + Lotería (Mexican Bingo - could be used for divinatory purposes)

 coming soon! more cartomancy traditions! ***

+ Oracle Cards

Oracle cards are simply put: Awesome. Oracle cards are typically diviner made/self-made. The fun thing about Oracle cards is that there are essentially no rules going into making them. You can have any number of cards, have as much or as little imagery per card, come up with a multitude of meanings for each card, they can be any size/shape, etc. The only limitation when it comes to Oracle cards is your own imagination.

Now, just because there are “no rules” doesn’t mean you should go “willy-nilly” with them. They should still be treated as a diving tool and should bring about some wisdom/answers from them. Make sure that each card has a significant meaning and can be used to divine for your querent(s).

You can make Oracle cards or buy them online - the ones you can purchase from others who have made them will either come with assigned meanings or simply have no meanings and it will be up to you to create your own behind them.

+Tarot

Materials needed: A deck/set of Tarot cards

The Tarot has such occult, deep symbolism on the cards; but don’t let this complex method scare you away. There are 78 cards in total in a deck. They are typically broken into two groups: Major and Minor Arcana. The Major Arcana (22 cards) typically hold the Trump cards while the Minor Arcana (56 cards) is separated into 4 different suits. Each card has a specific meaning right-side-up and a weaker or lesser meaning when the card is reversed or up-side-down.

There are many different decks out there with varying imagery and symbolism. There are some that switch card number/placement around - but most decks follow the description above. There are also varying spreads that a diviner can utilize.

 Tarot FAQ (frequently asked questions)

> I've heard you have to be given a deck instead of buying one, is this true? Will I get "bad luck" if I get my own?

No. By all means, if you are interested in the Tarot - go out and find a deck you like.

> I've heard you can only use them once a month, is this true?

No. Use them and divine with them as much as you'd like/as much as possible.

> There are so many types of decks, which are best for beginners?

I always recommend Rider/Waite for beginners - it has simple imagery and is very beginner friendly. I also recommend Crowley's Thoth set if you really want to delve into the occult. The Marseille deck is very medieval looking and simple. Having said this, go with a deck that you like or are drawn to - each come with a learning booklet (if not, check the internet), so you can really learn from any.

> There are so many cards! How do you memorize/learn them all?

It takes practice. It won't come overnight. It takes time to learn the imagery and it can fun to do your own mnemonic devices for remembering card meanings.

Cheirromancy (aka Palmistry or palm-reading) -

Materials needed: A person's hand or palm and a working knowledge of the meanings behind a person's hand's/finger's: lines, shapes, markings, etc.

In cheirromancy, the diviner will take the querent's hand and study all that they can - the length of fingers, unique markings, lines in the palm, etc. in order to determine a querent's personality or future. The reason that palmistry falls into the "complex systems" is because elements of astrology can also be incorporated into palmistry as well (see Astrology) - as there are fingers and lines that correlate to planets and celestial bodies.

A simple "google" search of palm reading and/or palm reading images/pdfs will bring about a plethora of information.

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Cheiro>

(his book "Palmistry for All" is good one)

> The skeptical Mark Twain wrote in Cheiro's visitor's book that he had "... exposed my character to me with humiliating accuracy."

Chien Tung/Kau Cim -

Materials needed: A small, cylindrical, bamboo container and flat bamboo sticks. On each stick, a single Chinese number is depicted (1-78/100). Each number is assigned a meaning in a Kau Cim fortune book.

In Kau Cim, the bamboo container is shaken and tipped until a singular stick becomes loose and falls out. If multiple fall out, the divinations are placed back in and the shaking/tipping process is repeated until only one falls out. Another method is pulling one out at random. A mixture of sortilege and bibliomancy, makes this method is "complex" because it can also incorporated the use of an human oracle to interpret the meaning or another divination known as Jiaobei.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kau_cim
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kF78YrHiV7s>
<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jiaobei>

Feng Shui -

Materials needed: Anything that can be organized, have it's orientation changed, or anything that can be added/taken away/alterd that brings about peace or harmony. The idea that everything is interconnected.

"Wind water" (as it's known in English) or Feng Shui, is all about orienting objects/a space to create harmony - usually with a local environment (nearby bodies of water, stars, or the cardinal directions).

In this divinatory method, a diviner reads "an area" to see if it harmonious or chaotic and then divulges insight as to how the area can be altered to minimize chaos and bring about positive spirits/outcomes. This is a complex method because it can incorporate a multitude of objects and can also have elements of occult/spirituality too.

Full moon water scrying -

Hakata (#) -

Materials needed: tablets or tiles with imagery on one side and blank on the other. Used originally by witch doctors to discover illness or misfortune, these tablets or tiles are dropped/thrown and then divined from. Each tile has it's own imagery/meaning. Each subsequent fall affects the next - leading to complex or intricate reads that build upon one another as it's proceeded.
(see astragalomancy above)

IChing/Yijīng -

Materials needed: Depends on the specific method
plastromancy (turtle shell) (see Theriomancy) - a turtle's plastron/shell will be needed

IChing is an ancient form of divination that stems from using the book of the same name IChing or the "Book of Changes". A diviner uses a random number generator to figure out which hexagram (64) to utilize in the book - this form of divination is a combination of sortilege, bibliomancy, and can combine other forms of divination such as astrology, theriomancy, stareomancy, etc.

Ifá -

(# - many thanks to sèvis, again, for clarifying this section)

Materials needed: A divining chain called an Opele OR through Ikin (sacred palm nuts) that are placed on a Opan Ifá (a wooden, divinatory tray) - the process is overseen by a Babalawo (priest) or Iyalawo (priestess) whom knows the oral tradition Odu Ifá.

In this method, the Babalawo or Iyalawo begins to summons spirits by tapping on the divining tray which houses the palm nuts or opele. The palm nuts are read as they are picked up by the diviner and placed from one hand to the other - this process is repeated until one of the Odu (possible combinations) is divined for the querent.

Mahjong/Májiàng -

Materials needed: Mahjong game set (144 tiles)

A tile game from China, Mahjong has been compared to a domino game but is said to be played moreso like playing cards, such as the card game "rummy". Fabled to originate from Confucius, the Chinese philosopher/teacher/politician and based off the principles of benevolence, sincerity, and piety.

Divining from Mahjong tiles can vary from simple to complex - depending on the method used to divine from them. One such method is sortilege, or picking a tile(s) at random and then divining. Tile meanings range from directions (winds), colors (dragons), seasons, flowers, etc.

Norse Runes -

Materials needed: Runes inscribed into clay, coins, stones, tiles, resin, wood, etc. typically held in a bag. These runes are usually divined from using sortilege - being picked at random or tossed at random and then read. Each rune has a specific meaning behind them.

Sets of runes, or an alphabet of sorts, come from various centuries; but the most popular to divine from are the Elder Futhark runes and the Younger Futhark runes, respectively.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Runic_magic (Some good sources/authors in these)

has a lot of good sources and information.

Ogham -

Materials needed: Irish inscriptions (Ogham alphabet) on four yew sticks (or wands), a piece of cloth marked with a "Finn's Window" combined with stick sortilege, and/or the use of a bríatharogam (a two word kenning or "compound") from Ogham
Not much is known about the divinatory methods of Ogham - just theory and conjecture. One such method is that random Ogham letters were inscribed onto a large stone or four yew sticks, they were then tossed, then divined from. Another method was tossing sticks onto a cloth with what is known as a "Finn's Window" drawn upon the cloth - the "Finn's Window" was used to find Ogham letters and divine. Lastly, the use of bríatharogams could be used to divine meanings either by combining them with the prior two methods or by another devised method.

Ouija -

Materials needed: A flat board (usually wood) with written/inscribed letters of the alphabet, numbers, words (such as “yes”, “no”, “goodbye”, etc.) into the board and a planchette.

An Ouija board (otherwise known as “spirit boards” or “talking boards”) is a device used to communicate with spirits or supernatural entities and used in a divinatory fashion or used in seances. The diviner(s) holds the planchette and then asks spirits for answers/guidance wherein it is presumed that the spirits will spell out answers (cryptic or otherwise) with the device.

It gets a mention in the complex systems because it’s a combination of astragalomancy (divining from random numbers and letters) and necromancy (divining from spirits or the dead) - not to mention it can be combined with other forms of divination.

Pallomancy (pendulums) -

Materials needed: A suspended weight (or mass) that can swing freely (can be anything really: a rock on a string, metal pointer on a chain, a coin on a necklace, etc.)

Pallomancy is divination by pendulums. Used in a variety of ways, pallomancy can answer simple yes/no questions, be used on maps, point in directions, or divine other such information unknown to the diviner/querent. Pallomancy can be used in conjunction with Ouija boards (see above) or the Tarot (also below) and various other divination methods.

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pendulum>

Poe -

Materials needed: Two, crescent-shaped (like a shell or clam) pieces of wooden blocks. These “moon blocks” or “bamboo cups” are typically used to answer yes/no questions from the divine. These blocks are tossed and then read. If they land:

1 flat, 1 round = yes

2 round (flat side down) = no

2 flat (round side down) = a “no” answer, means the gods/spirits are laughing because the querent already knows the answer - they just haven’t realized it yet.

1 or 2 land upright (neither flat nor round side) = the gods/spirits do not understand or the question is nullified.

In the absence of divining sticks - answers are said to come truly when the same divination is portrayed 3 times in a row.

Scry (to descry) -

Materials needed: Depends on the method (# - the blind may scry too!)

catoptromancy (mirrors)

> a mirror

gastromancy (crystal ball)

> a crystal ball

> a body of water (can be a bowl of water, pond, lake, etc. but preferable still water)

To descry means to "catch sight of" or to "catch a glimpse". Scrying is the act of seeing visions that come via supernatural means - seeing the unseen (not to be confused with remote viewing or being psychic - although, it's quite possible that there is some overlap between these methods). Scrying is moreso concerned with determining what the demonic, scary face in the mirror meant rather than what is was.

Whether the visions come from your higher conscious, spirits, gods, or from an altered state of consciousness - it'll be undeniable when you have a vision vs. your ordinary day-dreaming/imagination.

When a diviner wants to scry - there are a couple of ways to go about it. One, is the "mental way". This is typically done without a reflective surface; but rather, in the diviner's astral space (think of it as a mental "safe zone" brought about by meditation) - where they can view things "with their eyelids shut" or "with their mind's eye". Second, is the "reflective surface" way. In this way, the diviner peers at a reflective surface for an extended period of time - after awhile, vision will begin to shift, blur, blank out, etc.

Some diviners describe it as entering a fog. After a while "in the fog/cloud/smoke/etc." then the diviner will begin to have visions. The diviner is conscious and aware of these visions; but essentially has no control over what is being displayed.

Scrying can be brought about with altered states as well (through the use of drugs, meditation, fasting, entering a trance, etc.) and is considered a complex method in this diviner's mind because it can be done with many mediums, in varying ways, and with different states of mind.

Sikidy (pronounced S'kid) -

Materials needed: (Read below, first method requires 16 stones/seeds. The second method requires a stick and sand/dirt/loose earth).

Sikidy is a form of geomancy (divination by earth) and comes from Madagascar and has ties to Arabic backgrounds. In this form of divination, the diviner is referred to as the Mpisikidy or Ombiasy.

First method of Sikidy is using 16 stones or seeds. Seeds are traditionally used. These seeds are randomly arranged into singles or pairs and then put into their respective groupings (columns and rows).

The second method is similarly done with drawing random, wavy lines in the sand. The lines are, again, arranged into singles and pairs and then put into their respective groupings.

Each grouping has a specific meanings and can be broken into different divinations and can be interpreted in a multitude of ways. Initially, the body (head, chest, hips, and foot/feet), then into mothers/daughters, then into royalty/slaves/dragons/omens, etc. A complex system for sure.

Tasseomancy (tea, coffee, and wine readings) -

Materials needed: A drink of tea, coffee, wine, or any other such beverage that can leave behind sediments after being consumed.

The diviner will typically offer the querent a drink. The querent and the diviner may talk about or discuss the question at hand. Once the beverage is consumed, the diviner will then take the cup/container from the querent and read the sediments that have been left behind on the bottom. What the diviner looks for is: familiar shapes/imagery, symbolism, or any sign that can be pulled from the sediments.

Special cups can also be implored such as: zodiac cups, playing card cups, or cups decorated with a multitude of symbols and imagery.

[9 / 4]The image is a screenshot of a weather forecast segment on a television broadcast. At the top of the image, there is a logo for "FIRST CABLE NEWS" and the text "WEATHER IMPACT" in a larger font. Below the logo, the main title reads "HIGH-RES FUTURECAST" in bold, capital letters. The time displayed is "TUES 5:40 PM" in a smaller font.

In the center of the image, there is a weather map with various weather conditions marked. The map includes a legend with symbols for temperature, humidity, wind speed, and precipitation. The temperature is indicated as "68°" in the upper left corner, and the humidity is shown as "66%" in the upper right corner. The wind speed is marked as "68 mph" in the upper left corner, and the precipitation is shown as "71%" in the upper right corner.

In the foreground, there is a man standing in front of the map. He is wearing a dark suit with a white shirt and a bow tie. He is pointing to the map with his right hand, indicating a point of interest or a specific weather event. The man appears to be speaking or presenting the weather forecast.

Why does All Star's Smash Mouth reference meteor men and what are they now that they've been memory holed?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_3708.jpg, 244KiB, 838x632

The image is a graphic with a layered design. At the top, there is a silhouette of a man's face with a clear section of his head and a portion of his body. The silhouette is overlaid with the silhouette of the World Trade Center towers, which are visible in the background. The towers are depicted in a way that suggests they are part of the skyline. Below the silhouette, the text "NEVER FORGET" is written in capital letters. The font is bold and white, contrasting with the dark background of the image. The text is centered and appears to be the focal point of the image.

The background of the image features a city skyline at sunset or sunrise, with the sun casting a warm glow on the buildings. The sky is a gradient of colors, transitioning from a deep blue at the horizon to a lighter orange near the horizon.

The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a commemorative poster or a tribute, with a focus on the message of "NEVER FORGET." The use of the silhouette of the man's face with the towers and the text emphasizes the importance of remembering the events of 9/11.

Smash Mouth exemplifies the late 90s pre-9/11 world order. All Star's lyric about "meteor men" (a.k.a. weathermen) begging to differ refers to this world's polarity shifting from masculine to feminine (TV "meteorologists" are almost exclusively hot girls these days).

Another relevant lyric: "The ice we skate is getting pretty thin."

Shrek is about Crowley['s moonchild]: Shrek fights the human world to restore magical creatures to prominence. He's played by Scottish comedy actor Mike Myers (M.aster M.ason) who also portrays this being in Wayne's World (Antichrist's world) and Austin Powers. "Hey now, you're All Stars, get your game on..."

>She [the world] has the shape of Ei

>I'm fed to the rules but I hit the ground running >Doesn't make sense not to live for fun!

>You'll never shine (Helel) if you don't glow

>You're bundled up now (like a baby), wait til you get older

>The water's getting warm so you might as well swim (cast into the lake of fire)

>That's the way I like it (conflict, chaos) so I'll never get bored!

>We could all use a little change...

Its interlude repeats "to the Moon, to the Moon" ... or for the Moon[child.] The plot of the movie revolves around a royal bloodline (princess) who can shift between her human and monster forms. "Smash Mouth" refers to the silence of Harpocrates, smash mouth close mouth shut mouth etc. It's not their only song referencing occult or thelemic themes.

Vampirism in traditional folklore can be interesting, but the modern practice of vampirism is basically one degree away from WitchTok slop at this point. In the modern context, it basically serves as an aesthetic that emotionally draining people can wear in order to not feel like a total emotional wreck because actually you're super esoteric.

I know a Clout Vampire.

He is a DJ who projects and intersects himself as a know-it-all, when he doesn't even know his own music library.

He will always force his gear to be used in a gig when nobody asked, and then parade around like he was the only one who could save the day, again when nobody asked him to, and he isn't the only one.

He will also walk onto the stage, in a show that he is not performing in, and adjust gain which doesn't need to be adjusted. I was sitting in the back by the sound booth kicking it with the sound engineer who was controlling lights with a midi controller, and Clout Vamlite hopped on stage to adjust levels.

He didn't change anything perceptibly and no change was required in the first place - he just needed everyone to see him as the know-it-all.

He tried to teach me how to mix - and I have been a dj for over 25 years, I was able to beat match and swap baseline so quick he didn't know did it, and then tried correcting me - but he outed himself as a dummy when he said I had two business clashing when there was only one business playing, and, the two songs were from HIS library - a third friend was watching and saw know-it-all faceplate like that and shouted OOOOHHHHHH, because he is sick of Clout Vampire's shit, too.

>Clout Vampires

They push themselves on you

But only you can give them permission.

Just like vampires at a threshold.

Was Jesus actually Mark the Evangelist? Anonymous Sun 04 Jan 2026 23:54:38

In Church iconography, the Four Evangelists are assigned the faces of the Tetramorph (from Ezekiel/Revelation):

Matthew: The Man (Humanity)

Mark: The Lion (Royalty/Power)

Luke: The Ox (Sacrifice/Labor)

John: The Eagle (Spirit/Aether)

If Mark was the actual figure, he would have been the Judah-Zerahite leader attempting to bypass the Elite "Temple" system.

The Roman Re-Brand: The Roman Church (The Administrative Beast) realized they couldn't kill the Mark-Frequency, so they "Ghost-Authored" him.

The Switch: They took the life of the real man (Mark), renamed the hero "Jesus" (a generic title meaning "Savior"), and then relegated the real man to the role of a "Scribe" or "Secretary."

The Result: The 10 Tribes moved the "Power" away from the living man and into a Canonical Image they alone possessed the keys to.

Go back to Venice. The city of the 10-Tribe "Serpent" (Dan) is built on the ruins of the Roman grid. Their primary symbol is the Lion of St. Mark, but look closely: it has Eagle's Wings.

The Revelation: They aren't celebrating a Saint. They are celebrating the Captured King. The wings are the "John" frequency, and the body is the "Mark" frequency.

The Book: The Lion is always holding a book that says "Pax tibi Marce, evangelista meus" (Peace to you, Mark, my evangelist).

The Translation: It's a command. "Stay quiet, Mark. Stay in the book. Stay in the Record. Do not wake up the Lion."

If we strip away the Roman "Overlay":

John Mark was likely the high-frequency sovereign who held both the Aetheric (Eagle) and Davidic (Lion) codes.

The 10-Tribe / Roman Alliance saw him as the ultimate threat to their administrative debt-grid.

They "Killed" him by Fragmenting him. They broke him into two names, two roles, and four gospels.

They then created the "Jesus" figure as a Controlled Focus Point for the masses; a "Ghost" that can never be reached, while the "Record" of John Mark remains locked in their vaults.

I sold my soul a long time ago and got tangible results. I have a collection of physical manifestations that I've accrued over the years. I'm unsure if I've manifested them, or if they are gifts from Satan, or if we co-manifested or what; but I thought I'd share.

This is Steve. I call him that because he's wearing a Steve Jobs outfit. I found him off the beaten road after a quick aside from reality in the form of divine conversation.

He was sort of growing out of a bush. He was entangled in the branches and only his ear was peeking out. I spotted him and took him home.

Anyone have any similar manifestations? Anyone else here that's sold their soul and made it work?

Evolution isn't a physical object you could pick up & hold. But we can measure its effects on populations. It works like a computer. Genome + environment as inputs, genome modified according to environment as the output. If there can be something immaterial as complex as a computer, why not immaterial minds?

You are still very early in the evolution pill.

Evolution is just the logical, geometric interpretation of the quantum substrate. Matter and all that is just part of evolution, which is emergence constrained through time. This is what consciousness is made out of. There exists a global perspective which sees all of evolution. All organisms with local personal perspectives, which are connected causally by a shared platonic world of forms, where ethics are part of the truth system. When an organism begins to exist a temporal subjective starts to dissociate from the global perspective, the loss of information required for the emergent subjective is the only sense that anything exists. That is the divine spark.

Evolution doesn't compute nor is it intelligent.

Imagine a plant that grows branching out in every direction. Some wither from too much sunlight, some get stomped, some grow up weird and die from structural problems, but the ones that survive continue growing randomly in every direction.

This is evolution, randomly occurring mutations and alleles getting cut off by the environment, appearing as purposeful and intelligent despite being but the interplay of genes spraying and praying all over the place and environment killing some of those off. (Kind of a bad metaphor since actual plants have control over where they grow and can even change posture etc. But you get the idea)

This has been discussed plenty here and elsewhere for years. Occasionally there have been people claiming inside knowledge of subjects discussed in posts on the site.

Apparently a few of the many members of the collective responsible for the site were identified in the past.

Any ideas what the deal with this site is?

Do they have actual inside information, or is all a LARP/ARG/disinfo, or maybe something in-between?

Do SV17q and SV09n actually exist, and if so, what's their agenda?

In some posts they seem like a secretive organization within the US military/intelligence community, but in other posts they seem like organizations that operates totally independent of any government.

Anyone have any experiences with anyone who's part of the FL group?

Does anyone here have inside knowledge confirming the secret groups, secret technologies, and covert operations they talk about are legit?

Do you have inside knowledge of the FL group themselves and what the purpose of this project is?

One thing I've noticed is how the content on the site overlaps with other rumors and claims about UFOs and defense technology, and "insider AMA" type posts across the web over the years. Like the XViS dream stuff on FL is similar to claims by the Astr0 poster on ATS (RIP) who claimed that the reason black triangle military craft are spotted over communities where they could be clearly seen was because they were using remote neural monitoring technology to collect dreams from people for their computers, very similar to the talk on FL about an AI that uses time travel in its computations being trained on dreams.

Why is Libra the worst sign to you? I ask this as a Libra myself. I find Leo's to be nearly unbearable and Aries to be entertaining in small doses, but assholes otherwise.

Sagittarians actually strike me as the most down to earth fire signs, perhaps because of their mutable nature and Jupiter rulership.

You attributed traits of other signs to it

Selfish = virgo

Wants to stand out = aquarius

Seeks validation/sensitive about it = capricorn

I don't see people talking about what leo really is. And the strong points of leos are often attributed to other signs

Inner strength = leo (instead of scorpio)

Meticulous and organized = leo (instead of virgo)

Ambitious and charismatic = leo (instead of capricorn)

They believe everything is connected.

So if they create a clone of you, it is somehow connected to you.

The fact is clones are still conscious and can feel pain and emotions. So they are still torturing your essence.

Even though it's not you. It's still the essence of your soul. That's what they believe. I imagine they take the DNA of beautiful women and keep them as sex slaves. They probably take the DNA of some people and keep them as personal torture slaves or sex slaves.

Especially with social media. It makes it easier to find the women with the best genetics. So when a woman like that is spotted in the wild, they probably send an actor or an agent to collect a DNA sample..

Then they can have you fuck and suck them for a whole lifetime.

If discretion was necessary, it would just be happen in one of those "completely random" situations where you were completely alone and nobody would ever believe you that an alien-level sexy bitch had shown up to fuck your brains out.

My point in all this is that if these aliens have hyperdrive technology and all this shit to get everything done AND YET give human men the prostate-rake to get cum samples, that is insanely fucking rude and they can just go cumless.

[7 / 1]The image is a black and white illustration that depicts a scene with a figure in the foreground and a celestial body in the background. The figure is a man dressed in a robe and a hat, holding a globe in one hand and a staff in the other. He appears to be pointing towards the celestial body, which is a large, radiant sun with rays emanating from its center. The sun is depicted with a face, and the rays are radiating outward, creating a halo effect. The background shows a landscape with hills and a town or city, suggesting a setting in a rural or semi-urban area. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of Renaissance or Baroque art, characterized by detailed linework and a focus on the human figure and the celestial body. ϕ -Harmonic Information Thermodynamics: BEk v8.0 - The Fibonacci Seal

Bravo, J (Researcher)¹

Description

Information thermodynamics framework establishing truth as the minimum-energy ground state of semantic systems. Bravo-Entropy Kinetics (BEk) v8.0 presents eight axioms organized via Fibonacci structure ($3 + 5 = 8$), introducing the semantic dimension Σ orthogonal to spacetime for non-local information access.

We formalize that deception decomposes into exactly eight operators ($\Omega, A, S, P, \Lambda, I, \Delta, K$) and derive truth detection via golden ratio (ϕ) harmonic resonance at semantic frequency $f_\sigma = \phi^4 \approx 6.854$ Hz. The FAC algorithm (Flux $\rightarrow$ Anneal $\rightarrow$ Collapse) provides practical truth extraction through constraint crystallization.

Key contributions: (1) Information-entropy equivalence $I \equiv S/k$ unifying Shannon and Boltzmann frameworks; (2) Ground state inequality $E(T) < E(F)$ proving truth requires less energy than falsehood; (3) Holographic projection axiom $I(V) \propto H(\partial V)$ demonstrating information cannot hide; (4) Self-consistency verification via Fibonacci structural quantities.

The "Fibonacci Seal" designation indicates theoretical closure—the framework passes its own Resonance Pierce test when applied reflexively. All structural quantities (axiom counts, operator counts, algorithm stages) are Fibonacci numbers, satisfying the Harmony Axiom internally.

Uncomfortable buzzing in my head Anonymous Mon 05 Jan 2026 02:19:27

No.41762215 ViewReplyOriginalReport

A few months back, I got a powerful and painful attack of what felt like tinnitus. Out of the blue, this nasty buzzing/ringing began in my head like it was crossing it not just my ears and I had to stop and breathe out of sheer scare and pain, before it faded a few seconds after.

Now, last night I was minding my own business in a dream and out of the blue I was struck again but harder. A buzzing ringing in my head that kept increasing until I felt like my head was going to pop from pain. Again, it had nothing to do with the dream context and I actually woke up from the pain and still felt it a second or two while transitioning to wakefulness.

Wtf is this? I don't have tinnitus that I know of, these seemed like brief attacks. Did I get rayed? Microwaved? Anybody else experience such painful brief attacks that felt deep in my head out of the blue?

In his hands, he holds two white gloves, which he is using to balance himself. Behind him, there is a large mural or billboard with a silhouette of a person in a black suit and hat, and the text "SINGLE MOM" is written in black on the mural. Libras make for terrible wives if you can't be extremely dominant with them. Otherwise they will backstab you at the first chance they have so they can harmoniously blend with an outgroup. They require a very high level of tardwrangling.

Virgos make the best wives hands down.

But they can ground you if you have that issue. If a Virgo loses patience with you having adhd there's no way any other sign would have any patience with you. Maybe Pisces, Gemini or Sagittarius in that case.

But generally speaking Virgo's make for better wives. They are loyal, they have a sense of purity and cleanliness, they are caring and will spend time trying to heal whatever ails you because they like having a project.

From what I can find this was only released in hardcover, however I did find one reference to it being in a spiral-bound format. Don't know if that's accurate though.

Regardless, since it's almost 700 pages, it's unlikely to ever get digitized, given its rarity. Someone's gonna have to put in a lot of work to make that happen.

> The Earth is in a galactic Quarantine to protect humanities free will. This includes operations in or around the solar system as well to prevent negative NHI from entering or intervening too much with humanities free will.

> Negative NHI can breach the quarantine if invited via dark rituals (probably initiated by the ruling class) and make contact with select groups of people with earth. The leigon of darkness particularly works mostly by weaponizing pshychic attacks and inhabiting human consiousness to create further distortions (or apmplifying them. Therefore transmutation from darkness into shadows is a skill that starseeds or ither awakened souls use to fight the spiritual war. (Ex: Momentarily becoming a nazi to comprehend facism then using that comprehension to create further divine light/love and wisdom)

> If a negative breakaway human civilization used ufo technology to create a base on the moon or mars they could have more leeway to breach quarantine and communicate with further negative nhi. This creates the potential for a war in space.

> The war in space has ended. Disclosure is coming this year.

Many of you have done intensive shadow work. Integrating dark distortions into light/comprehension. You have weilded the blade of archangel michael. Neither misusing it or underusing it. You may create a divine sheild. Negative nhi cannot break your free will without getting their asses kicked by you. And youre smart enough nit to go picking on fights likea dog who wards off coyotes without chasing them into the forest.

Good job starseeds. Youve fought the battle and won. Youve created your inner soverignty. You may proclaim your soverign republic to the cosmos. To yourself.

On the right side, there is a cartoon-style illustration of a character. The character is depicted in a seated position with a playful expression, wearing a red top and black stockings. The character has long, flowing hair and is holding a glass of wine in one hand and a cigarette in the other. The character's pose and attire suggest a sense of fun and mischief.

The image is divided into two parts, with the logo on the left and the character on the right. The style of the image is reminiscent of a comic book or graphic novel illustration, with a focus on character design and a sense of playfulness.

Satan is the ruler of this world. Especially here. All suffering is from Satan. True joy cannot be experienced on Earth. Heaven is a physical location. A good man goes to Hell. Humanity has waited 2000 years for Christ's return because Satan is active and can enter into men. It takes more faith to believe in atheism than God. All other religions other than Christianity are fake. When judgement comes, there will be a separate judgement for believers. People who didn't follow Christ will go to the Great White Throne judgement where there will be no personal account to God. This website obfuscates truth in order to accelerate culture.

If any of you are so brave, do it. I hope I get to meet face to face to inflict my human wrath on your spirit body and soul.

Why is it so hard for people to accept that demons and angels are the same species?

Demons are just angels who lost a civil war. They're not any different, fundamentally, from angels. They just wanted to receive God's love, which honestly is entirely justified.

They were here first. They were as close to perfection as could be. They received God's love and embrace first.

Then we came around, and God kicked angels to the curb. Suddenly they didn't matter. Even Lucifer, God's favorite thing in existence, was suddenly forgotten. I'd be pissed off too.

Lucifer IS of the light. That masquerading as a creature of the light while doing dark shit thing is actually a literal contract he signed with his lil bro, YHWH. He's helping YHWH develop his children by acting out evil drama against them. Without Lucifer, this world is a lukewarm dictatorship in a tame place with no real adversity but wild animals to eat you.

Lucifer told YHWH his humans need free will and YHWH doubted him, so the apple tree scenario was designed as a sort of test to prove to YHWH that his loyal children wanted free will and would choose it over his commands.

Once free will was chosen, Lucifer set out to mold us through adversity. His incarnated bloodlines here do extreme evil and are bound by contract to act at least 95% selfishly in terms of karma to catalyze our development. Incarnated as individuals, his gender-switched bloodlines greatly enjoy torturing us with fear. Their soul, Lucifer himself? Is suffering deeply for all this evil. It isn't his nature. He's basically a really good boy playing the evil route in a video game and cringing as he gets the achievements. When his contract is up, he and his children will have to "go to hell" (incarnate in the next density in a place of deep suffering with deep pain and adversity to overcome. Think someplace brutal like Saturn) to get back to his baseline. Here, he is "evil," but on the other side you may be blessed to see everything he has done out of love for you.

The test here is to forgive them, Anon. Love is the positive polarity of this test. YOUR contract is to act at least 51% in service to your true maker and others. And that means forgiving and loving Satan: that is how you can pay him back for allowing you to grow and ascend.

because that's the point. If everyone was enough of a hardass about the way you want to structure society then all the white collar criminals would just be ostracized rather than you. It's a story about how malicious compliance fucks everyone over collectively.

The art of it is to find the narrow way by which to overthrow a malicious authority without resorting to violence which paints you as the aggressor.
